Rail Union Demands "Better" Terms

Gibraltar-Like Defense Idea Is Termed Fallacy By Dulles

Economic-Political-Military Ring Around Soviet World Is Suggested

NEW YORK, Dec. 29 (AP) — Republican Foreign Policy Adviser John Foster Dulles said tonight America can never stand alone as a Gibraltar against the world.

"Solitary defense is never impregnable," he said in an address.

On the other hand, he went on, it is not necessary "to spread our strength all around the world in futile attempts to create everywhere a static defense."

Either of these courses, he called disastrous.

Instead, Dulles suggested an economic, political and military ring around the Soviet world to make Russia pay dearly for any new aggression.

Then, if all-out war comes, Dulles said, the free world will have "the capacity to counter-attack."

"We are not bankrupt in resourcefulness," he insisted.

Speaks For Himself

Dulles' speech was delivered at a dinner of the American Association for the United Nations and broadcast over the Mutual network.

He told a reporter that he was speaking solely for himself rather than for the State Department, for which he is an adviser. He added that President Truman did not see his speech in adavnce.

In the speech, he said the United States need not "crawl back into our own hole in the vain hope of defending ourselves against the rest of the world."

And the idea of a Gibraltar-like defense, he added, is a fallacy, and a dangerous one.

His speech—a major outline of his foreign policy views—followed former Republican President Herbert Hoover's qualified demand Dec. 20 that the U. S. withdraw from Europe and Asia and make our oceans the frontiers of an American Gibraltar.

Not Reply To Hoover

Dulles—as foreign policy adviser to the State Department—holds a higher rank in President Truman's Democratic administration than any other Republican.

He said in advance his speech was not intended as a reply to Hoover — whose recommendations only yesterday were termed by President Truman "isolationism."

But Dulles obviously had Hoover's words in mind when he said:

"It is possible to plan on paper and describe in words what it seems should be an impregnable defense—a China Wall, a Maginot Line, a Rock of Gibraltar, an Atlantic and Pacific moat.

"But the mood that plans such a defense carries within itself the seeds of its own collapse. A defense that accepts encirclement quickly decomposes. That has been proved a thousand times."

'50 Highway Death Toll To Hit 35,000, High For 9 Years

CHICAGO, Dec. 29 (AP)—Waning 1950 will go into the record books as the deadliest on the highways in nine years.

That was the report of the National Safety Council today after counting a highway death list of 31,230 for 11 months through November.

The council estimated that by the time the new year arrives Monday 35,000 Americans will have lost their lives in 1950 traffic. That figure has been exceeded only five times in the history of motor vehicle travel — in 1934, 1935, 1936, 1937 and 1941.

Ned H. Dearborn, council president, pleaded for caution over the coming weekend. He estimated 330 persons will be killed in new year's holiday traffic but said extreme care could reduce the figure.

Food Handlers Asked To Hold Line On Prices

WASHINGTON, Dec. 29 (AP) — The government tonight asked food processors and distributors to hold the line on prices.

Price Stabilizer Michael V. DiSalle issued a statement emphasizing that the government's so - called "fair price" standards apply to millers, packers, wholesalers, retailers and other handlers of food products.

DiSalle said the statement was issued as a result of requests for clarification on the meaning of the Economic Stabilization Agency's Dec. 19 call for a voluntary "freeze" on prices.

He said the "fair price" standards provide for price increases under some conditions—generally in hardship cases — but he declared:

"Food distributors may base price increases only on actual costs paid and not on market or replacement costs. In this way they can make an important contribution to stabilization at a time when voluntary action of all kinds is necessary in the public interest."

ESA has repeatedly served warning that mandatory controls will be imposed if its appeals for voluntary action fail to win compliance.

DiSalle's statement contended that the "fair price" standards provide for fair profits and do not violate laws forbidding the imposition of ceiling prices on farm products selling below parity.

Parity is the legalistic term for a formula designed to be fair to farmers and consumers alike.

Meanwhile, the Agriculture Department reported that farm prices rose about four per cent between mid-November and mid-December—making a total increases of about 15.6 per cent since the outbreak of the Korean war last June 25. However, the prices were still seven per cent below the record peak reached in June, 1948.

Taft Says Standard Of Living Due For Cut

CINCINNATI, Dec. 29 (AP) — Sen. Robert A. Taft (R-O) said today the American standard of living is due for a 10 per cent cut.

Addressing the Masonic Club, Taft said he hopes President Truman will present a definite program soon.

"The American people should be told all the problems confronting this nation," he declared. "It is they who must make the sacrifice. They should know whether our effort to defend all of Europe eventually will destroy the economic life of this country."

Taft said the main key to the whole situation is how large a military force we will be asked to support. There is a great difference of opinion as to how large our forces should be, he declared.

India Ends State Of War

BONN, Germany, Dec. 29 (AP)—An American press release said today India had decided to terminate the state of war with Germany on Jan. 3.

Five GM Plants Will Shut Down

DETROIT, Dec. 29 (AP)—Four more General Motors plants were added today to a rapidly mounting list of auto factories shutting down temporarily because of critical material shortages.

They brought the list to eight plants of four companies. An estimated 16,000 employes will be idled.

General Motors' Buick - Oldsmobile-Pontiac assembly division said its plants in Wilmington, Del., Framingham, Mass., Atlanta, Ga., and Kansas City, Kans., will remain closed after today until Jan. 8.

A similar shutdown previously was announced for GM's Linden, N. J., plant.

The five GM closings, attributed to "a sudden acute shortage of materials," affect some 13,000 workers.

GETS WINDFALL — Thomas Arnett, 71, of near Jacksonville, Fla., heard the news calmly that he is entitled to $306,568 from an oil company. The decision that gave him the sum was handed down by the Sixth U. S. Circuit Court of Appeals at Cincinnati. Arnett, who retained mineral rights on some Kentucky land he sold in 1916, lives in a modest farm home.

Cobalt Control Order Hits Radio And TV Makers

Civilian Use To Be Slashed One-Third

WASHINGTON, Dec. 29 (AP) — Rigid control over use of the war-vital metal cobalt — hitting radio and television makers "extremely hard" — was announced today by the government.

Civilian use in January will be cut to one-third of the amount consumed in January, 1950.

On Feb. 1, every purchase of more than 25 pounds will require approval of the National Production Authority.

Cobalt, little known by the public, is precious to many industries—as a steel alloy for cutting tools, for making magnets, lining gun barrels, for quick drying of inks and paints —and for making radio and television speakers.

May Be Felt By March

A spokesman for the Radio-Television Manufacturers Association said the order will affect actual production of sets, perhaps about March. Meanwhile the industry is doing all it can to switch to other types of speakers but it can't be done overnight, the official said.

Several government officials and industry representatives expressed belief the order pushed color television further back on the shelf. Color operations, they said, have already been postponed, probably for a long time, by pending litigation and the general economic situation.

The restrictions on cobalt are only one factor in the color TV situation they said. Others are shortages in nickel, copper, aluminum and cadmium. These shortages also affect manufacture of black and white sets, but informed sources expressed belief they would discourage particularly the launching of a new enterprise such as color TV.

ESA Plans Regional Offices

The fast changing defense mobilization picture showed these developments today:

1. The Economic Stabilization Agency, which governs price and wage ceilings, announced that it will set up 13 regional offices "to handle price and wage problems and appeals" for each area. The action is in line with expected broadened use of the price-wage control authority.

2. The labor department reported the management-labor committees to help solve employment problems in the national emergency will be set up regionally and in labor market areas where important manpower shortages arise.

Election Stay-At-Homers Increase, APSA Informed

WASHINGTON, Dec. 29 (AP)— People who make a business of studying politics were told today that 50 years ago this nation was doing a much better job of getting its potential voters to the polls.

Bertram M. Gross, of the President's Council of Economic Advisers, gave the statistics to a meeting of the American Political Science Association.

He said people have been misled by impressive figures such as this: 48,000,000 votes cast in the 1948 presidential election.

But that figure, Gross said, isn't nearly as impressive as the 14,000,000 who voted in 1900. For then, he said, approximately 74 per cent of the eligible voters went to the polls.

In 1948, he said, only 54 per cent of the voters showed up to mark their ballots.

Worse still, in the past 10 years the percentages have been going "down and down."

Only yesterday Mr. Truman, in a letter to the association, pointed to the 10-year trend, and asked the group to make a study of why people aren't voting.

The women, of course, are at least partly to blame. Not since they have been allowed to vote has the percentage ever come near to matching the 1900 figure.

"It appears," Gross said, "they are great stay-at-homers on election day."

BLE Officers Ordered Back To Washington

Objections To Plan Are Not Disclosed

CLEVELAND, Dec. 29 (AP) — The Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers late today demanded "more favorable" terms in a proposed three-year peace pact between the railroads and four unions.

The brotherhood's officers were instructed to "go back to Washington" to get them.

There was no amplification of what terms the unions wants to improve, or whether the union considers its stand an outright rejection of the proposals.

The three other railway operating unions — trainmen, firemen and conductors — will meet within the next 10 days to consider the plan.

Plan Covers 300,000 Men

Providing wage increases and other benefits for approximately 300,000 men, the plan was worked out in conferences led by Presidential Assistant John R. Steelman. Eight days ago it was announced from the White House as a settlement of a long dispute over wages and operating rules.

Today's action was taken by the BLE's general chairmen at the end of a two-day session.

Grand Chief Engineer James P. Shields declined to amplify a brief statement in which he said:

"They fully analyzed the Washington memorandum of December 21st and have instructed the grand chief and his negotiating committee to go back to Washington to negotiate the terms of that memorandum into a more favorable settlement."

There was no immediate comment from Steelman.

Lines Under Army Control

The nation's railroads have been under government operation since Aug. 26. On that date they were taken over to prevent the spread of a strike by trainmen and conductors. Neither the engineers nor the firemen have initiated a strike move.

There was no immediate word from the Army, which has charge of the lines.

A spokesman for the Order of Railway Conductors said Wednesday his union was dissatisfied with the proposed pact.

Trainmen News, official publication of the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen, said editorially today the BRT "probably" would approve the plan, with reluctance.

Sheriff Turns Up At Crime Probe

TAMPA, Fla., Dec. 29 (AP)—Sheriff Hugh Culbreath showed up at the Kefauver committee hearing tonight nearly four hours after the committee asked him to appear.

Culbreath explained to reporters his subpoena was for tomorrow and he had been waiting until then.

However, committee aides had asked him to come at 4 o'clock today. When he did not appear by 5:30 p. m., Sen. Lester C. Hunt (D-Wyo) sent a U. S. marshal to get the sheriff and his official records.

The committee called for Culbreath's testimony after hearing witnesses tell of cash payments from bamblers during the sheriff's 1948 campaign and about business transactions with reputed underworld figures.

Paul Giglia, who told of being a bolita (a drug) peddler for the slain Jimmy Velasco, testified he delivered $1,500 to Sheriff Culbreath in the 1948 political campaign.

He put his testimony into the record as committee aides dug deeply into the business affairs and real estate transactions of Sheriff Culbreath.

Giglia said he and Velasco supported Culbreath's opponent in the first 1948 Democratic primary despite the sheriff's warning that they get right.

In the second primary campaign he said Velasco took $500 "out of the pot" for bolita operations and he (Giglia) took it to the sheriff who received it with the comment "it comes in handy."

Marie Wins Divorce

LAS VEGAS, Nevada, Dec. 29 (AP) —Bosomy Marie Wilson of the radio and movies won a divorce today from Allan Nixon in a closed hearing. They were married in 1942 here.

Cruelty was the charge in her complaint, but there were no specifications.

Gas Truck Plunges Into Canal

Trapped in his wrecked truck, loaded with gasoline, Frank De LaRosa, 45, died instantly yesterday near Arcola, Texas, when he lost control of the vehicle and it plunged into a canal beside the highway. The men on top of the truck are removing the gasoline.

Unsigned Letter Clue To Missing Stone Of Scone

LONDON, Dec. 29 (AP)—An anonymous letter to a Glasgow newspaper provided tonight what may be the first tangible clue to the whereabouts of Britain's missing coronation stone.

The letter contained a petition to King George VI laying down certain conditions under which the 485-pound relic would be returned to the authorities.

One of the conditions was that the stone should be retained in Scotland in a place to be selected by the King.

The petition gave as proof of good faith a description of hitherto unpublicized faults in a watch left in Westminster Abbey when the stone was stolen from there early Christmas morning.

Police did not immediately comment on the new information.

Ever since the theft was discovered, Police have suspected it was engineered by Scottish Nationalists. The sandstone block was used in the coronation of Scottish kings long before it fell into English hands.

A close watch has been kept on highway and rail traffic in an effort to prevent it from being carried to Scotland.

Scotland Yard sleuths dredged in Hyde Park lake today, but the best of their haul was a big lump of concrete, a rusty old safe and an iron chair.

The perservering police said they would keep on working in the lake, called the Serpentine, until they were sure the Stone of Scone, which old King Edward I filched from the Scots way back in the 13th century, wasn't there.

Actor Henry Fonda, Bride Honeymooning

NEW YORK, Dec. 29 (AP)—Henry Fonda, 43-year-old actor, and Susan Blanchard, 22, stepdaughter of Theatrical Producer Oscar Hammerstein, were married yesterday, it was disclosed today.

Only members of the immediate family attended the wedding in Hammerstein's home here.

Dr. Everett Clinchy, president of the National Conference of Christians and Jews, performed the ceremony.

The couple left immediately for a wedding trip, but their plans were not disclosed.

Wife's Letter To Vogeler Is Returned Opened

VIENNA, Dec. 29 (AP)—Mrs. Robert Vogeler said today she tried to send, through the Hugarian legation here, a Christmas letter to her husband in a Budapest prison but it was returned opened, mishandled and soiled.

Vogeler, an American businessman, was sentenced early this year by a Hungarian court to 15 years, on a charge of spying against the Communist government.

U. N. Leaflets Urge Reds To Quit War

TOKYO, Dec. 29 (AP) — Chinese and Korean Communist soldiers in Korea are being showered with new counter-propaganda leaflets urging them to quit the war, Gen. MacArthur's headquarters disclosed today.

The psychological warfare branch of headquarters prepared the leaflets which are being dropped by United Nations planes on Red troop positions. The heaviest emphasis is on front line forces.

One leaflet in Chinese tells Chinese troops their Red government has completed a "secret treaty" with the Soviet Union to reduce China's population by 100,000,000 people.

Fire Seals 6 Men In Mine 3 Hours

SILVER PLUME, Colo., Dec. 29 (AP)—Fire sealed six men in the Smuggler gold mine for about three hours today but they scrambled to safety after rescuers bulkheaded the main shaft to halt a rain of burning embers.

The men were in a lateral tunnel at the 700 foot level and about 500 feet in from the mouth of the mine when a fire broke out in the shaft house.

They first knew of their peril when the power failed. They ran to the main shaft to find the hoist dead and smoke pouring down it. They then returned to the lateral tunnel, going as far as possible away from the smoking shaft. Later they worked their way up the shaft, to the 500-foot level where they waited.

Rescuers entered the mine at the 100-foot level and braved the falling brands to shove heavy planking across the main shaft, sealing it off. They then called to the trapped men who scrambled, unhurt, 400 feet up the wooden ladders along the side of the shaft.

June Haver Suspended

HOLLYWOOD, Dec. 29 (AP) — Twentieth Century-Fox Studio today announced the suspension of June Haver. The studio said the actress refused to appear in a South Sea island picture.

President Signs Bill Closing Gap In Anti-Trust Act

WASHINGTON, Dec. 29 (AP) — President Truman today signed an anti-monopoly bill designed to prevent business mergers which would tend to lessen competition.

The legislation is an amendment to the 1914 Clayton anti-trust law.

"I have signed this act with great satisfaction, because it closes a gap in our anti-monopoly laws that has existed since 1914," Mr. Truman said in a statement.

The President explained that under the Clayton Act, corporations were forbidden to weaken competition by buying up the stock of their competitors. But he said they were able to "defeat the purpose" of the law by buying up the assets, rather than the stock, of business rivals.

The amendment provides that the same restriction will apply to the purchase of corporate assets as to the purchase of stock.

"Much of the concentration of economic power which has taken place since 1914 has been due to this gap in the law," Mr. Truman said.

"The closing of the gap is an important step in preventing the growth of monopolies and thus assuring the survival and health of free competitive enterprise."

The President said he will expect the Federal Trade Commission to be "alert and vigorous" in enforcing the new statute.

French Premier Asks Vote Of Confidence

PARIS, Dec. 29 (AP) — Premier Rene Pleven tonight formally asked parliament for a vote of confidence on his new rearmament program and taxes to support it.

Earlier today the National Assembly approved a budget section appropriating 740,000,000,000 francs ($2,100,000,000) for the armed forces by a vote of 416 to 180. However trouble has been expected when the Assembly takes up the sections providing new taxes to pay the bill.

Pleven intervened in the debate on the arms program to call for the confidence vote, which he said would take place shortly after midnight Saturday.

Professor Gains Credit As Drug's Co-Discoverer

NEWARK, N. J., Dec. 29 (AP)—A Brooklyn, N. Y., college professor today was officially named as the co-discoverer of the antibiotic streptomycin with Dr. Selman A. Waksman, and will share in its royalties.

Dr. Albert Schatz, in addition to sharing the legal and scientific credit for discovery of the so-called wonder drug, will receive three per cent of the net royalties and $125,000 for assignment of foreign rights.

The stipulations were contained in en eight-point settlement of a suit by Dr. Schatz, approved by New Jersey Superior Court Judge C. Thomas Schettino.

Schatz, as part of the settlement, agreed to retract a charge that Waksman used "fraud and duress" to induce Schatz to assign his rights in the drug to the Rutgers Research and Endowment Foundation. Waksman is an internationally known microbiologist.

The settlement also stated that Waksman and the foundation agreed to pay seven per cent of net sale royalties accruing after Oct. 1, 1950 to 13 other graduate students, associates and assistants.

Twelve others less directly associated with the work will receive cash bonuses.

Enemy Drives 4 To 10 Miles South Of 38th

Communists Still Build For Big Push

TOKYO, Saturday, Dec. 30 (AP)—Communist probing units dented the fluid eastern sector of the United Nations line in Korea and moved closer to Seoul in the west, but the expected all-out Red assault had not yet materialized today.

North Korean Red units searching for soft spots in the U. N. front drove four to ten miles south of the 38th parallel in the east.

Chinese army outposts moved up snugly against the Imjin River in the west, ten miles south of the parallel and 25 miles northwest of Seoul.

The enemy moves came as a huge Chinese and North Korean Communist force continued building up under heavy Allied air attack for a mass assault which Allied officers at the front expect to come with the new year.

Gen. MacArthur has predicted the big Red push will come between Jan. 1 and 10.

Red Attack Contained

Associated Press Correspondent Hal Boyle reported from the front that an attack by 10,000 North Korean Reds through the east-central sector of the line had been contained after gaining three miles at points four to five miles below the old 38th parallel boundary of North and South Korea. This was about 35 miles in from Korea's east coast.

An Eighth Army spokesman also said the enemy had shoved 10 miles beyond the parallel at an undisclosed point 25 miles inland from the coast. Fighting for positions began in that area a week ago, field reports said.

To and fro fighting in this area continued with the enemy clinging stubbornly to the advantage.

In the west, United Nations forces were arrayed south of the ice-jammed Imjin River. The appearance of enemy patrols across the river from Munsan was reported in Gen. MacArthur's headquarters summary. Munsan is 25 miles northwest of Seoul.

A corps spokesman in the United States Eighth Army told Correspondent Boyle that Thursday's attack in the east central sector was aimed at Chunchon. He said, "the situation is confused but there is now a dip in our line," extending four or five miles below the 38th parallel in limited sector.

Not Expected Major Attack

Headquarters in Tokyo did not say this was the expected major attack, but the enemy was believed to be striking in force up to regimental strength.

United Nations forces moving north failed to reach the 38th parallel in the extreme eastern section of the front before the invaders had crossed into South Korea.

On Dec. 21, advance units of both parties tangled in the mountainous area and a week of wild, unreported skirmishes followed.

Eighth Army spokesman reported Friday that United Nations forces were holding 10 miles south of the parallel along a front 25 to 35 miles in from the east coast.

Freezing Rain Coats Highways

[By The Associated Press]

The East and parts of the South were one big ice slide Friday. There was fog in South Carolina and a weird gathering of fumes over Detroit, and it was still cold, except for Florida and the Far West.

Freezing rain coated highways from East Georgia north into New England. Motorists were warned of extremely hazardous driving conditions. In New England, heavy snow accompanied the freezing rain. Snow up to six inches was expected in Eastern and Southern New England by Saturday.

One man was killed by a truck near Matick, Mass. Five other persons lost their lives in crashes on slippery pavements in Alabama and Louisiana.

Charleston, S. C., was blanketed with fog, with ship movements and air traffic stalled. And in Detroit, an unusual atmospheric condition scared residents, who thought leaking gas was filling their homes. A body of warm air was close above the city, while at the surface there was a thin layer of cold air — and no wind. All the city's smoke and fumes, which normally rise and are blown away, lay stagnant near the ground. The weather Bureau's explanation didn't clear the atmosphere but it relieved worried Detroiters.

On Feb. 1, every purchase of more than 25 pounds will require approval of the National Production Authority.

Cobalt, little known by the public, is precious to many industries—as a steel alloy for cutting tools, for making magnets, lining gun barrels, for quick drying of inks and paints —and for making radio and television speakers.

May Be Felt By March

A spokesman for the Radio-Television Manufacturers Association said the order will affect actual production of sets, perhaps about March. Meanwhile the industry is doing all it can to switch to other types of speakers but it can't be done overnight, the official said.

Several government officials and industry representatives expressed belief the order pushed color television further back on the shelf. Color operations, they said, have already been postponed, probably for a long time, by pending litigation and the general economic situation.

The restrictions on cobalt are only one factor in the color TV situation they said. Others are shortages in nickel, copper, aluminum and cadmium. These shortages also affect manufacture of black and white sets, but informed sources expressed belief they would discourage particularly the launching of a new enterprise such as color TV.

ESA Plans Regional Offices

The fast changing defense mobilization picture showed these developments today:

1. The Economic Stabilization Agency, which governs price and wage ceilings, announced that it will set up 13 regional offices "to handle price and wage problems and appeals" for each area. The action is in line with expected broadened use of the price-wage control authority.

2. The labor department reported the management-labor committees to help solve employment problems in the national emergency will be set up regionally and in labor market areas where important manpower shortages arise.

BLE Officers Ordered Back To Washington

Objections To Plan Are Not Disclosed

CLEVELAND, Dec. 29 (AP) — The Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers late today demanded "more favorable" terms in a proposed three-year peace pact between the railroads and four unions.

The brotherhood's officers were instructed to "go back to Washington" to get them.

There was no amplification of what terms the unions wants to improve, or whether the union considers its stand an outright rejection of the proposals.

The three other railway operating unions — trainmen, firemen and conductors — will meet within the next 10 days to consider the plan.

Plan Covers 300,000 Men

Providing wage increases and other benefits for approximately 300,000 men, the plan was worked out in conferences led by Presidential Assistant John R. Steelman. Eight days ago it was announced from the White House as a settlement of a long dispute over wages and operating rules.

Today's action was taken by the BLE's general chairmen at the end of a two-day session.

Grand Chief Engineer James P. Shields declined to amplify a brief statement in which he said:

"They fully analyzed the Washington memorandum of December 21st and have instructed the grand chief and his negotiating committee to go back to Washington to negotiate the terms of that memorandum into a more favorable settlement."

There was no immediate comment from Steelman.

Lines Under Army Control

The nation's railroads have been under government operation since Aug. 26. On that date they were taken over to prevent the spread of a strike by trainmen and conductors. Neither the engineers nor the firemen have initiated a strike move.

There was no immediate word from the Army, which has charge of the lines.

A spokesman for the Order of Railway Conductors said Wednesday his union was dissatisfied with the proposed pact.

Trainmen News, official publication of the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen, said editorially today the BRT "probably" would approve the plan, with reluctance.

Sheriff Turns Up At Crime Probe

TAMPA, Fla., Dec. 29 (AP)—Sheriff Hugh Culbreath showed up at the Kefauver committtee hearing tonight nearly four hours after the committee asked him to appear.

Culbreath explained to reporters his subpoena was for tomorrow and he had been waiting until then.

However, committee aides had asked him to come at 4 o'clock today. When he did not appear by 5:30 p. m., Sen. Lester C. Hunt (D-Wyo) sent a U. S. marshal to get the sheriff and his official records.

The committee called for Culbreath's testimony after hearing witnesses tell of cash payments from bamblers during the sheriff's 1948 campaign and about business transactions with reputed underworld figures.

Paul Giglia, who told of being a bolita (a drug) peddler for the slain Jimmy Velasco, testified he delivered $1,500 to Sheriff Culbreath in the 1948 political campaign.

He put his testimony into the record as committee aides dug deeply into the business affairs and real estate transactions of Sheriff Culbreath.

Giglia said he and Velasco supported Culbreath's opponent in the first 1948 Democratic primary despite the sheriff's warning that they get right.

In the second primary campaign he said Velasco took $500 "out of the pot" for bolita operations and he (Giglia) took it to the sheriff who received it with the comment "it comes in handy."

Unsigned Letter Clue To Missing Stone Of Scone

LONDON, Dec. 29 (AP)—An anonymous letter to a Glasgow newspaper provided tonight what may be the first tangible clue to the whereabouts of Britain's missing coronation stone.

The letter contained a petition to King George VI laying down certain conditions under which the 485-pound relic would be returned to the authorities.

One of the conditions was that the stone should be retained in Scotland in a place to be selected by the King.

The petition gave as proof of good faith a description of hitherto unpublicized faults in a watch left in Westminster Abbey when the stone was stolen from there early Christmas morning.

Police did not immediately comment on the new information.

Ever since the theft was discovered, Police have suspected it was engineered by Scottish Nationalists. The sandstone block was used in the coronation of Scottish kings long before it fell into English hands.

A close watch has been kept on highway and rail traffic in an effort to prevent it from being carried to Scotland.

Scotland Yard sleuths dredged in Hyde Park lake today, but the best of their haul was a big lump of concrete, a rusty old safe and an iron chair.

The perservering police said they would keep on working in the lake, called the Serpentine, until they were sure the Stone of Scone, which old King Edward 1 filched from the Scots way back in the 13th century, wasn't there.

Actor Henry Fonda, Bride Honeymooning

NEW YORK, Dec. 29 (AP)—Henry Fonda, 43-year-old actor, and Susan Blanchard, 22, stepdaughter of Theatrical Producer Oscar Hammerstein, were married yesterday, it was disclosed today.

Only members of the immediate family attended the wedding in Hammerstein's home here.

Dr. Everett Clinchy, president of the National Conference of Christians and Jews, performed the ceremony.

The couple left immediately for a wedding trip, but their plans were not disclosed.

Wife's Letter To Vogeler Is Returned Opened

VIENNA, Dec. 29 (AP)—Mrs. Robert Vogeler said today she tried to send, through the Hugarian legation here, a Christmas letter to her husband in a Budapest prison but it was returned opened, mishandled and soiled.

Vogeler, an American businessman, was sentenced early this year by a Hungarian court to 15 years, on a charge of spying against the Communist government.

U. N. Leaflets Urge Reds To Quit War

TOKYO, Dec. 29 (AP) — Chinese and Korean Communist soldiers in Korea are being showered with new counter-propaganda leaflets urging them to quit the war, Gen. MacArthur's headquarters disclosed today.

The psychological warfare branch of headquarters prepared the leaflets which are being dropped by United Nations planes on Red troop positions. The heaviest emphasis is on front line forces.

One leaflet in Chinese tells Chinese troops their Red government has completed a "secret treaty" with the Soviet Union to reduce China's population by 100,000,000 people.

Fire Seals 6 Men In Mine 3 Hours

SILVER PLUME, Colo., Dec. 29 (AP)—Fire sealed six men in the Smuggler gold mine for about three hours today but they scrambled to safety after rescuers bulkheaded the main shaft to halt a rain of burning embers.

The men were in a lateral tunnel at the 700 foot level and about 500 feet in from the mouth of the mine when a fire broke out in the shaft house.

They first knew of their peril when the power failed. They ran to the main shaft to find the hoist dead and smoke pouring down it. They then returned to the lateral tunnel, going as far as possible away from the smoking shaft. Later they worked their way up the shaft, to the 500-foot level where they waited.

Rescuers entered the mine at the 100-foot level and braved the falling brands to shove heavy planking across the main shaft, sealing it off. They then called to the trapped men who scrambled, unhurt, 400 feet up the wooden ladders along the side of the shaft.

President Signs Bill Closing Gap In Anti-Trust Act

WASHINGTON, Dec. 29 (AP) — President Truman today signed an anti-monopoly bill designed to prevent business mergers which would tend to lessen competition.

The legislation is an amendment to the 1914 Clayton anti-trust law.

"I have signed this act with great satisfaction, because it closes a gap in our anti-monopoly laws that has existed since 1914," Mr. Truman said in a statement.

The President explained that under the Clayton Act, corporations were forbidden to weaken competition by buying up the stock of their competitors. But he said they were able to "defeat the purpose" of the law by buying up the assets, rather than the stock, of business rivals.

The amendment provides that the same restriction will apply to the purchase of corporate assets as to the purchase of stock.

"Much of the concentration of economic power which has taken place since 1914 has been due to this gap in the law," Mr. Truman said.

"The closing of the gap is an important step in preventing the growth of monopolies and thus assuring the survival and health of free competitive enterprise."

The President said he will expect the Federal Trade Commission to be "alert and vigorous" in enforcing the new statute.

French Premier Asks Vote Of Confidence

PARIS, Dec. 29 (AP) — Premier Rene Pleven tonight formally asked parliament for a vote of confidence on his new rearmament program and taxes to support it.

Earlier today the National Assembly approved a budget section appropriating 740,000,000,000 francs ($2,100,000,000) for the armed forces by a vote of 416 to 180. However trouble has been expected when the Assembly takes up the sections providing new taxes to pay the bill.

Pleven intervened in the debate on the arms program to call for the confidence vote, which he said would take place shortly after midnight Saturday.

Professor Gains Credit As Drug's Co-Discoverer

NEWARK, N. J., Dec. 29 (AP)—A Brooklyn, N. Y., college professor today was officially named as the co-discoverer of the antibiotic streptomycin with Dr. Selman A. Waksman, and will share in its royalties.

Dr. Albert Schatz, in addition to sharing the legal and scientific credit for discovery of the so-called wonder drug, will receive three per cent of the net royalties and $125,000 for assignment of foreign rights.

The stipulations were contained in en eight-point settlement of a suit by Dr. Schatz, approved by New Jersey Superior Court Judge C. Thomas Schettino.

Schatz, as part of the settlement, agreed to retract a charge that Waksman used "fraud and duress" to induce Schatz to assign his rights in the drug to the Rutgers Research and Endowment Foundation. Waksman is an internationally known microbiologist.

The settlement also stated that Waksman and the foundation agreed to pay seven per cent of net sale royalties accruing after Oct. 1, 1950 to 13 other graduate students, associates and assistants.

Twelve others less directly associated with the work will receive cash bonuses.

Enemy Drives 4 To 10 Miles South Of 38th

Communists Still Build For Big Push

TOKYO, Saturday, Dec. 30 (AP)—Communist probing units dented the fluid eastern sector of the United Nations line in Korea and moved closer to Seoul in the west, but the expected all-out Red assault had not yet materialized today.

North Korean Red units searching for soft spots in the U. N. front drove four to ten miles south of the 38th parallel in the east.

Chinese army outposts moved up snugly against the Imjin River in the west, ten miles south of the parallel and 25 miles northwest of Seoul.

The enemy moves came as a huge Chinese and North Korean Communist force continued building up under heavy Allied air attack for a mass assault which Allied officers at the front expect to come with the new year.

Gen. MacArthur has predicted the big Red push will come between Jan. 1 and 10.

Red Attack Contained

Associated Press Correspondent Hal Boyle reported from the front that an attack by 10,000 North Korean Reds through the east-central sector of the line had been contained after gaining three miles at points four to five miles below the old 38th parallel boundary of North and South Korea. This was about 35 miles in from Korea's east coast.

An Eighth Army spokesman also said the enemy had shoved 10 miles beyond the parallel at an undisclosed point 25 miles inland from the coast. Fighting for positions began in that area a week ago, field reports said.

To and fro fighting in this area continued with the enemy clinging stubbornly to the advantage.

In the west, United Nations forces were arrayed south of the ice-jammed Imjin River. The appearance of enemy patrols across the river from Munsan was reported in Gen. MacArthur's headquarters summary. Munsan is 25 miles northwest of Seoul.

A corps spokesman in the United States Eighth Army told Correspondent Boyle that Thursday's attack in the east central sector was aimed at Chunchon. He said, "the situation is confused but there is now a dip in our line," extending four or five miles below the 38th parallel in limited sector.

Not Expected Major Attack

Headquarters in Tokyo did not say this was the expected major attack, but the enemy was believed to be striking in force up to regimental strength.

United Nations forces moving north failed to reach the 38th parallel in the extreme eastern section of the front before the invaders had crossed into South Korea.

On Dec. 21, advance units of both parties tangled in the mountainous area and a week of wild, unreported skirmishes followed.

Eighth Army spokesman reported Friday that United Nations forces were holding 10 miles south of the parallel along a front 25 to 35 miles in from the east coast.

Freezing Rain Coats Highways

[By The Associated Press]

The East and parts of the South were one big ice slide Friday. There was fog in South Carolina and a weird gathering of fumes over Detroit, and it was still cold, except for Florida and the Far West.

Freezing rain coated highways from East Georgia north into New England. Motorists were warned of extremely hazardous driving conditions. In New England, heavy snow accompanied the freezing rain. Snow up to six inches was expected in Eastern and Southern New England by Saturday.

One man was killed by a truck near Matick, Mass. Five other persons lost their lives in crashes on slippery pavements in Alabama and Louisiana.

Charleston, S. C., was blanketed with fog, with ship movements and air traffic stalled. And in Detroit, an unusual atmospheric condition scared residents, who thought leaking gas was filling their homes. A body of warm air was close above the city, while at the surface there was a thin layer of cold air — and no wind. All the city's smoke and fumes, which normally rise and are blown away, lay stagnant near the ground. The weather Bureau's explanation didn't clear the atmosphere but it relieved worried Detroiters.

Weather Forecast

Partly cloudy today and tomorrow with moderate temperature.

Rail Union Demands "Better" Terms

Gibraltar-Like Defense Idea Is Termed Fallacy By Dulles

Economic-Political-Military Ring Around Soviet World Is Suggested

NEW YORK, Dec. 29 (AP) — Republican Foreign Policy Adviser John Foster Dulles said tonight America can never stand alone as a Gibraltar against the world.

"Solitary defense is never impregnable," he said in an address.

On the other hand, he went on, it is not necessary "to spread our strength all around the world in futile attempts to create everywhere a static defense."

Either of these courses, he called disastrous.

Instead, Dulles suggested an economic, political and military ring around the Soviet world to make Russia pay dearly for any new aggression.

Then, if all-out war comes, Dulles said, the free world will have "the capacity to counter-attack."

"We are not bankrupt in resourcefulness," he insisted.

Speaks For Himself

Dulles' speech was delivered at a dinner of the American Association for the United Nations and broadcast over the Mutual network.

He told a reporter that he was speaking solely for himself rather than for the State Department, for which he is an adviser. He added that President Truman did not see his speech in adavnce.

In the speech, he said the United States need not "crawl back into our own hole in the vain hope of defending ourselves against the rest of the world."

And the idea of a Gibraltar-like defense, he added, is a fallacy, and a dangerous one.

His speech—a major outline of his foreign policy views—followed former Republican President Herbert Hoover's qualified demand Dec. 20 that the U. S. withdraw from Europe and Asia and make our oceans the frontiers of an American Gibraltar.

Not Reply To Hoover

Dulles—as foreign policy adviser to the State Department—holds a higher rank in President Truman's Democratic administration than any other Republican.

He said in advance his speech was not intended as a reply to Hoover — whose recommendations only yesterday were termed by President Truman "isolationism."

But Dulles obviously had Hoover's words in mind when he said:

"It is possible to plan on paper and describe in words what it seems should be an impregnable defense—a China Wall, a Maginot Line, a Rock of Gibraltar, an Atlantic and Pacific moat.

"But the mood that plans such a defense carries within itself the seeds of its own collapse. A defense that accepts encirclement quickly decomposes. That has been proved a thousand times."

'50 Highway Death Toll To Hit 35,000, High For 9 Years

CHICAGO, Dec. 29 (AP)—Waning 1950 will go into the record books as the deadliest on the highways in nine years.

That was the report of the National Safety Council today after counting a highway death list of 31,230 for 11 months through November.

The council estimated that by the time the new year arrives Monday 35,000 Americans will have lost their lives in 1950 traffic. That figure has been exceeded only five times in the history of motor vehicle travel — in 1934, 1935, 1936, 1937 and 1941.

Ned H. Dearborn, council president, pleaded for caution over the coming weekend. He estimated 330 persons will be killed in new year's holiday traffic but said extreme care could reduce the figure.

Food Handlers Asked To Hold Line On Prices

WASHINGTON, Dec. 29 (AP) — The government tonight asked food processors and distributors to hold the line on prices.

Price Stabilizer Michael V. DiSalle issued a statement emphasizing that the government's so - called "fair price" standards apply to millers, packers, wholesalers, retailers and other handlers of food products.

DiSalle said the statement was issued as a result of requests for clarification on the meaning of the Economic Stabilization Agency's Dec. 19 call for a voluntary "freeze" on prices.

He said the "fair price" standards provide for price increases under some conditions—generally in hardship cases -- but he declared:

"Food distributors may base price increases only on actual costs paid and not on market or replacement costs. In this way they can make an important contribution to stabilization at a time when voluntary action of all kinds is necessary in the public interest."

ESA has repeatedly served warning that mandatory controls will be imposed if its appeals for voluntary action fail to win compliance.

DiSalle's statement contended that the "fair price" standards provide for fair profits and do not violate laws forbidding the imposition of ceiling prices on farm products selling below parity.

Parity is the legalistic term for a formula designed to be fair to farmers and consumers alike.

Meanwhile, the Agriculture Department reported that farm prices rose about four per cent between mid-November and mid-December—making a total increases of about 15.6 per cent since the outbreak of the Korean war last June 25. However, the prices were still seven per cent below the record peak reached in June, 1948.

Taft Says Standard Of Living Due For Cut

CINCINNATI, Dec. 29 (AP) — Sen. Robert A. Taft (R-O) said today the American standard of living is due for a 10 per cent cut.

Addressing the Masonic Club, Taft said he hopes President Truman will present a definite program soon.

"The American people should be told all the problems confronting this nation," he declared. "It is they who must make the sacrifice. They should know whether our effort to defend all of Europe eventually will destroy the economic life of this country."

Taft said the main key to the whole situation is how large a military force we will be asked to support. There is a great difference of opinion as to how large our forces should be, he declared.

Five GM Plants Will Shut Down

DETROIT, Dec. 29 (AP)—Four more General Motors plants were added today to a rapidly mounting list of auto factories shutting down temporarily because of critical material shortages.

They brought the list to eight plants of four companies. An estimated 16,000 employes will be idled.

General Motors' Buick - Oldsmobile-Pontiac assembly division said its plants in Wilmington, Del., Framingham, Mass., Atlanta, Ga., and Kansas City, Kans., will remain closed after today until Jan. 8.

A similar shutdown previously was announced for GM's Linden, N. J., plant.

The five GM closings, attributed to "a sudden acute shortage of materials," affect some 13,000 workers.

Cobalt Control Order Hits Radio And TV Makers

Civilian Use To Be Slashed One-Third

WASHINGTON, Dec. 29 (AP) — Rigid control over use of the war-vital metal cobalt — hitting radio and television makers "extremely hard" — was announced today by the government.

Civilian use in January will be cut to one-third of the amount consumed in January, 1950.

On Feb. 1, every purchase of more than 25 pounds will require approval of the National Production Authority.

Cobalt, little known by the public, is precious to many industries—as a steel alloy for cutting tools, for making magnets, lining gun barrels, for quick drying of inks and paints —and for making radio and television speakers.

Election Stay-At-Homers Increase, APSA Informed

WASHINGTON, Dec. 29 (AP)—People who make a business of studying politics were told today that 50 years ago this nation was doing a much better job of getting its potential voters to the polls.

Bertram M. Gross, of the President's Council of Economic Advisers, gave the statistics to a meeting of the American Political Science Association.

He said people have been misled by impressive figures such as this: 48,000,000 votes cast in the 1948 presidential election.

But that figure, Gross said, isn't nearly as impressive as the 14,000,000 who voted in 1900. For then, he said, approximately 74 per cent of the eligible voters went to the polls.

In 1948, he said, only 54 per cent of the voters showed up to mark their ballots.

Worse still, in the past 10 years the percentages have been going "down and down."

Only yesterday Mr. Truman, in a letter to the association, pointed to the 10-year trend, and asked the group to make a study of why people aren't voting.

The women, of course, are at least partly to blame. Not since they have been allowed to vote has the percentage ever come near to matching the 1900 figure.

"It appears," Gross said, "they are great stay-at-homers on election day."

HOLLYWOOD, Dec. 29 (AP) — Twentieth Century-Fox Studio today announced the suspension of June Haver. The studio said the actress refused to appear in a South Sea island picture.

President Signs Bill Closing Gap In Anti-Trust Act

WASHINGTON, Dec. 29 (AP) — President Truman today signed an anti-monopoly bill designed to prevent business mergers which would tend to lessen competition.

The legislation is an amendment to the 1914 Clayton anti-trust law.

"I have signed this act with great satisfaction, because it closes a gap in our anti-monopoly laws that has existed since 1914," Mr. Truman said in a statement.

The President explained that under the Clayton Act, corporations were forbidden to weaken competition by buying up the stock of their competitors. But he said they were able to "defeat the purpose" of the law by buying up the assets, rather than the stock, of business rivals.

The amendment provides that the same restriction will apply to the purchase of corporate assets as to the purchase of stock.

"Much of the concentration of economic power which has taken place since 1914 has been due to this gap in the law," Mr. Truman said.

"The closing of the gap is an important step in preventing the growth of monopolies and thus assuring the survival and health of free competitive enterprise."

The President said he will expect the Federal Trade Commission to be "alert and vigorous" in enforcing the new statute.

French Premier Asks Vote Of Confidence

PARIS, Dec. 29 (AP) — Premier Rene Pleven tonight formally asked parliament for a vote of confidence on his new rearmament program and taxes to support it.

Earlier today the National Assembly approved a budget section appropriating 740,000,000,000 francs ($2,100,000,000) for the armed forces by a vote of 416 to 180. However trouble has been expected when the Assembly takes up the sections providing new taxes to pay the bill.

Pleven intervened in the debate on the arms program to call for the confidence vote, which he said would take place shortly after midnight Saturday.

Professor Gains Credit As Drug's Co-Discoverer

NEWARK, N. J., Dec. 29 (AP)—A Brooklyn, N. Y., college professor today was officially named as the co-discoverer of the antibiotic streptomycin with Dr. Selman A. Waksman, and will share in its royalties.

Dr. Albert Schatz, in addition to sharing the legal and scientific credit for discovery of the so-called wonder drug, will receive three per cent of the net royalties and $125,000 for assignment of foreign rights.

The stipulations were contained in en eight-point settlement of a suit by Dr. Schatz, approved by New Jersey Superior Court Judge C. Thomas Schettino.

Schatz, as part of the settlement, agreed to retract a charge that Waksman used "fraud and duress" to induce Schatz to assign his rights in the drug to the Rutgers Research and Endowment Foundation. Waksman is an internationally known microbiologist.

The settlement also stated that Waksman and the foundation agreed to pay seven per cent of net sale royalties accruing after Oct. 1, 1950 to 13 other graduate students, associates and assistants.

Twelve others less directly associated with the work will receive cash bonuses.

Enemy Drives 4 To 10 Miles South Of 38th

Communists Still Build For Big Push

TOKYO, Saturday, Dec. 30 (AP)—Communist probing units dented the fluid eastern sector of the United Nations line in Korea and moved closer to Seoul in the west, but the expected all-out Red assault had not yet materialized today.

North Korean Red units searching for soft spots in the U. N. front drove four to ten miles south of the 38th parallel in the east.

Chinese army outposts moved up snugly against the Imjin River in the west, ten miles south of the parallel and 25 miles northwest of Seoul.

The enemy moves came as a huge Chinese and North Korean Communist force continued building up under heavy Allied air attack for a mass assault which Allied officers at the front expect to come with the new year.

Gen. MacArthur has predicted the big Red push will come between Jan. 1 and 10.

Red Attack Contained

Associated Press Correspondent Hal Boyle reported from the front that an attack by 10,000 North Korean Reds through the east-central sector of the line had been contained after gaining three miles at points four to five miles below the old 38th parallel boundary of North and South Korea. This was about 35 miles in from Korea's east coast.

An Eighth Army spokesman also said the enemy had shoved 10 miles beyond the parallel at an undisclosed point 25 miles inland from the coast. Fighting for positions began in that area a week ago, field reports said.

To and fro fighting in this area continued with the enemy clinging stubbornly to the advantage.

In the west, United Nations forces were arrayed south of the ice-jammed Imjin River. The appearance of enemy patrols across the river from Munsan was reported in Gen. MacArthur's headquarters summary. Munsan is 25 miles northwest of Seoul.

A corps spokesman in the United States Eighth Army told Correspondent Boyle that Thursday's attack in the east central sector was aimed at Chunchon. He said, "the situation is confused but there is now a dip in our line," extending four or five miles below the 38th parallel in limited sector.

Not Expected Major Attack

Headquarters in Tokyo did not say this was the expected major attack, but the enemy was believed to be striking in force up to regimental strength.

United Nations forces moving north failed to reach the 38th parallel in the extreme eastern section of the front before the invaders had crossed into South Korea.

On Dec. 21, advance units of both parties tangled in the mountainous area and a week of wild, unreported skirmishes followed.

Eighth Army spokesman reported Friday that United Nations forces were holding 10 miles south of the parallel along a front 25 to 35 miles in from the east coast.

Freezing Rain Coats Highways

[By The Associated Press]

The East and parts of the South were one big ice slide Friday. There was fog in South Carolina and a weird gathering of fumes over Detroit, and it was still cold, except for Florida and the Far West.

Freezing rain coated highways from East Georgia north into New England. Motorists were warned of extremely hazardous driving conditions. In New England, heavy snow accompanied the freezing rain. Snow up to six inches was expected in Eastern and Southern New England by Saturday.

One man was killed by a truck near Matick, Mass. Five other persons lost their lives in crashes on slippery pavements in Alabama and Louisiana.

Charleston, S. C., was blanketed with fog, with ship movements and air traffic stalled. And in Detroit, an unusual atmospheric condition scared residents, who thought leaking gas was filling their homes. A body of warm air was close above the city, while at the surface there was a thin layer of cold air — and no wind. All the city's smoke and fumes, which normally rise and are blown away, lay stagnant near the ground. The weather Bureau's explanation didn't clear the atmosphere but it relieved worried Detroiters.

Britain Moves On "Squatters" On Helgoland

HAMBURG, Germany, Dec. 29 (AP) — The British High Commission tonight prepared for direct action to crush a German "squatters rebellion" on Helgoland, Allied bombing range in the North Sea, with which German authorities of Schleswig-Holstein said they were not equipped to cope.

About eight demonstrators are on the onetime Hitlerite island fortress barred to the Germans by British order since 1945.

A British frontier control boat received orders to be ready to sail for Helgoland at daybreak tomorrow.

A new ordinance, issued hastily and effective immediately, authorized the British to order the arrest of persons on the forbidden island, except for fishermen seeking storm shelter.

None would be permitted to land on Helgoland without written permission from British authorities. Violators would be subject to one year's imprisonment or a fine up to 5,000 marks $1,190).

The former Austrian Prince Hubertus Zu Loewenstein made the 40-mile journey today to join the squatters, after being forced back by engine trouble yesterday.

The proclaimed purpose of the Germans, several of them active politically, is to force the British to stop the bombings and permit the return of Helgolanders, who numbered 1,400 at the end of the war.

Frisco Freight Train Is Swept By Fire

OKLAHOMA CITY, Dec. 29 (AP) — A box car derailed and an adjoining oil tank car exploded, setting fire to a Frisco freight train south-west of Oklahoma City tonight.

Reports from the scene said apparently none aboard the train was injured. Ambulances en route to the fire were turned back.

Firemen reported the first explosion was followed by a second blinding flash of fire. The train halted across U. S. Highway 62 just south of the Oklahoma City municipal airport.

A dozen cars — three tankers and nine boxcars — were destroyed as flames spread toward either end of the train. Firemen let the flames burn themselves out since the scene was beyond city water mains.

Assets Seized In China Worth $200,000,000

HONG KONG, Dec. 29 (AP)—Value of American assets seized in China by the Red regime may run to $200,000,000 but the actual total probably never will be determined.

One reason is that, months before Thursday's seizure order, many firms doing business in China already had given up hopes of recovering their assets and had written them off the books at nominal valuations.

Harris Powder Magazine Is Destroyed By Flames

The perpetrators of the acts of violence which have plagued the Georges Creek region since early summer are getting bolder.

Thursday night at 10:30 the main powder magazine of the Harris Powder Company, only one mile from Westernport on Franklin Hill, was set afire.

The blaze consumed between 3,000 and 4,000 pounds of permissible mine blasting powder and dynamite in a short time.

The Tri-Towns Fire Company, of Piedmont, W. Va., and the Potomac Fire Company of Westernport, went to the scene, but could do nothing to save the concrete block structure.

The cost of the powder lost, according to L. E. Harris, Westernport, owner of the firm, was $3,000 The magazine, a concrete block structure, was burned so badly the walls were pushed in this morning to keep spectators from being injured by falling blocks. There was no insurance.

Harris was of the opinion the arsonist drilled a hole in the roof of the magazine to set off the explosive powder as the reinforced steel doors did not seem to have been tampered with.

As there were no detonator caps in the magazine as required by law, the explosives were not discharged and only burned.

Frank T. Powers, head of the Maryland Bureau of Mines at Westernport, said that if the two tons of blasting powder had been detonated, a terrific explosion would have resulted.

Damage would not have been extensive as the magazine was by purpose located on the hill away from and higher than Westernport.

The concussion, however, Powers said, would have been great enough to break many windows of homes within the area.

The Harris Powder Company is one of the major suppliers of explosives to the mines of the George's Creek section.

This fire is another episode in the long list of property damage incidents in the creek mining section.

The victims were Loraine, 6, Helen Louise, 4, Charlotte Maybelle, 3, and Linda Kay, 19 months.

FCC Examiner Rules In Church-Radio Case

WASHINGTON, Dec. 29 (AP) — A Federal Communications Commission examiner today ruled a church may not be given a license for a radio station to be used solely in promoting its faith.

The examiner, J. D. Bond, said such a license would violate the Constitution's provisions for separation of church and state. Under the Constitution, he said, the FCC can neither approve nor disapprove the teachings of any individual church.

The examiner's ruling was issued in the form of an initial decision by the commission. It will become final within 40 days unless objections are filed. In event of objections, the FCC itself must act in the case.

The Reorganized Church of Jesus Christ of Latter Day Saints had asked for a permit to build the broadcasting station at Independence, Mo.

Five Children Perish As Fire Levels Home

LONDON, Ont., Dec. 29 (AP) —Five children died and their parents and three other children suffered burns and shock early today in a fire that levelled their five-room home while a frozen hydrant hampered firemen.

An explosion in an oil-burning heater was blamed for the swiftly-spreading blaze in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Wesley Bezeau.

Bay Bridge Damage Now Estimated At $184,000

BALTIMORE, Dec. 29 (AP)—Gov. Lane had word today that damage caused to the Chesapeake Bay bridge by the late November storm can be repaired for $184,000, not the $1,000,000 previously estimated.

The new estimate came from a New York engineering firm which surveyed the span after the storm.

Canada Plans More U. N. Aid

OTTAWA, Dec. 29 (AP)—Prime Minister Louis St. Laurent indicated today the Canadian government is planning to send several fighter squadrons to Europe and said the army's special force still may go to Korea.

The Prime Minister told a news conference that an "unfortunate misunderstanding" had arisen over the return to Canada from Korea of 300 members of an advance guard of the special force.

St. Laurent said the 300 men were returning to train with their units. The government's position regarding employment of the force remained as it was in August—it would, when trained, be sent to the theater where it could be of the most use.

This might be either Korea or Europe.

St. Laurent expressed regret that the "misunderstanding" about the 300 soldiers had led to American reports that Canada is withdrawing from Korea.

Canada has a battalion of infantry and a small administrative echelon in Korea, three destroyers off the coast and an R.C.A.F. transport squadron flying the trans-Pacific airlift.

Three Telegrams Bring Sorrow, Joy, Deeper Sorrow

DOUSMAN, Wis., Dec. 29 (AP) — Three telegrams brought sorrow, then joy and finally deeper sorrow to the George Ehrlich home.

On Dec. 21 a telegram from the Defense Department told the Ehrlichs their son, Sgt. Leland Ehrlich, 22, had been killed in Korea. Then on Christmas Day a second telegram said the first wire had been a mistake. Sgt. Ehrlich was alive.

A third telegram came yesterday. It said the Defense Department regretted that the second telegram had been a mistake, not the first. Sgt. Ehrlich had not lived to see Christmas.

War Seen Nearer

BELGRADE, Yugoslavia, Dec. 29 (AP)—Foreign Minister Edvard Kardelj told the Yugoslav parliament tonight that the world is heading for a third world war.

Five Children Perish As Fire Levels Home

LONDON, Ont., Dec. 29 (AP) —Five children died and their parents and three other children suffered burns and shock early today in a fire that levelled their five-room home while a frozen hydrant hampered firemen.

An explosion in an oil-burning heater was blamed for the swiftly-spreading blaze in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Wesley Bezeau.

Bay Bridge Damage Now Estimated At $184,000

BALTIMORE, Dec. 29 (AP)—Gov. Lane had word today that damage caused to the Chesapeake Bay bridge by the late November storm can be repaired for $184,000, not the $1,000,000 previously estimated.

The new estimate came from a New York engineering firm which surveyed the span after the storm.

Canada Plans More U. N. Aid

OTTAWA, Dec. 29 (AP)—Prime Minister Louis St. Laurent indicated today the Canadian government is planning to send several fighter squadrons to Europe and said the army's special force still may go to Korea.

The Prime Minister told a news conference that an "unfortunate misunderstanding" had arisen over the return to Canada from Korea of 300 members of an advance guard of the special force.

St. Laurent said the 300 men were returning to train with their units. The government's position regarding employment of the force remained as it was in August—it would, when trained, be sent to the theater where it could be of the most use.

This might be either Korea or Europe.

St. Laurent expressed regret that the "misunderstanding" about the 300 soldiers had led to American reports that Canada is withdrawing from Korea.

Canada has a battalion of infantry and a small administrative echelon in Korea, three destroyers off the coast and an R.C.A.F. transport squadron flying the trans-Pacific airlift.

Three Telegrams Bring Sorrow, Joy, Deeper Sorrow

DOUSMAN, Wis., Dec. 29 (AP) — Three telegrams brought sorrow, then joy and finally deeper sorrow to the George Ehrlich home.

On Dec. 21 a telegram from the Defense Department told the Ehrlichs their son, Sgt. Leland Ehrlich, 22, had been killed in Korea. Then on Christmas Day a second telegram said the first wire had been a mistake. Sgt. Ehrlich was alive.

A third telegram came yesterday. It said the Defense Department regretted that the second telegram had been a mistake, not the first. Sgt. Ehrlich had not lived to see Christmas.

War Seen Nearer

BELGRADE, Yugoslavia, Dec. 29 (AP)—Foreign Minister Edvard Kardelj told the Yugoslav parliament tonight that the world is heading for a third world war.

Britain Moves On "Squatters" On Helgoland

HAMBURG, Germany, Dec. 29 (AP) — The British High Commission tonight prepared for direct action to crush a German "squatters rebellion" on Helgoland, Allied bombing range in the North Sea, with which German authorities of Schleswig-Holstein said they were not equipped to cope.

About eight demonstrators are on the onetime Hitlerite island fortress barred to the Germans by British order since 1945.

A British frontier control boat received orders to be ready to sail for Helgoland at daybreak tomorrow.

A new ordinance, issued hastily and effective immediately, authorized the British to order the arrest of persons on the forbidden island, except for fishermen seeking storm shelter.

None would be permitted to land on Helgoland without written permission from British authorities. Violators would be subject to one year's imprisonment or a fine up to 5,000 marks $1,190).

The former Austrian Prince Hubertus Zu Loewenstein made the 40-mile journey today to join the squatters, after being forced back by engine trouble yesterday.

The proclaimed purpose of the Germans, several of them active politically, is to force the British to stop the bombings and permit the return of Helgolanders, who numbered 1,400 at the end of the war.

Frisco Freight Train Is Swept By Fire

OKLAHOMA CITY, Dec. 29 (AP) — A box car derailed and an adjoining oil tank car exploded, setting fire to a Frisco freight train south-west of Oklahoma City tonight.

Reports from the scene said apparently none aboard the train was injured. Ambulances en route to the fire were turned back.

Firemen reported the first explosion was followed by a second blinding flash of fire. The train halted across U. S. Highway 62 just south of the Oklahoma City municipal airport.

A dozen cars — three tankers and nine boxcars — were destroyed as flames spread toward either end of the train. Firemen let the flames burn themselves out since the scene was beyond city water mains.

Assets Seized In China Worth $200,000,000

HONG KONG, Dec. 29 (AP)—Value of American assets seized in China by the Red regime may run to $200,000,000 but the actual total probably never will be determined.

One reason is that, months before Thursday's seizure order, many firms doing business in China already had given up hopes of recovering their assets and had written them off the books at nominal valuations.

Harris Powder Magazine Is Destroyed By Flames

The perpetrators of the acts of violence which have plagued the Georges Creek region since early summer are getting bolder.

Thursday night at 10:30 the main powder magazine of the Harris Powder Company, only one mile from Westernport on Franklin Hill, was set afire.

The blaze consumed between 3,000 and 4,000 pounds of permissible mine blasting powder and dynamite in a short time.

The Tri-Towns Fire Company, of Piedmont, W. Va., and the Potomac Fire Company of Westernport, went to the scene, but could do nothing to save the concrete block structure.

The cost of the powder lost, according to L. E. Harris, Westernport, owner of the firm, was $3,000 The magazine, a concrete block structure, was burned so badly the walls were pushed in this morning to keep spectators from being injured by falling blocks. There was no insurance.

Harris was of the opinion the arsonist drilled a hole in the roof of the magazine to set off the explosive powder as the reinforced steel doors did not seem to have been tampered with.

As there were no detonator caps in the magazine as required by law, the explosives were not discharged and only burned.

Frank T. Powers, head of the Maryland Bureau of Mines at Westernport, said that if the two tons of blasting powder had been detonated, a terrific explosion would have resulted.

Damage would not have been extensive as the magazine was by purpose located on the hill away from and higher than Westernport.

The concussion, however, Powers said, would have been great enough to break many windows of homes within the area.

The Harris Powder Company is one of the major suppliers of explosives to the mines of the George's Creek section.

This fire is another episode in the long list of property damage incidents in the creek mining section.

The victims were Loraine, 6, Helen Louise, 4, Charlotte Maybelle, 3, and Linda Kay, 19 months.

Their mother, Mrs. Elizabeth Beavers, 26, was at work at the Stone City Machine Tool Company. The father said he had just stepped out of the house to visit the home of a neighbor.

FCC Examiner Rules In Church-Radio Case

WASHINGTON, Dec. 29 (AP) — A Federal Communications Commission examiner today ruled a church may not be given a license for a radio station to be used solely in promoting its faith.

The examiner, J. D. Bond, said such a license would violate the Constitution's provisions for separation of church and state. Under the Constitution, he said, the FCC can neither approve nor disapprove the teachings of any individual church.

The examiner's ruling was issued in the form of an initial decision by the commission. It will become final within 40 days unless objections are filed. In event of objections, the FCC itself must act in the case.

The Reorganized Church of Jesus Christ of Latter Day Saints had asked for a permit to build the broadcasting station at Independence, Mo.

Stock Market Prices

In recent weeks corporation shares have been selling on the New York Stock Exchange at the highest levels in 20 years. All-time records were established in 1929. But total cash dividends now are the highest in history. Seventy of the corporations whose shares are listed on the big board played Santa Claus by distributing dividends in the form of additional stock.

A share of stock represents part ownership of the corporation that issued it. It is a rare corporation that is valued at less now than in 1930. But it could be argued that many stock prices are higher than warranted, In many cases additional issues of stock have reduced the percentage of ownership of a corporation represented by each share of stock.

The impact of war on stock prices has not always been stimulating. During World Wars I and II quotations either collapsed at the outbreak or slumped sharply on news of enemy victories. In World War I stocks enjoyed their greatest rise with the coming of peace.

During World War II stocks were steady and rising somewhat when Allied chances began to improve. Since the war the trend has been mixed but on the whole upward. In recent months quotations have been reflecting the inflationary aspect of the country's growing rearmament effort.

Stock markets were not depressed by the defeat in Korea. What would happen if a big war started and serious reverses set in is guesswork, but probably the effect on quotations would be depressing. But there was little selling at year's end to establish losses for income tax purposes because there were few such losses to be established.

Needed More Than Ever

Credit the Citizens Committee for the Hoover Report with a timely reminder. The job of reorganizing the executive branch of the federal government, says the committee in its latest summary, is about half done—and this should mean an eventual saving of perhaps $2,000,000,000. But the job needs to be finished.

That is a timely reminder because some might think it would be a mistake to push this renovation program at a time when the government is spending scores of billions for armament. The truth is the need for efficient governmental machinery is all the greater now "to withstand the shock and strain of continuous economic and military attack."

It would have been better if the whole undertaking had been wrapped up long before this. But when the apparatus of government has been demonstrated to be faulty as well as extravagant, the only sensible course is to strengthen it before it breaks down entirely.

Certainly it is absolutely imperative that the cost of government be reduced to a minimum at a time when defense outlay will boost federal spending to wartime levels. Every dollar saved will be a dollar that will not add to inflationary pressures, and runaway inflation could bring a disaster almost as terrible as military defeat.

The hard part of the reorganization program is still ahead. Dr. Robert L. Johnson, chairman of the citizens committee, thinks the 50 per cent still to be done will be "far more difficult" to accomplish than the first half. But he must be proved wrong. The need is greater than ever.

Interesting Islands

The United States had a chance to add to its territory in the last war, but President Roosevelt rejected the proposition. The newest volumes of Roosevelt letters, which bring the compilation down to his death, state that Chile dropped some hints that it would be willing to sell or lease Easter Island, its outermost possession, lying some 1,800 miles west of the mainland. Roosevelt could not see any great advantage, and did not wish to bring up a contentious proposal which would further complicate his relations with Congress.

Many Americans would find Easter Island an interesting place to visit. It is noted for its mysterious stone statues, some of them 35 feet high, which may represent gods or, as some investigators have thought, ancestors. Further mystery is added by the existence of tablets on wood or bark, bearing a picture writing which cannot be read. The discouraging idea has been advanced that the script is not so much genuine writing as a system of reminders for messages known to receiver and sender, but to no one else. This sort of writing is practically impossible to decipher.

To ensure the safeguarding of these interesting relics, President Roosevelt toyed with the idea of establishing a Pan-American national park system, which would take over Easter Island and the Galapagos Islands, Ecuador's property lying 500 miles west. These have few inhabitants, but have been visited often on account of the giant turtles, unlike any known elsewhere. This project, like many other fertile schemes, was lost in the necessity of concentrating on the war. It may some day be revived.

Russia On South Africa

What do the Russians care about South Africa? The United Nations General Assembly recently voted to go ahead with its project to have the territory of Southwest Africa, a one-time German possession, become a mandate of the United Nations. The alternative would be to have it administered by the Union of South Africa. That nation has recently fallen into the hands of an intolerant faction which seems to be trying to reduce the black population to slavery. No friends of justice would be willing to have the Southwest Africa territory, almost entirely black in population, be subjected to the oppression which is getting under way in the Union.

Here, it might be thought is one subject on which the Russians, who talk much of their sympathy with oppressed peoples, could vote together with the rest of Europe and the United States. What happened? A proposal to negotiate with the Union of South Africa, with a view to having the United Nations mandate prevail, was carried by 45 to 6. The six were the Union of South Africa, Russia and four of its satellites.

Evidently the Russian stand has no relation to principle, but arises from a desire to stir up trouble even in the farthermost parts of the world.

There is no sin in being ignorant—it's the fellow who remains so who deserves censure.

Hangover Time

CONTROVERSIAL opinions exist about the treatment of an alcoholic hangover but every one will agree that it comes from drinking too much. It is hard to say why some wake up the morning after the night before feeling like a million whereas others have a thousand gremlins pounding away at the head. If no one touched the stuff, there would be no such manifestation. "What fools we mortals be" is all too true.

Alcohol undergoes chemical changes after being absorbed and the liver has the job of detoxifying the substance. But the organ can handle only so much at a time and when an excess is consumed it accumulates and hours elapse before the body rids itself of the poison. This is the major cause of the hangover. Contributing factors include staying up too late, smoking, and not eating. The ensuing miserable feeling serves one good purpose to say the least: It satisfies the emotional element because it acts as a form of punishment.

Most individuals think of a hangover in terms of a headache but there is more to it than this. The throbbing is agonizing to be sure but aspirin usually can control it. More troublesome are the accompanying lightheadness, nausea, thirst, lack of ability to concentrate, and the excessive perspiration that accompanies exertion. These side effects may be more incapacitating than the big head, especially for the man who has a heavy day's work ahead of him. The mind is not clear enough to think and more than one man has fared badly in a morning conference because of dullness and woolgathering that followed a night of revelry.

Lucky is the man or woman who can sleep it off; other than abstinence, this is the best treatment. To promote rest, a lukewarm bath as well as sedatives or analgesics like aspirin or APC tablets may be needed. These products also are helpful to the individual who cannot sleep because of severe headache or because he is worried or feeling guilty about what he might have done while under the influence of alcohol.

The hangover is a real problem to the person who must go to work. Every one who drinks has his pet procedure or even ritual but few if any will erase all the bad effects of drinking. The die is cast and discomfort will continue until the liver changes the alcohol and the body eliminates the residual aldehyde. In most instances, this takes until 3 or 4 o'clock in the afternoon when the veil lifts and well being begins to return. Meanwhile, the individual suffers in silence.

Amphetamine or coffee may be used to overcome fatigue and the alkalis, atropine, or aluminum gels counteract nausea. Eating is advisable even if it means forcing food. Carbohydrates are preferred as they taste better and help raise the blood sugar; vitamins also help, especially the B complex. Alcohol has a dehydrating effect which can be combatted by drinking large quantities of fluid, particularly milk, tomato juice, and water. Liquids also stimulate the kidneys to eliminate the alcoholic by-products. The fact is that many vow "never again" and few hold to the promise.

WAKE UP PILLS

G. T. writes: Could taking a capsule daily of a drug that keeps a person awake have any harmful effects over a period of three years? The person in question is restless and impatient.

REPLY

To my knowledge, no fatalities have been reported but a large dose of amphetamine sulfate is poisonous. The symptoms you mention may follow its use. Furthermore, it is not advisable to take the drug every day to stay awake as this has the same effect as whipping a tired horse. There is no substitute for sleep.

Emotional reactions stemming from previous associations and experiences are responsible. If the sight of blood makes a person ill, thinking about it may do the same.

DRAWING ALL THE FIRE

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

Washington Remains Skeptical About MacArthur's Intelligence; Intelligence Cables To Joint Chiefs Conflict With Tokyo Dispatches; Strength Reports Vary

Says DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON—Trouble is continuing between Washington and Tokyo over General MacArthur's faulty intelligence. Ever since MacArthur's "bring the boys home by Christmas" statement and the failure to spot 200,000 Chinese Communists in North Korea, Washington has been skeptical about the Supreme Commander's intelligence reports.

Because of this skepticism, it was hinted, after the tragic retreat from North Korea, that MacArthur should replace his intelligence chief, Maj. Gen. Charles Willoughby. However, this has not been done.

Meanwhile MacArthur's public statements in Tokyo are frequently at complete variance with the confidential reports cabled back by his intelligence chief, and Washington, in turn, is puzzled as to which to believe.

For instance, MacArthur estimated publicly on December 2 that there were about 500,000 Chinese troops in Korea. (This was in direct contrast to his estimate just six days before that there were not enough Chinese in Korea to interfere with getting the boys home by Christmas.) On December 4, however, MacArthur upped his estimate to more than one million Chinese in Korea or on the border, while on December 15 he announced that "a bottomless well of Chinese Communist manpower continues to flow into Korea."

Opposite Reports

However, this was not what intelligence chief was meanwhile cabling the Joint Chiefs of Staff. On December 6, just two days after MacArthur had announced his million-man Chinese army estimate, General Willoughby cabled as follows:

"Units believed to be on Eighth Army front are, west to east: Elements 50th CCF (Chinese Communist Field) army, elements 66th Chinese CCF army; 39th CCF army; 40th CCF army; 38th CCF army; 42nd CCF army."

If all these six Chinese armies were of full strength with no casualties—which is doubtful—the total Chinese force which sent the UN 8th Army into a 120-mile retreat in less than two weeks was only 96,000 men.

Yet the UN 8th Army had more than 100,000 front-line combat troops, not counting engineers and service troops behind the lines.

Thus it does not appear that the hordes of Chinese which MacArthur claimed, actually are facing us. General Willoughby, of course, could be wrong, and this is one reason why the Army Department in Washington is puzzled.

Since his early-December estimate, General Willoughby has increasted his figures on Chinese over-all strength. But even the revised figures do not materially change the picture. He now estimates that the total Chinese strength in Korea facing not only the 8th Army, but previously facing the 10th Corps around the Hungnam beachhead is 285,000 plus 150,000 North Koreans.

The size of the UN forces is a military secret, but it can be stated that they are somewhat more than the Chinese strength.

It is supposed to require a manpower superiority of 3 to 1 to launch a successful offensive. Furthermore, it is an indisputable fact that we have complete control of the air while the Chinese have almost no artillery except that captured from us. Thus, even assuming the Willoughby estimates are considerably off, the Pentagon is puzzled over our precipitious 120-mile retreat. The immediate retreat is, of course, explained by the fact that we were spread too thin, but not the continued 120-mile retreat.

Poor Chinese Weapons

In mid-December, General Willoughby cabled the following description of Chinese arms equipment: "Battalion CCF army with three grenades and rifle or Russian sub-machine gun per man and 300 North Korean army stragglers crossed Taedong."

In other words, each Chinese soldier had no more than three hand grenades and a rifle or sub-machine gun. This is extremely light firepower for an attacking army, but it has been about the average Chinese armament. Chinese troops have had no means of carrying ammunition other than ox or mule carts, and each man goes into battle with most of his ammunition on him, plus his rice for the next few days.

Another of Willoughby's intelligence cables to Washington about mid-December is interesting: "Lack of CCF on 8th Army front. Due to deep withdrawal executed by 8th Army, it is evident that enemy, lacking any great degree of mobility, has been unable to regain contact."

This is interpreted in the Pentagon as saying that the Chinese, lacking any means of transportation, were unable to keep up with the fast retreat of the 8th Army. In other words, we failed to keep contact with the enemy, one of the fundamental rules of military strategy.

Slow-moving Chinese

Another of General Willoughby's reports at about the same time, states: "Those well-versed in Chinese military operations stress an inherent lack of elasticity in planning and similar inelasticity in staff and command structure. Such deficiencies can only result in stereotyped campaigns, and hold offensive action to slow succession of limited objectives.

"It follows then," continued General Willoughby, "that CCF high command, being unable to predict degree of success for his initial offensive of November 28, was confronted by the problem of immediately realigning his forces for the continuation of the offensive; or of continuing to objectives according to their set schedule."

This is interpreted in the Army Department as meaning that the Chinese were slow-moving, had only limited objectives, and never expected to run us out of North Korea so quickly.

Though it isn't admitted, and may even be denied, these reports have increased Pentagon concern. Received just after the worst retreat in modern military history, the Willoughby reports constitute a strange confession of the weakness of the Chinese armies.

If his intelligence is correct, Chinese manpower did not total anywhere near a million men, nor even near 500,000 men, but only 285,000 plus 150,000 North Koreans. In addition, the Chinese according to Willoughby, lacked fire-power, air strength, artillery, could not travel with any speed, while their high command, being "stereotyped," could not regroup easily to take advantage of the UN retreat.

These are some of the facts which don't show up in the press dispatches from Tokyo. The inescapable conclusion is that either Willoughby is wrong or the MacArthur press communiques have been deceiving the American public.

Split Congress, President Are Facing Big Decisions

By MARK SULLIVAN

THE NEW 82nd Congress about to come into existence next week was elected on November 7th last. On that date the war in Korea had been under way about four months. It had influence on the outcome of the election and the influence was adverse to the party in power and to the Truman Administration.

The new Congress, as elected November 7, had a Democratic majority so reduced in both branches as to give the party leaders little more than formal control. They could name the top officials of the two branches, they could organize the committees and have a majority on each. But their majorities in the two branches were too small to enable them to control legislation. They could not determine what measures should be passed. They could not confidently have a legislative program of their own, and they could not assure President Truman that measures he desires would be passed.

During the seven weeks since the new Congress was elected the war in Korea has had further effect, and the effect has been strongly adverse to the Administration. President Truman was Commander in Chief of a force which, during the middle weeks of the Congressional campaign, had brilliant success. By December 1 the American and other United Nations forces had suffered a severe disaster, with yet further adversity in prospect. President Truman's prestige, with Congress and with the country, was seriously reduced.

The disaster in Korea had a further and far-reaching effect. For the first time in ten years the control of our foreign relations by the Administration came to public attention in a way that led to searching and critical examination. Throughout the second world war and later the Republicans had practiced non-partisanship about foreign relations, both in Congress and in elections. The Administration had been left free to make foreign policy and now disaster had occurred in this field.

The prestige of the Administration was seriously damaged. It became apparent that the Republicans in Congress, instead of practicing a deferential non-partisanship, would critically examine foreign policy as it was being made and would themselves take a hand in making it. And it became apparent that Congress as a whole would not accept foreign policy measures as they came from the Administration, that such measures would be subjected to thorough debate.

The ebbing of the President's prestige that came from developments in the war and in foreign relations during the post-election period was added to an ebbing that had already begun before the election and had expressed itself in a marked reduction of Democratic strength in Congress. The sum of it seems clearly to be that the coming Congress, while having nominally a Democratic majority, will actually be controlled, as respects legislation, by a majority composed of nearly all the Republicans with a considerable margin of the Democrats. The point of view of the Republicans is likely to be symbolized by the conservative Republican Senator who won an especially striking victory in Ohio, Mr. Taft. The group of Democrats who are likely to share in the control of Congress are symbolized by Sen. Byrd of Virginia.

Superficially there is nothing dangerously novel in this prospect. It dot not differ essentially from the occasional cases in which a Congressional election returns a majority belonging to one party, while a President belonging to the other party remains in office for two years. A recent example was the 80th Congress, elected with a Republican majority in 1946 while President Truman remained in office for two years.

But the condition ahead, a division in fact if not in form between Congress and the President, comes at a time of great danger and of public awareness of the danger. Our people had vaguely assumed that somehow world peace would come about, through the United Nations or otherwise. By the shock we received from Korea we were obliged to look at the world and our relation to the world as it realistically is. By our experience in Korea we learned the limitations of our strength and must consider how best to make use of it in face of the threat of the Communist world. Decisions about that must be made at a time when there is division between the President who has responsibility for foreign policy, and a Congress which has ideas and convictions differing from those of the executive.

Air Power Will Now Come Into Its Own In Korea

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON, Dec. 29. — Air power — and specifically strategic bombing—is going to have its turn now in Korea.

The great feat of the U.S. Navy, in accomplishing without a mishap the evacuation of 250,000 troops and civilians through the Port of Hungnam, means that the same curtain of naval fire could be used at any other seaport in Korea if it should become necessary to redeploy troops again. Fear of being pushed out of Korea precipitately can be dismissed.

Bolstered by this new confidence, the military effort of the United Nations can be concentrated on the use of air power against the Chinese offensive. Meanwhile, our ground troops will play a defensive role.

The so-called strategic air warfare—which means the bombing of enemy communication lines and supply stations — has not had an opportunity heretofore to prove itself in Korea because the enemy forces until recently have been relatively small and supplies have been hoved over short distances mostly at night.

Can Turn Tide

Now, however, with a North Korean-Chinese Army massed along or below the 38th Parellel, estimated to number around 500,000, there must be a sizable supply line and flow of ammunition over a distance of nearly 100 miles south of the Manchurian Border. This enables the UN commanders to organize strategic missions and give the enemy a going-over which can turn the tide of battle.

The amount of air power available to the UN is considerably more than that of the enemy, though it is confidently expected that Soviet Russia will not be able to refuse the pleas of the Chinese Communists for more and more air support.

Air power in Korea comprises not only the heavy bombers of the U.S. Air Force but also the bombers that fly from the decks of the several big naval aircraft carriers roaming up and down both coast lines. All the air effort is coordinated from Tokyo insofar as strategic missions are concerned, but the planes used to protect the movement of our own troops are in direct touch with the ground command.

Since the beginning of the war in Korea, air power has encountered much unjust criticism in connection with its failure to stop the North Korean advance last summer. The difficulty was not with this instrument of war but with the conditions that existed in that particular area. Heavy bombers cannot do the job needed for close support of ground troops, and they never were intended for that purpose.

About the only valid criticism is that the U.S. Air Force did not previously give sufficient attention to ground-air operations. The answer given to this was that the funds were not adequate. The calculated risk was taken that strategic bombers to carry the atom bomb deserved higher priority.

Enemy Targets Increased

Since the outbreak of the Korean War, however, adequate funds have been available and steps have been taken to build up the air power needed for close support of ground troops. At the same time, more funds have been furnished for strategic air warfare, too.

The planes of the U.S. Air Force in the Far East are not numerous enough to do all the jobs that are required of them, but there are enough available to take care of the targets behind the Chinese Communist lines. It is unfortunate from a military standpoint that bombing of the real bases across the Manchurian border is not permitted to UN airmen. Now, as the Chinese lines have lengthened, the enemy targets have suddenly increased. The U.S. Air Force, flying from a few fields in Korea, and the U.S. Naval Air Forces, flying from the decks of carriers, should be able to accomplish considerable destruction and perhaps disorganize the offensive itself.

In any event, the next big news that Americans will look for is the effect in the next several days and weeks of the use of heavy bombing planes north of the 150-mile UN front. Another phase of the war will be carried on by heavy gunfire from the warships of the Navy, which are able to drop shells far enough inland to destroy some of the main railroad lines.

But it is to be largely the Air Force's show from now on, and there are high hopes that strategic warfare will demonstrate that, while it alone cannot win a battle, it can disrupt an opposing army offensive and enable ground troops to capitalize on the disorganization of the enemy.

These Days

By GEORGE E. SOKOLSKY

1951

LET us face what we have to with courage and zeal and fortitude.

We say to each other, "A Happy New Year, and we mean it, but we know that the day will pass and tomorrow we shall have to begin to deal with some of the most stupendous problems in our history.

The year, 1951, will be writ large in the story of the United States. We face tomorrow in the eighth year of World War III which commenced on December 1, 1943, when Roosevelt and Churchill and Stalin consumated their atrocious contract at Teheran. From that day to this, all countries in the world, some with knowledge, some without, have been grappling with the problems of survival.

Now we face the enemy on two fronts, in Asia and in Europe. It is said of General Walton H. Walker, who died, that he once saw his men kill 1,000 Chinese but lying among them were 50 of our own sons. The ratio is too high for us.

A courageous people does not take opiates in such times. It meets its problems head on and moves forward.

In some countries, those who were responsible for the errors, the loss of life, the disappointments and fears are removed from office and fresh minds take their place. Thus, in England Lloyd George was brought in to fight World War I and Winston Churchill, World War II.

Our system is different. We change the chief executive at stated periods, whether the confidence of the nation is in him or not. Woodrow Wilson, Warren Harding and Herbert Hoover continued after there was an obvious loss of confidence. Harry Truman is so continuing now. The system is not likely to change and we must go along with it as it is.

Mr. Truman's Cabinet is not suitable for 1951. Secretary of State Dean Acheson has lost the confidence of most Americans. His defenders insist that he is an unusually competent man, which begs the question. It is not his technical competence that is being considered; it is his separation from American public opinion.

Never was that more clearly demonstrated than in a comparison between his speech to the public and that of Herbert Hoover. When Acheson spoke, it gave the country a chill; Hoover electrified the nation, expressing precisely what most Americans thought, namely, that we cannot go on impoverishing ourselves to help people who will not help themselves, nor can we go on assisting nations while they provide our murderous enemies with supplies.

So it is with the Department of Defense and its associated agencies. The stories during the past fortnight against George Marshall, obviously emanating from the White House, indicate that the President wants someone else to be Secretary of Defense, and lacks the nerve to say so.

The importance of this is that we as a people, are becoming aware of the inadequacy of our government to meet the crisis of 1951. For this definitely is the year of crisis, particularly in the matter of world leadership. Have we, a mere 150,000,000 human beings, undertaken too much? Have we extended beyond our strength? Are we expending beyond our means? If the answer is that we are not as powerful as we assumed, is it too late to rectify our position?

The year 1951 will tell us. At the end of this year, we shall probably know whether we possess the physical and spiritual means for world leadership or whether we have to recede into a more limited sphere of activity such as Herbert Hoover suggests.

All the trickiness of propaganda will not serve any longer. This is the year of crisis and the balance sheet is beginning to form. The Brussels Conference has not given us more time; it has accentuated the crisis and brought us closer to decision. The various conflicts in the United Nations have not added to our strength; they have rather accentuated our peril.

So, all you good readers who read me and write to me, who like to read this column or listen to my commentaries on radio, who dislike both and find fault with me—to all, I hope that I shall on this day a year hence be able to write more cheerfully and that all of us and all our dear ones will be alive and well.

May God bless us all in this year of crisis!

Stock Market Prices

In recent weeks corporation shares have been selling on the New York Stock Exchange at the highest levels in 20 years. All-time records were established in 1929. But total cash dividends now are the highest in history. Seventy of the corporations whose shares are listed on the big board played Santa Claus by distributing dividends in the form of additional stock.

A share of stock represents part ownership of the corporation that issued it. It is a rare corporation that is valued at less now than in 1930. But it could be argued that many stock prices are higher than warranted, In many cases additional issues of stock have reduced the percentage of ownership of a corporation represented by each share of stock.

The impact of war on stock prices has not always been stimulating. During World Wars I and II quotations either collapsed at the outbreak or slumped sharply on news of enemy victories. In World War I stocks enjoyed their greatest rise with the coming of peace.

During World War II stocks were steady and rising somewhat when Allied chances began to improve. Since the war the trend has been mixed but on the whole upward. In recent months quotations have been reflecting the inflationary aspect of the country's growing rearmament effort.

Stock markets were not depressed by the defeat in Korea. What would happen if a big war started and serious reverses set in is guesswork, but probably the effect on quotations would be depressing. But there was little selling at year's end to establish losses for income tax purposes because there were few such losses to be established.

Needed More Than Ever

Credit the Citizens Committee for the Hoover Report with a timely reminder. The job of reorganizing the executive branch of the federal government, says the committee in its latest summary, is about half done—and this should mean an eventual saving of perhaps $2,000,000,000. But the job needs to be finished.

That is a timely reminder because some might think it would be a mistake to push this renovation program at a time when the government is spending scores of billions for armament. The truth is the need for efficient governmental machinery is all the greater now "to withstand the shock and strain of continuous economic and military attack."

It would have been better if the whole undertaking had been wrapped up long before this. But when the apparatus of government has been demonstrated to be faulty as well as extravagant, the only sensible course is to strengthen it before it breaks down entirely.

Certainly it is absolutely imperative that the cost of government be reduced to a minimum at a time when defense outlay will boost federal spending to wartime levels. Every dollar saved will be a dollar that will not add to inflationary pressures, and runaway inflation could bring a disaster almost as terrible as military defeat.

The hard part of the reorganization program is still ahead. Dr. Robert L. Johnson, chairman of the citizens committee, thinks the 50 per cent still to be done will be "far more difficult" to accomplish than the first half. But he must be proved wrong. The need is greater than ever.

Interesting Islands

The United States had a chance to add to its territory in the last war, but President Roosevelt rejected the proposition. The newest volumes of Roosevelt letters, which bring the compilation down to his death, state that Chile dropped some hints that it would be willing to sell or lease Easter Island, its outermost possession, lying some 1,800 miles west of the mainland. Roosevelt could not see any great advantage, and did not wish to bring up a contentious proposal which would further complicate his relations with Congress.

Many Americans would find Easter Island an interesting place to visit. It is noted for its mysterious stone statues, some of them 35 feet high, which may represent gods or, as some investigators have thought, ancestors. Further mystery is added by the existence of tablets on wood or bark, bearing a picture writing which cannot be read. The discouraging idea has been advanced that the script is not so much genuine writing as a system of reminders for messages known to receiver and sender, but to no one else. This sort of writing is practically impossible to decipher.

To ensure the safeguarding of these interesting relics, President Roosevelt toyed with the idea of establishing a Pan-American national park system, which would take over Easter Island and the Galapagos Islands, Ecuador's property lying 500 miles west. These have few inhabitants, but have been visited often on account of the giant turtles, unlike any known elsewhere. This project, like many other fertile schemes, was lost in the necessity of concentrating on the war. It may some day be revived.

Russia On South Africa

What do the Russians care about South Africa? The United Nations General Assembly recently voted to go ahead with its project to have the territory of Southwest Africa, a one-time German possession, become a mandate of the United Nations. The alternative would be to have it administered by the Union of South Africa. That nation has recently fallen into the hands of an intolerant faction which seems to be trying to reduce the black population to slavery. No friends of justice would be willing to have the Southwest Africa territory, almost entirely black in population, be subjected to the oppression which is getting under way in the Union.

Here, it might be thought, is one subject on which the Russians, who talk much of their sympathy with oppressed peoples, could vote together with the rest of Europe and the United States. What happened? A proposal to negotiate with the Union of South Africa, with a view to having the United Nations mandate prevail, was carried by 45 to 6. The six were the Union of South Africa, Russia and four of its satellites.

Evidently the Russian stand has no relation to principle, but arises from a desire to stir up trouble even in the farthermost parts of the world.

There is no sin in being ignorant—it's the fellow who remains so who deserves censure.

Hangover Time

CONTROVERSIAL opinions exist about the treatment of an alcoholic hangover but every one will agree that it comes from drinking too much. It is hard to say why some wake up the morning after the night before feeling like a million whereas others have a thousand gremlins pounding away at the head. If no one touched the stuff, there would be no such manifestation. "What fools we mortals be" is all too true.

Alcohol undergoes chemical changes after being absorbed and the liver has the job of detoxifying the substance. But the organ can handle only so much at a time and when an excess is consumed it accumulates and hours elapse before the body rids itself of the poison. This is the major cause of the hangover. Contributing factors include staying up too late, smoking, and not eating. The ensuing miserable feeling serves one good purpose to say the least: It satisfies the emotional element because it acts as a form of punishment.

Most individuals think of a hangover in terms of a headache but there is more to it than this. The throbbing is agonizing to be sure but aspirin usually can control it. More troublesome are the accompanying lightheadness, nausea, thirst, lack of ability to concentrate, and the excessive perspiration that accompanies exertion. These side effects may be more incapacitating than the big head, especially for the man who has a heavy day's work ahead of him. The mind is not clear enough to think and more than one man has fared badly in a morning conference because of dullness and woolgathering that followed a night of revelry.

Lucky is the man or woman who can sleep it off; other than abstinence, this is the best treatment. To promote rest, a lukewarm bath as well as sedatives or analgesics like aspirin or APC tablets may be needed. These products also are helpful to the individual who cannot sleep because of severe headache or because he is worried or feeling guilty about what he might have done while under the influence of alcohol.

The hangover is a real problem to the person who must go to work. Every one who drinks has his pet procedure or even ritual but few if any will erase all the bad effects of drinking. The die is cast and discomfort will continue until the liver changes the alcohol and the body eliminates the residual aldehyde. In most instances, this takes until 3 or 4 o'clock in the afternoon when the veil lifts and well being begins to return. Meanwhile, the individual suffers in silence.

Amphetamine or coffee may be used to overcome fatigue and the alkalis, atropine, or aluminum gels counteract nausea. Eating is advisable even if it means forcing food. Carbohydrates are preferred as they taste better and help raise the blood sugar; vitamins also help, especially the B complex. Alcohol has a dehydrating effect which can be combatted by drinking large quantities of fluid, particularly milk, tomato juice, and water. Liquids also stimulate the kidneys to eliminate the alcoholic by-products. The fact is that many vow "never again" and few hold to the promise.

To my knowledge, no fatalities have been reported but a large dose of amphetamine sulfate is poisonous. The symptoms you mention may follow its use. Furthermore, it is not advisable to take the drug every day to stay awake as this has the same effect as whipping a tired horse. There is no substitute for sleep.

DRAWING ALL THE FIRE

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

Says DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON—Trouble is continuing between Washington and Tokyo over General MacArthur's faulty intelligence. Ever since MacArthur's "bring the boys home by Christmas" statement and the failure to spot 200,000 Chinese Communists in North Korea, Washington has been skeptical about the Supreme Commander's intelligence reports.

Because of this skepticism, it was hinted, after the tragic retreat from North Korea, that MacArthur should replace his intelligence chief, Maj. Gen. Charles Willoughby. However, this has not been done.

Meanwhile MacArthur's public statements in Tokyo are frequently at complete variance with the confidential reports cabled back by his intelligence chief, and Washington, in turn, is puzzled as to which to believe.

For instance, MacArthur estimated publicly on December 2 that there were about 500,000 Chinese troops in Korea. (This was in direct contrast to his estimate just six days before that there were not enough Chinese in Korea to interfere with getting the boys home by Christmas.) On December 4, however, MacArthur upped his estimate to more than one million Chinese in Korea or on the border, while on December 15 he announced that "a bottomless well of Chinese Communist manpower continues to flow into Korea."

Opposite Reports

However, this was not what intelligence chief was meanwhile cabling the Joint Chiefs of Staff. On December 6, just two days after MacArthur had announced his million-man Chinese army estimate, General Willoughby cabled as follows:

"Units believed to be on Eighth Army front are, west to east: Elements 50th CCF (Chinese Communist Field) army, elements 66th Chinese CCF army; 39th CCF army; 40th CCF army; 38th CCF army; 42nd CCF army."

If all these six Chinese armies were of full strength with no casualties—which is doubtful—the total Chinese force which sent the UN 8th Army into a 120-mile retreat in less than two weeks was only 96,000 men.

Yet the UN 8th Army had more than 100,000 front-line combat troops, not counting engineers and service troops behind the lines.

Thus it does not appear that the hordes of Chinese which MacArthur claimed, actually are facing us. General Willoughby, of course, could be wrong, and this is one reason why the Army Department in Washington is puzzled.

Since his early-December estimate, General Willoughby has increasted his figures on Chinese over-all strength. But even the revised figures do not materially change the picture. He now estimates that the total Chinese strength in Korea facing not only the 8th Army, but previously facing the 10th Corps around the Hungnam beachhead is 285,000 plus 150,000 North Koreans.

The size of the UN forces is a military secret, but it can be stated that they are somewhat more than the Chinese strength.

It is supposed to require a manpower superiority of 3 to 1 to launch a successful offensive. Furthermore, it is an indisputable fact that we have complete control of the air while the Chinese have almost no artillery except that captured from us. Thus, even assuming the Willoughby estimates are considerably off, the Pentagon is puzzled over our precipitious 120-mile retreat. The immediate retreat is, of course, explained by the fact that we were spread too thin, but not the continued 120-mile retreat.

Poor Chinese Weapons

In mid-December, General Willoughby cabled the following description of Chinese arms equipment: "Battalion CCF army with three grenades and rifle or Russian sub-machine gun per man and 300 North Korean army stragglers crossed Taedong."

In other words, each Chinese soldier had no more than three hand grenades and a rifle or sub-machine gun. This is extremely light firepower for an attacking army, but it has been about the average Chinese armament. Chinese troops have had no means of carrying ammunition other than ox or mule carts, and each man goes into battle with most of his ammunition on him, plus his rice for the next few days.

Another of Willoughby's intelligence cables to Washington about mid-December is interesting: "Lack of CCF on 8th Army front. Due to deep withdrawal executed by 8th Army, it is evident that enemy, lacking any great degree of mobility, has been unable to regain contact."

This is interpreted in the Pentagon as saying that the Chinese, lacking any means of transportation, were unable to keep up with the fast retreat of the 8th Army. In other words, we failed to keep contact with the enemy, one of the fundamental rules of military strategy.

Slow-moving Chinese

Another of General Willoughby's reports at about the same time, states: "Those well-versed in Chinese military operations stress an inherent lack of elasticity in planning and similar inelasticity in staff and command structure. Such deficiencies can only result in stereotyped campaigns, and hold offensive action to slow succession of limited objectives.

"It follows then," continued General Willoughby, "that CCF high command, being unable to predict degree of success for his initial offensive of November 28, was confronted by the problem of immediately realigning his forces for the continuation of the offensive; or of continuing to objectives according to their set schedule."

This is interpreted in the Army Department as meaning that the Chinese were slow-moving, had only limited objectives, and never expected to run us out of North Korea so quickly.

Though it isn't admitted, and may even be denied, these reports have increased Pentagon concern. Received just after the worst retreat in modern military history, the Willoughby reports constitute a strange confession of the weakness of the Chinese armies.

If his intelligence is correct, Chinese manpower did not total anywhere near a million men, nor even near 500,000 men, but only 285,000 plus 150,000 North Koreans. In addition, the Chinese according to Willoughby, lacked fire-power, air strength, artillery, could not travel with any speed, while their high command, being "stereotyped," could not regroup easily to take advantage of the UN retreat.

These are some of the facts which don't show up in the press dispatches from Tokyo. The inescapable conclusion is that either Willoughby is wrong or the MacArthur press communiques have been deceiving the American public.

Fear of being pushed out of Korea precipitately can be dismissed.

Bolstered by this new confidence, the military effort of the United Nations can be concentrated on the use of air power against the Chinese offensive. Meanwhile, our ground troops will play a defensive role.

The so-called strategic air warfare—which means the bombing of enemy communication lines and supply stations — has not had an opportunity heretofore to prove itself in Korea because the enemy forces until recently have been relatively small and supplies have been hoved over short distances mostly at night.

Can Turn Tide

Now, however, with a North Korean-Chinese Army massed along or below the 38th Parellel, estimated to number around 500,000, there must be a sizable supply line and flow of ammunition over a distance of nearly 100 miles south of the Manchurian Border. This enables the UN commanders to organize strategic missions and give the enemy a going-over which can turn the tide of battle.

The amount of air power available to the UN is considerably more than that of the enemy, though it is confidently expected that Soviet Russia will not be able to refuse the pleas of the Chinese Communists for more and more air support.

Air power in Korea comprises not only the heavy bombers of the U.S. Air Force but also the bombers that fly from the decks of the several big naval aircraft carriers roaming up and down both coast lines. All the air effort is coordinated from Tokyo insofar as strategic missions are concerned, but the planes used to protect the movement of our own troops are in direct touch with the ground command.

Since the beginning of the war in Korea, air power has encountered much unjust criticism in connection with its failure to stop the North Korean advance last summer. The difficulty was not with this instrument of war but with the conditions that existed in that particular area. Heavy bombers cannot do the job needed for close support of ground troops, and they never were intended for that purpose.

About the only valid criticism that the U.S. Air Force did not previously give sufficient attention to ground-air operations. The answer given to this was that the funds were not adequate. The calculated risk was taken that strategic bombers to carry the atom bomb deserved higher priority.

Enemy Targets Increased

Since the outbreak of the Korean War, however, adequate funds have been available and steps have been taken to build up the air power needed for close support of ground troops. At the same time, more funds have been furnished for strategic air warfare, too.

The planes of the U.S. Air Force in the Far East are not numerous enough to do all the jobs that are required of them, but there are enough available to take care of the targets behind the Chinese Communist lines. It is unfortunate from a military standpoint that bombing of the real bases across the Manchurian border is not permitted to UN airmen. Now, as the Chinese lines have lengthened, the enemy targets have suddenly increased. The U.S. Air Force, flying from a few fields in Korea, and the U.S. Naval Air Forces, flying from the decks of carriers, should be able to accomplish considerable destruction and perhaps disorganize the offensive itself.

In any event, the next big news that Americans will look for is the effect in the next several days and weeks of the use of heavy bombing planes north of the 150-mile UN front. Another phase of the war will be carried on by heavy gunfire from the warships of the Navy, which are able to drop shells far enough inland to destroy some of the main railroad lines.

But it is to be largely the Air Force's show from now on, and there are high hopes that strategic warfare will demonstrate that, while it alone cannot win a battle, it can disrupt an opposing army offensive and enable ground troops to capitalize on the disorganization of the enemy.

These Days

By GEORGE E. SOKOLSKY

1951

LET us face what we have to with courage and zeal and fortitude.

We say to each other, "A Happy New Year, and we mean it, but we know that the day will pass and tomorrow we shall have to begin to deal with some of the most stupendous problems in our history.

The year, 1951, will be writ large in the story of the United States. We face tomorrow in the eighth year of World War III which commenced on December 1, 1943, when Roosevelt and Churchill and Stalin consumated their atrocious contract at Teheran. From that day to this, all countries in the world, some with knowledge, some without, have been grappling with the problems of survival.

Now we face the enemy on two fronts, in Asia and in Europe. It is said of General Walton H. Walker, who died, that he once saw his men kill 1,000 Chinese but lying among them were 50 of our own sons. The ratio is too high for us.

A courageous people does not take opiates in such times. It meets its problems head on and moves forward.

In some countries, those who were responsible for the errors, the loss of life, the disappointments and fears are removed from office and fresh minds take their place. Thus, in England Lloyd George was brought in to fight World War I and Winston Churchill, World War II.

Our system is different. We change the chief executive at stated periods, whether the confidence of the nation is in him or not. Woodrow Wilson, Warren Harding and Herbert Hoover continued after there was an obvious loss of confidence. Harry Truman is so continuing now. The system is not likely to change and we must go along with it as it is.

Mr. Truman's Cabinet is not suitable for 1951. Secretary of State Dean Acheson has lost the confidence of most Americans. His defenders insist that he is an unusually competent man, which begs the question. It is not his technical competence that is being considered; it is his separation from American public opinion.

Never was that more clearly demonstrated than in a comparison between his speech to the public and that of Herbert Hoover. When Acheson spoke, it gave the country a chill; Hoover electrified the nation, expressing precisely what most Americans thought, namely, that we cannot go on impoverishing ourselves to help people who will not help themselves, nor can we go on assisting nations while they provide our murderous enemies with supplies.

So it is with the Department of Defense and its associated agencies. The stories during the past fortnight against George Marshall, obviously emanating from the White House, indicate that the President wants someone else to be Secretary of Defense, and lacks the nerve to say so.

The importance of this is that we ,as a people, are becoming aware of the inadequacy of our government to meet the crisis of 1951. For this definitely is the year of crisis, particularly in the matter of world leadership. Have we, a mere 150,000,000 human beings, undertaken too much? Have we extended beyond our strength? Are we expending beyond our means? If the answer is that we are not as powerful as we assumed, is it too late to rectify our position?

The year 1951 will tell us. At the end of this year, we shall probably know whether we possess the physical and spiritual means for world leadership or whether we have to recede into a more limited sphere of activity such as Herbert Hoover suggests.

All the trickiness of propaganda will not serve any longer. This is the year of crisis and the balance sheet is beginning to form. The Brussels Conference has not given us more time; it has accentuated the crisis and brought us closer to decision. The various conflicts in the United Nations have not added to our strength; they have rather accentuated our peril.

So, all you good readers who read me and write to me, who like to read this column or listen to my commentaries on radio, who dislike both and find fault with me—to all, I hope that I shall on this day a year hence be able to write more cheerfully and that all of us and all our dear ones will be alive and well.

May God bless us all in this year of crisis!

Stock Market Prices

In recent weeks corporation shares have been selling on the New York Stock Exchange at the highest levels in 20 years. All-time records were established in 1929. But total cash dividends now are the highest in history. Seventy of the corporations whose shares are listed on the big board played Santa Claus by distributing dividends in the form of additional stock.

A share of stock represents part ownership of the corporation that issued it. It is a rare corporation that is valued at less now than in 1930. But it could be argued that many stock prices are higher than warranted, In many cases additional issues of stock have reduced the percentage of ownership of a corporation represented by each share of stock.

The impact of war on stock prices has not always been stimulating. During World Wars I and II quotations either collapsed at the outbreak or slumped sharply on news of enemy victories. In World War I stocks enjoyed their greatest rise with the coming of peace.

During World War II stocks were steady and rising somewhat when Allied chances began to improve. Since the war the trend has been mixed but on the whole upward. In recent months quotations have been reflecting the inflationary aspect of the country's growing rearmament effort.

Stock markets were not depressed by the defeat in Korea. What would happen if a big war started and serious reverses set in is guesswork, but probably the effect on quotations would be depressing. But there was little selling at year's end to establish losses for income tax purposes because there were few such losses to be established.

Needed More Than Ever

Credit the Citizens Committee for the Hoover Report with a timely reminder. The job of reorganizing the executive branch of the federal government, says the committee in its latest summary, is about half done—and this should mean an eventual saving of perhaps $2,000,000,000. But the job needs to be finished.

That is a timely reminder because some might think it would be a mistake to push this renovation program at a time when the government is spending scores of billions for armament. The truth is the need for efficient governmental machinery is all the greater now "to withstand the shock and strain of continuous economic and military attack."

It would have been better if the whole undertaking had been wrapped up long before this. But when the apparatus of government has been demonstrated to be faulty as well as extravagant, the only sensible course is to strengthen it before it breaks down entirely.

Certainly it is absolutely imperative that the cost of government be reduced to a minimum at a time when defense outlay will boost federal spending to wartime levels. Every dollar saved will be a dollar that will not add to inflationary pressures, and runaway inflation could bring a disaster almost as terrible as military defeat.

The hard part of the reorganization program is still ahead. Dr. Robert L. Johnson, chairman of the citizens committee, thinks the 50 per cent still to be done will be "far more difficult" to accomplish than the first half. But he must be proved wrong. The need is greater than ever.

Interesting Islands

The United States had a chance to add to its territory in the last war, but President Roosevelt rejected the proposition. The newest volumes of Roosevelt letters, which bring the compilation down to his death, state that Chile dropped some hints that it would be willing to sell or lease Easter Island, its outermost possession, lying some 1,800 miles west of the mainland. Roosevelt could not see any great advantage, and did not wish to bring up a contentious proposal which would further complicate his relations with Congress.

Many Americans would find Easter Island an interesting place to visit. It is noted for its mysterious stone statues, some of them 35 feet high, which may represent gods or, as some investigators have thought, ancestors. Further mystery is added by the existence of tablets on wood or bark, bearing a picture writing which cannot be read. The discouraging idea has been advanced that the script is not so much genuine writing as a system of reminders for messages known to receiver and sender, but to no one else. This sort of writing is practically impossible to decipher.

To ensure the safeguarding of these interesting relics, President Roosevelt toyed with the idea of establishing a Pan-American national park system, which would take over Easter Island and the Galapagos Islands, Ecuador's property lying 500 miles west. These have few inhabitants, but have been visited often on account of the giant turtles, unlike any known elsewhere. This project, like many other fertile schemes, was lost in the necessity of concentrating on the war. It may some day be revived.

Russia On South Africa

What do the Russians care about South Africa? The United Nations General Assembly recently voted to go ahead with its project to have the territory of Southwest Africa, a one-time German possession, become a mandate of the United Nations. The alternative would be to have it administered by the Union of South Africa. That nation has recently fallen into the hands of an intolerant faction which seems to be trying to reduce the black population to slavery. No friends of justice would be willing to have the Southwest Africa territory, almost entirely black in population, be subjected to the oppression which is getting under way in the Union.

Here, it might be thought is one subject on which the Russians, who talk much of their sympathy with oppressed peoples, could vote together with the rest of Europe and the United States. What happened? A proposal to negotiate with the Union of South Africa, with a view to having the United Nations mandate prevail, was carried by 45 to 6. The six were the Union of South Africa, Russia and four of its satellites.

Evidently the Russian stand has no relation to principle, but arises from a desire to stir up trouble even in the farthermost parts of the world.

There is no sin in being ignorant—it's the fellow who remains so who deserves censure.

Hangover Time

CONTROVERSIAL opinions exist about the treatment of an alcoholic hangover but every one will agree that it comes from drinking too much. It is hard to say why some wake up the morning after the night before feeling like a million whereas others have a thousand gremlins pounding away at the head. If no one touched the stuff, there would be no such manifestation. "What fools we mortals be" is all too true.

Alcohol undergoes chemical changes after being absorbed and the liver has the job of detoxifying the substance. But the organ can handle only so much at a time and when an excess is consumed it accumulates and hours elapse before the body rids itself of the poison. This is the major cause of the hangover. Contributing factors include staying up too late, smoking, and not eating. The ensuing miserable feeling serves one good purpose to say the least: It satisfies the emotional element because it acts as a form of punishment.

Most individuals think of a hangover in terms of a headache but there is more to it than this. The throbbing is agonizing to be sure but aspirin usually can control it. More troublesome are the accompanying lightheadness, nausea, thirst, lack of ability to concentrate, and the excessive perspiration that accompanies exertion. These side effects may be more incapacitating than the big head, especially for the man who has a heavy day's work ahead of him. The mind is not clear enough to think and more than one man has fared badly in a morning conference because of dullness and woolgathering that followed a night of revelry.

Lucky is the man or woman who can sleep it off; other than abstinence, this is the best treatment. To promote rest, a lukewarm bath as well as sedatives or analgesics like aspirin or APC tablets may be needed. These products also are helpful to the individual who cannot sleep because of severe headache or because he is worried or feeling guilty about what he might have done while under the influence of alcohol.

The hangover is a real problem to the person who must go to work. Every one who drinks has his pet procedure or even ritual but few if any will erase all the bad effects of drinking. The die is cast and discomfort will continue until the liver changes the alcohol and the body eliminates the residual aldehyde. In most instances, this takes until 3 or 4 o'clock in the afternoon when the veil lifts and well being begins to return. Meanwhile, the individual suffers in silence.

Amphetamine or coffee may be used to overcome fatigue and the alkalis, atropine, or aluminum gels counteract nausea. Eating is advisable even if it means forcing food. Carbohydrates are preferred as they taste better and help raise the blood sugar; vitamins also help, especially the B complex. Alcohol has a dehydrating effect which can be combatted by drinking large quantities of fluid, particularly milk, tomato juice, and water. Liquids also stimulate the kidneys to eliminate the alcoholic by-products. The fact is that many vow "never again" and few hold to the promise.

WAKE UP PILLS

REPLY

To my knowledge, no fatalities have been reported but a large dose of amphetamine sulfate is poisonous. The symptoms you mention may follow its use. Furthermore, it is not advisable to take the drug every day to stay awake as this has the same effect as whipping a tired horse. There is no substitute for sleep.

DRAWING ALL THE FIRE

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

Says DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON—Trouble is continuing between Washington and Tokyo over General MacArthur's faulty intelligence. Ever since MacArthur's "bring the boys home by Christmas" statement and the failure to spot 200,000 Chinese Communists in North Korea, Washington has been skeptical about the Supreme Commander's intelligence reports.

Because of this skepticism, it was hinted, after the tragic retreat from North Korea, that MacArthur should replace his intelligence chief, Maj. Gen. Charles Willoughby. However, this has not been done.

Meanwhile MacArthur's public statements in Tokyo are frequently at complete variance with the confidential reports cabled back by his intelligence chief, and Washington, in turn, is puzzled as to which to believe.

For instance, MacArthur estimated publicly on December 2 that there were about 500,000 Chinese troops in Korea. (This was in direct contrast to his estimate just six days before that there were not enough Chinese in Korea to interfere with getting the boys home by Christmas.) On December 4, however, MacArthur upped his estimate to more than one million Chinese in Korea or on the border, while on December 15 he announced that "a bottomless well of Chinese Communist manpower continues to flow into Korea."

Opposite Reports

However, this was not what intelligence chief was meanwhile cabling the Joint Chiefs of Staff. On December 6, just two days after MacArthur had announced his million-man Chinese army estimate, General Willoughby cabled as follows:

"Units believed to be on Eighth Army front are, west to east: Elements 50th CCF (Chinese Communist Field) army, elements 66th Chinese CCF army; 39th CCF army; 40th CCF army; 38th CCF army; 42nd CCF army."

If all these six Chinese armies were of full strength with no casualties—which is doubtful—the total Chinese force which sent the UN 8th Army into a 120-mile retreat in less than two weeks was only 96,000 men.

Yet the UN 8th Army had more than 100,000 front-line combat troops, not counting engineers and service troops behind the lines.

Thus it does not appear that the hordes of Chinese which MacArthur claimed, actually are facing us. General Willoughby, of course, could be wrong, and this is one reason why the Army Department in Washington is puzzled.

Since his early-December estimate, General Willoughby has increasted his figures on Chinese over-all strength. But even the revised figures do not materially change the picture. He now estimates that the total Chinese strength in Korea facing not only the 8th Army, but previously facing the 10th Corps around the Hungnam beachhead is 285,000 plus 150,000 North Koreans.

The size of the UN forces is a military secret, but it can be stated that they are somewhat more than the Chinese strength.

It is supposed to require a manpower superiority of 3 to 1 to launch a successful offensive. Furthermore, it is an indisputable fact that we have complete control of the air while the Chinese have almost no artillery except that captured from us. Thus, even assuming the Willoughby estimates are considerably off, the Pentagon is puzzled over our precipitious 120-mile retreat. The immediate retreat is, of course, explained by the fact that we were spread too thin, but not the continued 120-mile retreat.

Poor Chinese Weapons

In mid-December, General Willoughby cabled the following description of Chinese arms equipment: "Battalion CCF army with three grenades and rifle or Russian sub-machine gun per man and 300 North Korean army stragglers crossed Taedong."

In other words, each Chinese soldier had no more than three hand grenades and a rifle or sub-machine gun. This is extremely light firepower for an attacking army, but it has been about the average Chinese armament. Chinese troops have had no means of carrying ammunition other than ox or mule carts, and each man goes into battle with most of his ammunition on him, plus his rice for the next few days.

Another of Willoughby's intelligence cables to Washington about mid-December is interesting: "Lack of CCF on 8th Army front. Due to deep withdrawal executed by 8th Army, it is evident that enemy, lacking any great degree of mobility, has been unable to regain contact."

This is interpreted in the Pentagon as saying that the Chinese, lacking any means of transportation, were unable to keep up with the fast retreat of the 8th Army. In other words, we failed to keep contact with the enemy, one of the fundamental rules of military strategy.

Slow-moving Chinese

Another of General Willoughby's reports at about the same time, states: "Those well-versed in Chinese military operations stress an inherent lack of elasticity in planning and similar inelasticity in staff and command structure. Such deficiencies can only result in stereotyped campaigns, and hold offensive action to slow succession of limited objectives.

"It follows then," continued General Willoughby, "that CCF high command, being unable to predict degree of success for his initial offensive of November 28, was confronted by the problem of immediately realigning his forces for the continuation of the offensive; or of continuing to objectives according to their set schedule."

This is interpreted in the Army Department as meaning that the Chinese were slow-moving, had only limited objectives, and never expected to run us out of North Korea so quickly.

Though it isn't admitted, and may even be denied, these reports have increased Pentagon concern. Received just after the worst retreat in modern military history, the Willoughby reports constitute a strange confession of the weakness of the Chinese armies.

If his intelligence is correct, Chinese manpower did not total anywhere near a million men, nor even near 500,000 men, but only 285,000 plus 150,000 North Koreans. In addition, the Chinese according to Willoughby, lacked fire-power, air strength, artillery, could not travel with any speed, while their high command, being "stereotyped," could not regroup easily to take advantage of the UN retreat.

These are some of the facts which don't show up in the press dispatches from Tokyo. The inescapable conclusion is that either Willoughby is wrong or the MacArthur press communiques have been deceiving the American public.

Split Congress, President Are Facing Big Decisions

By MARK SULLIVAN

THE NEW 82nd Congress about to come into existence next week was elected on November 7th last. On that date the war in Korea had been under way about four months. It had influence on the outcome of the election and the influence was adverse to the party in power and to the Truman Administration.

The new Congress, as elected November 7, had a Democratic majority so reduced in both branches as to give the party leaders little more than formal control. They could name the top officials of the two branches, they could organize the committees and have a majority on each. But their majorities in the two branches were too small to enable them to control legislation. They could not determine what measures should be passed. They could not confidently have a legislative program of their own, and they could not assure President Truman that measures he desires would be passed.

During the seven weeks since the new Congress was elected the war in Korea has had further effect, and the effect has been strongly adverse to the Administration. President Truman was Commander in Chief of a force which, during the middle weeks of the Congressional campaign, had brilliant success. By December 1 the American and other United Nations forces had suffered a severe disaster, with yet further adversity in prospect. President Truman's prestige, with Congress and with the country, was seriously reduced.

The disaster in Korea had a further and far-reaching effect. For the first time in ten years the control of our foreign relations by the Administration came to public attention in a way that led to searching and critical examination. Throughout the second world war and later the Republicans had practiced non-partisanship about foreign relations, both in Congress and in elections. The Administration had been left free to make foreign policy and now disaster had occurred in this field.

The prestige of the Administration was seriously damaged. It became apparent that the Republicans in Congress, instead of practicing a deferential non-partisanship, would critically examine foreign policy as it was being made and would themselves take a hand in making it. And it became apparent that Congress as a whole would not accept foreign policy measures as they came from the Administration, that such measures would be subjected to thorough debate.

The ebbing of the President's prestige that came from developments in the war and in foreign relations during the post-election period was added to an ebbing that had already begun before the election and had expressed itself in a marked reduction of Democratic strength in Congress. The sum of it seems clearly to be that the coming Congress, while having nominally a Democratic majority, will actually be controlled, as respects legislation, by a majority composed of nearly all the Republicans with a considerable margin of the Democrats. The point of view of the Republicans is likely to be symbolized by the conservative Republican Senator who won an especially striking victory in Ohio, Mr. Taft. The group of Democrats who are likely to share in the control of Congress are symbolized by Sen. Byrd of Virginia.

Superficially there is nothing dangerously novel in this prospect. It dot not differ essentially from the occasional cases in which a Congressional election returns a majority belonging to one party, while a President belonging to the other party remains in office for two years. A recent example was the 80th Congress, elected with a Republican majority in 1946 while President Truman remained in office for two years.

But the condition ahead, a division in fact if not in form between Congress and the President, comes at a time of great danger and of public awareness of the danger. Our people had vaguely assumed that somehow world peace would come about, through the United Nations or otherwise. By the shock we received from Korea we were obliged to look at the world and our relation to the world as it realistically is. By our experience in Korea we learned the limitations of our strength and must consider how best to make use of it in face of the threat of the Communist world. Decisions about that must be made at a time when there is division between the President who has responsibility for foreign policy, and a Congress which has ideas and convictions differing from those of the executive.

Air Power Will Now Come Into Its Own In Korea

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON, Dec. 29. — Air power — and specifically strategic bombing—is going to have its turn now in Korea.

The great feat of the U.S. Navy, in accomplishing without a mishap the evacuation of 250,000 troops and civilians through the Port of Hungnam, means that the same curtain of naval fire could be used at any other seaport in Korea if it should become necessary to redeploy troops again. Fear of being pushed out of Korea precipitately can be dismissed.

Bolstered by this new confidence, the military effort of the United Nations can be concentrated on the use of air power against the Chinese offensive. Meanwhile, our ground troops will play a defensive role.

The so-called strategic air warfare—which means the bombing of enemy communication lines and supply stations — has not had an opportunity heretofore to prove itself in Korea because the enemy forces until recently have been relatively small and supplies have been hoved over short distances mostly at night.

Can Turn Tide

Now, however, with a North Korean-Chinese Army massed along or below the 38th Parellel, estimated to number around 500,000, there must be a sizable supply line and flow of ammunition over a distance of nearly 100 miles south of the Manchurian Border. This enables the UN commanders to organize strategic missions and give the enemy a going-over which can turn the tide of battle.

The amount of air power available to the UN is considerably more than that of the enemy, though it is confidently expected that Soviet Russia will not be able to refuse the pleas of the Chinese Communists for more and more air support.

Air power in Korea comprises not only the heavy bombers of the U.S. Air Force but also the bombers that fly from the decks of the several big naval aircraft carriers roaming up and down both coast lines. All the air effort is coordinated from Tokyo insofar as strategic missions are concerned, but the planes used to protect the movement of our own troops are in direct touch with the ground command.

Since the beginning of the war in Korea, air power has encountered much unjust criticism in connection with its failure to stop the North Korean advance last summer. The difficulty was not with this instrument of war but with the conditions that existed in that particular area. Heavy bombers cannot do the job needed for close support of ground troops, and they never were intended for that purpose.

About the only valid criticism is that the U.S. Air Force did not previously give sufficient attention to ground-air operations. The answer given to this was that the funds were not adequate. The calculated risk was taken that strategic bombers to carry the atom bomb deserved higher priority.

Enemy Targets Increased

Since the outbreak of the Korean War, however, adequate funds have been available and steps have been taken to build up the air power needed for close support of ground troops. At the same time, more funds have been furnished for strategic air warfare, too.

The planes of the U.S. Air Force in the Far East are not numerous enough to do all the jobs that are required of them, but there are enough available to take care of the targets behind the Chinese Communist lines. It is unfortunate from a military standpoint that bombing of the real bases across the Manchurian border is not permitted to UN airmen. Now, as the Chinese lines have lengthened, the enemy targets have suddenly increased. The U.S. Air Force, flying from a few fields in Korea, and the U.S. Naval Air Forces, flying from the decks of carriers, should be able to accomplish considerable destruction and perhaps disorganize the offensive itself.

In any event, the next big news that Americans will look for is the effect in the next several days and weeks of the use of heavy bombing planes north of the 150-mile UN front. Another phase of the war will be carried on by heavy gunfire from the warships of the Navy, which are able to drop shells far enough inland to destroy some of the main railroad lines.

But it is to be largely the Air Force's show from now on, and there are high hopes that strategic warfare will demonstrate that, while it alone cannot win a battle, it can disrupt an opposing army offensive and enable ground troops to capitalize on the disorganization of the enemy.

His defenders insist that he is an unusually competent man, which begs the question. It is not his technical competence that is being considered; it is his separation from American public opinion.

Never was that more clearly demonstrated than in a comparison between his speech to the public and that of Herbert Hoover. When Acheson spoke, it gave the country a chill; Hoover electrified the nation, expressing precisely what most Americans thought, namely, that we cannot go on impoverishing ourselves to help people who will not help themselves, nor can we go on assisting nations while they provide our murderous enemies with supplies.

So it is with the Department of Defense and its associated agencies. The stories during the past fortnight against George Marshall, obviously emanating from the White House, indicate that the President wants someone else to be Secretary of Defense, and lacks the nerve to say so.

The importance of this is that we as a people, are becoming aware of the inadequacy of our government to meet the crisis of 1951. For this definitely is the year of crisis, particularly in the matter of world leadership. Have we, a mere 150,000,000 human beings, undertaken too much? Have we extended beyond our strength? Are we expending beyond our means? If the answer is that we are not as powerful as we assumed, is it too late to rectify our position?

The year 1951 will tell us. At the end of this year, we shall probably know whether we possess the physical and spiritual means for world leadership or whether we have to recede into a more limited sphere of activity such as Herbert Hoover suggests.

All the trickiness of propaganda will not serve any longer. This is the year of crisis and the balance sheet is beginning to form. The Brussels Conference has not given us more time; it has accentuated the crisis and brought us closer to decision. The various conflicts in the United Nations have not added to our strength; they have rather accentuated our peril.

So, all you good readers who read me and write to me, who like to read this column or listen to my commentaries on radio, who dislike both and find fault with me—to all, I hope that I shall on this day a year hence be able to write more cheerfully and that all of us and all our dear ones will be alive and well.

May God bless us all in this year of crisis!

Water Rate Hike Seen For Berkeley Springs

CHARLESTON, W. Va., Dec. 29 (AP)—The Public Service Commission will hear on Friday, January 5, an application for higher water rates in and near Berkeley Springs, Morgan county.

Berkeley Springs is served by the Mountain State Water Company which said higher rates are needed to meet increased costs of operation and maintenance. Present rates have been in effect since 1942, and no longer are ample to provide a fair return, the company said.

It would raise the monthly minimum from $1.50 to $2, and the basic charge from 75 cents per 1,000 gallons for the first 2,000 gallons up to $1 per 1,000 for the first 3,000.

Boy Slays Boar

LEBANON, N. H., Dec. 29 (AP)—A 17-year-old high school student, Harold H. Bond, was hailed today as perhaps the state's mightiest nimrod. Earlier this week Bond killed a 200-pound boar. Although the animal outweighed the hunter by 60 pounds, the boy hauled the carcass two miles out of the Blue Mountain Forest reservation.

Senator George Smathers (D-Fla.) captained the University of Florida basketball team during the '36 season.

Hairston Flattens Ross Before 3649 In Garden

NEW YORK, Dec. 29 (INS) — Gene "Silent" Hairston, deaf-and-dumb middleweight from New York, scored a knockout victory over J. T. Ross of San Diego, Calif., tonight in the third round of their scheduled 10-round main event at Madison Square Garden.

Hairston's victory, coming after a near-knockout of Ross in the preceding round, was the result of a hard right to the jaw that laid the Californian flat on his back.

The crowd of 3,649 was the second smallest in Garden fight history.

Penn State soccer teams were unbeaten for nine seasons from 1932 to 1941, rolling up a record of 65 games without a defeat.

East-West Grid Game Set Today

60,000 To Witness Benefit Contest

By JOHN DANIEL

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 29 (INS) — Football's greatest charity game will be played for the 26th year tomorrow when the East-West all-star college teams meet before a sellout crowd of 60,000 in San Francisco's Kezar Stadium.

The entire proceeds of the game, which will net upwards of $125,000, will be turned over to the Shrine Hospital for Crippled Children in San Francisco.

And indirectly the game will benefit every Shrine hospital throughout the country because the San Francisco hospital since the original East-West game in 1925 has progressively taken less and less from the national fund for crippled children to which all Shriners contribute.

Many descriptions have been applied to the East-West game including "football's finest hour," "football's game with a heart," but the original warm phrase "the strong shall run so the weak may walk" still carries the hardest punch.

Three-Judge Court Rules Hugh Casey Is Child's Father

NEW YORK, Dec. 29 (AP)—A three-judge special sessions court today decided that Hugh Casey, former Brooklyn Dodger pitcher, was the father of a child born out of wedlock.

The three judges unanimously decided that Casey was the father of the year-old son of Hilda Weissman, 25-year-old brunette.

The court ordered Casey to pay $20 a week to the young woman for the support of the child until Jan. 29 pending an investigation and report by the probation bureau.

Miss Weissman had accused Casey of being intimate with her in a Brooklyn hotel on Feb. 11 and 12, 1949.

Earlier today, Casey's wife, Mrs. Kathleen Casey, had testified that the former fastball ace was with her in Atlanta. Casey himself had denied the accusation. He said he only knew Miss Weissman as a customer at his Brooklyn restaurant.

Fort Hill Takes Two State Titles, Central Repeats In Soccer, Beall Cops Baseball

AHS Wins State Cage Crown, Grace Methodist Bags 26 Straight; Little League Scores Hit

Fort Hill High School won two state championships and turned out three undefeated teams during the year 1950.

Coach William P. Hahn headed two championship teams — Mrs. Henrietta Paupe Snyder tutored the other two.

Perhaps Hahn's biggest achievement came in football when the Sentinels rolled over nine straight opponents to give Cumberland its first undefeated and untied grid team since 1942. Fort Hill's 17th straight win in two years was a 28-0 triumph over AHS on Thanksgiving.

Won Five Track Meets

Hahn also had a humdinger of a track and field team that won five meets and was nosed out of 1st place in two others. This aggregation of thinclads won the Maryland Class "A" meet at McDonogh School, Baltimore, for the 2nd straight year, and also swept the city and county meets for the 4th successive year.

Mrs. Snyder's basketball sextet was undefeated — winning 13 and playing one tie game, and capturing the county championship. Fort Hill's senior high volley ball team also romped to victory in the county and Maryland tournaments.

Allegany High annexed the city baseball championship, lost out to Beall in a playoff for the Bi-State Conference crown and held the basketball spotlight by winning the city, W. M. I. League and Maryland Class "A" crowns.

Central High Repeats

Central High of Lonaconing, boasted an undefeated eleven in winning the W. M. I. League soccer championship for the 2nd straight year. Johnny Meyers' outfit won four games and played four ties.

Coach Dick McElwee had a great year at Romney High School as his Pioneers were undefeated in football (9-0-1) and shared the PVC tied the Moorefield (4-0-1) and his baseball team topped the PVC with an 11-0 mark and finished the campaign with 12 wins and only one loss.

In basketball, Ridgeley (10-0) and Davis (8-0) shared top honors in the PVC but Ridgeley was the victim of one of the year's biggest upsets when it was dumped out of the sectional tourney by Fort Ashby, a team it had whipped twice during the regular season.

Another school in the undefeated class was Accident High which won eight straight soccer games in the Garrett County Soccer League.

Grace Won 26 In Row

The longest winning streak of the season was 26 games, racked up by Grace Methodist, YMCA Sunday School Basketball League champions for the 7th time. Allegany's basketball team closed its season with a 19-game string.

Among the top individual performers of the year were Mrs. Gordon L. Bowie, who won two golf titles at the Country Club; Miss Betty Flake, winner of two tennis championships; Allan Sheetz, pitching ace of the Eagles, Rocking Chair Softball League champs, who scored 11 shutout wins, including four straight in the playoff, and Bill Feeney of the Dukes who scored a record 44 points for the All-American League champions in a single game.

Miss Louise Glick lowered the women's course record at the CCC to 75 strokes for 18 holes and Charley Zembower amazed the golfers by duplicating a 1949 performance — that of making a hole-in-one on the 12th. Francis Torrington was the second golfer to make an ace at the CCC layout this year.

Little League Makes Hit

Little League baseball was introduced here by the Dapper Dan Club and went over with a bang. In fact, over 2,000 paid to see the league's all-star game. The Tigers were the class of the circuit and won the title series in three straight games.

Two baseball playoff series—those in the Bi-State and Allegany Leagues—went unfinished, as did the series for County Softball League honors. Klondyke, Centerville and Oakland went all the way to bag the laurels in the Pen-Mar, Interstate and Mountain Top circuits.

Soccer scoring hit a new all-time low when the three leaders ended the season with three points each.

Keyser Trounces Allegany, Central Racks Up 6th Straight

John Shelton's Passers Score 63-31 Triumph

Porter And Leary Get 37 Points As Campers Suffer Third Setback

KEYSER, W. Va., Dec. 29—Keyser High School dealt out a 63 to 31 lacing to the floormen of Allegany High School of Cumberland here tonight in the opening game of their season series.

The triumph was the third in four starts for Coach John Shelton's basketeers while the loss was the third for the Campers against a single victory.

Keyser rang up 25 field goals to 11 for the visitors and sank 13 of 17 shots at the foul line compared to the losers 9 out of 17.

Paced by Andy Porter and Neil Leary who banged in 21 and 16 points, Keyser stepped away to a 4-0 lead, upped it to 12-7 at the end of the initial stanza and was never headed. The count was 32-16 at intermission and 47-25 at the conclusion of the third quarter.

Porter scored seven goals and hooped 7 of 9 free throws. Leary counted seven times on shots from the field and connected for two out of four at the charity stripe. Lee contributed 11 points.

Frank Phares, Allegany center, collected five fielders and 13 points while Ronnie Sisk had eight points to his credit.

In the opening game, Allegany's Reserves won from Keyser, 46-26. Price and Judy topped the winners with eight points each. Oss, Rodgers and Karras had six apiece for Keyser. Lineups:

Harman was the chief point getter for the Grads with 10 to his credit.

Boy Slays Boar

LEBANON, N. H., Dec. 29 (AP)—A 17-year-old high school student, Harold H. Bond, was hailed today as perhaps the state's mightiest nimrod. Earlier this week Bond killed a 200-pound boar. Although the animal outweighed the hunter by 60 pounds, the boy hauled the carcass two miles out of the Blue Mountain Forest reservation.

Senator George Smathers (D-Fla.) captained the University of Florida basketball team during the '36 season.

Hairston Flattens Ross Before 3649 In Garden

NEW YORK, Dec. 29 (INS) — Gene "Silent" Hairston, deaf-and-dumb middleweight from New York, scored a knockout victory over J. T. Ross of San Diego, Calif., tonight in the third round of their scheduled 10-round main event at Madison Square Garden.

Hairston's victory, coming after a near-knockout of Ross in the preceding round, was the result of a hard right to the jaw that laid the Californian flat on his back.

The crowd of 3,649 was the second smallest in Garden fight history.

Penn State soccer teams were unbeaten for nine seasons from 1932 to 1941, rolling up a record of 65 games without a defeat.

East-West Grid Game Set Today

60,000 To Witness Benefit Contest

By JOHN DANIEL

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 29 (INS) — Football's greatest charity game will be played for the 26th year tomorrow when the East-West all-star college teams meet before a sellout crowd of 60,000 in San Francisco's Kezar Stadium.

The entire proceeds of the game, which will net upwards of $125,000, will be turned over to the Shrine Hospital for Crippled Children in San Francisco.

And indirectly the game will benefit every Shrine hospital throughout the country because the San Francisco hospital since the original East-West game in 1925 has progressively taken less and less from the national fund for crippled children to which all Shriners contribute.

Many descriptions have been applied to the East-West game including "football's finest hour," "football's game with a heart," but the original warm phrase "the strong shall run so the weak may walk" still carries the hardest punch.

Three-Judge Court Rules Hugh Casey Is Child's Father

NEW YORK, Dec. 29 (AP)—A three-judge special sessions court today decided that Hugh Casey, former Brooklyn Dodger pitcher, was the father of a child born out of wedlock.

The three judges unanimously decided that Casey was the father of the year-old son of Hilda Weissman, 25-year-old brunette.

The court ordered Casey to pay $20 a week to the young woman for the support of the child until Jan. 29 pending an investigation and report by the probation bureau.

Miss Weissman had accused Casey of being intimate with her in a Brooklyn hotel on Feb. 11 and 12, 1949.

Earlier today, Casey's wife, Mrs. Kathleen Casey, had testified that the former fastball ace was with her in Atlanta. Casey himself had denied the accusation. He said he only knew Miss Weissman as a customer at his Brooklyn restaurant.

Fort Hill Takes Two State Titles, Central Repeats In Soccer, Beall Cops Baseball

AHS Wins State Cage Crown, Grace Methodist Bags 26 Straight; Little League Scores Hit

Fort Hill High School won two state championships and turned out three undefeated teams during the year 1950.

Coach William P. Hahn headed two championship teams — Mrs. Henrietta Paupe Snyder tutored the other two.

Perhaps Hahn's biggest achievement came in football when the Sentinels rolled over nine straight opponents to give Cumberland its first undefeated and untied grid team since 1942. Fort Hill's 17th straight win in two years was a 28-0 triumph over AHS on Thanksgiving.

Won Five Track Meets

Hahn also had a humdinger of a track and field team that won five meets and was nosed out of 1st place in two others. This aggregation of thinclads won the Maryland Class "A" meet at McDonogh School, Baltimore, for the 2nd straight year, and also swept the city and county meets for the 4th successive year.

Mrs. Snyder's basketball sextet was undefeated — winning 13 and playing one tie game, and capturing the county championship. Fort Hill's senior high volley ball team also romped to victory in the county and Maryland tournaments.

Allegany High annexed the city baseball championship, lost out to Beall in a playoff for the Bi-State Conference crown and held the basketball spotlight by winning the city, W. M. I. League and Maryland Class "A" crowns.

Central High Repeats

Central High of Lonaconing, boasted an undefeated eleven in winning the W. M. I. League soccer championship for the 2nd straight year. Johnny Meyers' outfit won four games and played four ties.

Coach Dick McElwee had a great year at Romney High School as his Pioneers were undefeated in football (9-0-1) and shared the PVC, tied the Moorefield (4-0-1) and his baseball team topped the PVC with an 11-0 mark and finished the campaign with 12 wins and only one loss.

In basketball, Ridgeley (10-0) and Davis (8-0) shared top honors in the PVC but Ridgeley was the victim of one of the year's biggest upsets when it was dumped out of the sectional tourney by Fort Ashby, a team it had whipped twice during the regular season.

Another school in the undefeated class was Accident High which won eight straight soccer games in the Garrett County Soccer League.

Grace Won 26 In Row

The longest winning streak of the season was 26 games, racked up by Grace Methodist, YMCA Sunday School Basketball League champions for the 7th time. Allegany's basketball team closed its season with a 19-game string.

Among the top individual performers of the year were Mrs. Gordon L. Bowie, who won two golf titles at the Country Club; Miss Betty Flake, winner of two tennis championships; Allan Sheetz, pitching ace of the Eagles, Rocking Chair Softball League champs, who scored 11 shutout wins, including four straight in the playoff, and Bill Feeney of the Dukes who scored a record 44 points for the All-American League champions in a single game.

Miss Louise Glick lowered the women's course record at the CCC to 75 strokes for 18 holes and Charley Zembower amazed the golfers by duplicating a 1949 performance — that of making a hole-in-one on the 12th. Francis Torrington was the second golfer to make an ace at the CCC layout this year.

Little League Makes Hit

Little League baseball was introduced here by the Dapper Dan Club and went over with a bang. In fact, over 2,000 paid to see the league's all-star game. The Tigers were the class of the circuit and won the title series in three straight games.

Two baseball playoff series—those in the Bi-State and Allegany Leagues—went unfinished, as did the series for County Softball League honors. Klondyke, Centerville and Oakland went all the way to bag the laurels in the Pen-Mar, Interstate and Mountain Top circuits.

Soccer scoring hit a new all-time low when the three leaders ended the season with three points each.

Rolfe Is Chosen Manager Of Year

ST. LOUIS, Dec. 29—(INS)—Detroit Tigers pilot Robert (Red) Rolfe was named "manager of the year" today by the baseball trade paper, Sporting News.

The publication called Rolfe the top manager because he overcame weaknesses that were not anticipated early in the season, when he led his team into American League competition—especially the collapse of his pitching staff.

Others honored by the Sporting News were:

George Weiss of New York, top major league executive; Phil Rizzuto, top major league player; Frank Saucier of San Antonio, the outstanding minor league player, and Rollie Hemsley of Columbus, the foremost minor league manager.

Mountaineers Seek 7th Straight Win

MORGANTOWN, W. Va., Dec. 29 (AP) — West Virginia University's unbeaten basketball team lays a six-game winning streak on the line against Arizona tomorrow night.

Both the Mountaineers, currently leading the Southern Conference race, and once-beaten Arizona, conqueror of potent City College of New York in Madison Square Garden last night, are gunning for national honors.

West Virginia's six victims to date have been Virginia Tech, South Carolina, Wake Forest and George Washington of the Southern Conference and West Virginia Wesleyan and Bethany.

Arizona's lone loss of the season came at the hands of Canisius last Tuesday night at Buffalo, N. Y., where the Wildcats fell 55-52.

Boy Slays Boar

LEBANON, N. H., Dec. 29 (AP)—A 17-year-old high school student, Harold H. Bond, was hailed today as perhaps the state's mightiest nimrod. Earlier this week Bond killed a 200-pound boar. Although the animal outweighed the hunter by 60 pounds, the boy hauled the carcass two miles out of the Blue Mountain Forest reservation.

Senator George Smathers (D-Fla.) captained the University of Florida basketball team during the '36 season.

Hairston Flattens Ross Before 3649 In Garden

NEW YORK, Dec. 29 (INS) — Gene "Silent" Hairston, deaf-and-dumb middleweight from New York, scored a knockout victory over J. T. Ross of San Diego, Calif., tonight in the third round of their scheduled 10-round main event at Madison Square Garden.

Hairston's victory, coming after a near-knockout of Ross in the preceding round, was the result of a hard right to the jaw that laid the Californian flat on his back.

The crowd of 3,649 was the second smallest in Garden fight history.

Penn State soccer teams were unbeaten for nine seasons from 1932 to 1941, rolling up a record of 65 games without a defeat.

East-West Grid Game Set Today

60,000 To Witness Benefit Contest

By JOHN DANIEL

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 29 (INS) — Football's greatest charity game will be played for the 26th year tomorrow when the East-West all-star college teams meet before a sellout crowd of 60,000 in San Francisco's Kezar Stadium.

The entire proceeds of the game, which will net upwards of $125,000, will be turned over to the Shrine Hospital for Crippled Children in San Francisco.

And indirectly the game will benefit every Shrine hospital throughout the country because the San Francisco hospital since the original East-West game in 1925 has progressively taken less and less from the national fund for crippled children to which all Shriners contribute.

Many descriptions have been applied to the East-West game including "football's finest hour," "football's game with a heart," but the original warm phrase "the strong shall run so the weak may walk" still carries the hardest punch.

Three-Judge Court Rules Hugh Casey Is Child's Father

NEW YORK, Dec. 29 (AP)—A three-judge special sessions court today decided that Hugh Casey, former Brooklyn Dodger pitcher, was the father of a child born out of wedlock.

The three judges unanimously decided that Casey was the father of the year-old son of Hilda Weissman, 25-year-old brunette.

The court ordered Casey to pay $20 a week to the young woman for the support of the child until Jan. 29 pending an investigation and report by the probation bureau.

Miss Weissman had accused Casey of being intimate with her in a Brooklyn hotel on Feb. 11 and 12, 1949.

Earlier today, Casey's wife, Mrs. Kathleen Casey, had testified that the former fastball ace was with her in Atlanta. Casey himself had denied the accusation. He said he only knew Miss Weissman as a customer at his Brooklyn restaurant.

Fort Hill Takes Two State Titles, Central Repeats In Soccer, Beall Cops Baseball

AHS Wins State Cage Crown, Grace Methodist Bags 26 Straight; Little League Scores Hit

Fort Hill High School won two state championships and turned out three undefeated teams during the year 1950.

Coach William P. Hahn headed two championship teams — Mrs. Henrietta Paupe Snyder tutored the other two.

Perhaps Hahn's biggest achievement came in football when the Sentinels rolled over nine straight opponents to give Cumberland its first undefeated and untied grid team since 1942. Fort Hill's 17th straight win in two years was a 28-0 triumph over AHS on Thanksgiving.

Won Five Track Meets

Hahn also had a humdinger of a track and field team that won five meets and was nosed out of 1st place in two others. This aggregation of thinclads won the Maryland Class "A" meet at McDonogh School, Baltimore, for the 2nd straight year, and also swept the city and county meets for the 4th successive year.

Mrs. Snyder's basketball sextet was undefeated — winning 13 and playing one tie game, and capturing the county championship. Fort Hill's senior high volley ball team also romped to victory in the county and Maryland tournaments.

Allegany High annexed the city baseball championship, lost out to Beall in a playoff for the Bi-State Conference crown and held the basketball spotlight by winning the city, W. M. I. League and Maryland Class "A" crowns.

Central High Repeats

Central High of Lonaconing, boasted an undefeated eleven in winning the W. M. I. League soccer championship for the 2nd straight year. Johnny Meyers' outfit won four games and played four ties.

Coach Dick McElwee had a great year at Romney High School as his Pioneers were undefeated in football (9-0-1) and shared the PVC, tied the Moorefield (4-0-1) and his baseball team topped the PVC with an 11-0 mark and finished the campaign with 12 wins and only one loss.

In basketball, Ridgeley (10-0) and Davis (8-0) shared top honors in the PVC but Ridgeley was the victim of one of the year's biggest upsets when it was dumped out of the sectional tourney by Fort Ashby, a team it had whipped twice during the regular season.

Another school in the undefeated class was Accident High which won eight straight soccer games in the Garrett County Soccer League.

Grace Won 26 In Row

The longest winning streak of the season was 26 games, racked up by Grace Methodist, YMCA Sunday School Basketball League champions for the 7th time. Allegany's basketball team closed its season with a 19-game string.

Among the top individual performers of the year were Mrs. Gordon L. Bowie, who won two golf titles at the Country Club; Miss Betty Flake, winner of two tennis championships; Allan Sheetz, pitching ace of the Eagles, Rocking Chair Softball League champs, who scored 11 shutout wins, including four straight in the playoff, and Bill Feeney of the Dukes who scored a record 44 points for the All-American League champions in a single game.

Miss Louise Glick lowered the women's course record at the CCC to 75 strokes for 18 holes and Charley Zembower amazed the golfers by duplicating a 1949 performance — that of making a hole-in-one on the 12th. Francis Torrington was the second golfer to make an ace at the CCC layout this year.

Little League Makes Hit

Little League baseball was introduced here by the Dapper Dan Club and went over with a bang. In fact, over 2,000 paid to see the league's all-star game. The Tigers were the class of the circuit and won the title series in three straight games.

Two baseball playoff series—those in the Bi-State and Allegany Leagues—went unfinished, as did the series for County Softball League honors. Klondyke, Centerville and Oakland went all the way to bag the laurels in the Pen-Mar, Interstate and Mountain Top circuits.

Soccer scoring hit a new all-time low when the three leaders ended the season with three points each.

Culmone Nearing Miller's Record

Needs Six More Wins To Equal Mark Of 388

MIAMI, Fla., Dec. 29 (AP) — In a powerful exhibition of riding, Jockey Joe Culmone thrilled a crowd of 8,737 at Tropical Park today when he brought N. L. Raffelman's Gasparilla from last place to capture the Damon Runyon Cancer Fund Purse.

It was Culmone's second winner of the afternoon and his 382nd of the year, only six behind the record of 388 set by Walter Miller in 1906.

Gasparilla made up about 10 lengths after leaving the backstretch to roar home a length and a half before Alphabetical. Mirthmaker was third, while Top Admiral, the pacemaker, tired at the end and finished fourth. Only six started.

Gasparilla, in taking his second straight purse at the meeting, paid $5.50, $3.30 and $2.80. He went over the mile and a sixteenth in 1:44 4-5.

The track donated the net proceeds of the race to the Damon Runyon Cancer Fund. In the winner's circle, to greet Culmone and trainer A. Cilio was Milton Berle, who amused the crowd with his comic antics.

Culmone got his first winner of the day on Stradvarius, $3.40, in the opened. Through the Runyon Purse he had accepted 7 mounts.

Culmone said earlier in the day that he will donate all the money he earns from riding at Havana on Sunday to the Damon Runyon Cancer Fund. He will take his first plane trip to Cuba to finish out the last day of the year in the saddle there.

Culmone Nearing Miller's Record

Needs Six More Wins To Equal Mark Of 388

MIAMI, Fla., Dec. 29 (AP) — In a powerful exhibition of riding, Jockey Joe Culmone thrilled a crowd of 8,737 at Tropical Park today when he brought N. L. Raffelman's Gasparilla from last place to capture the Damon Runyon Cancer Fund Purse.

It was Culmone's second winner of the afternoon and his 382nd of the year, only six behind the record of 388 set by Walter Miller in 1906.

Gasparilla made up about 10 lengths after leaving the backstretch to roar home a length and a half before Alphabetical. Mirthmaker was third, while Top Admiral, the pacemaker, tired at the end and finished fourth. Only six started.

Gasparilla, in taking his second straight purse at the meeting, paid $5.50, $3.30 and $2.80. He went over the mile and a sixteenth in 1:44 4-5.

The track donated the net proceeds of the race to the Damon Runyon Cancer Fund. In the winner's circle, to greet Culmone and trainer A. Cilio was Milton Berle, who amused the crowd with his comic antics.

Culmone got his first winner of the day on Stradvarius, $3.40, in the opened. Through the Runyon Purse he had accepted 7 mounts.

Culmone said earlier in the day that he will donate all the money he earns from riding at Havana on Sunday to the Damon Runyon Cancer Fund. He will take his first plane trip to Cuba to finish out the last day of the year in the saddle there.

Nov. 23—Fort Hill defeats Allegany, 28-0, to retain city football title before 9,000 at local stadium. LaSalle spills Beall at Frostburg, 14-13.

Fort Hill is Cumberland's first unbeaten and untied team since 1942 when AHS had a similar record of 9-0-0. The Turkey Day win over AHS was the 17th straight in two years for Fort Hill. Dick Beard, Fort Hill, led the city scorers for the season with 14 tds, 31 extra points and 115 markers.

Nov. 30 — Romney High School's 376 points in 10 games believed to be the highest total ever made by a tri-state area scholastic grid team.

Dec. 17—Lynn Beightol, Fort Hill quarterback, and Don Fletcher, AHS lineman, named on All-Maryland scholastic football team. William P. Hahn, of Fort Hill, shares coach of year honors with Irving Biasi, Patterson Park High, Baltimore.

Boxing

Five amateur shows were promoted here by Albert "Bobby" Green on Feb. 27, April 3, May 1, Sept. 14 and November 13. They drew 2,212 paid admissions, an average of 442 per show.

Only 19 local boys participated in the shows and three of those have turned professional.

Bill Mann, middleweight, had the best record with four wins in five starts for the year.

Presley W. Mauk put on two pro shows here — April 17 and May 22 — and they drew 1,044 paid, an average of 522.

Randall "Skeets" Starkey, Wiley Ford light-heavy, fighting out of Pittsburgh, won 12 consecutive matches during the year and extended his winning string to 15 since he turned pro in 1949. Ten of his 15 wins were via the K. O. route.

Soccer

Oct. 24 — Accident High wins 3rd straight soccer title in Garrett county by defeating Grantsville, 3-0. Accident won eight consecutive games in county league.

Nov. 8 — Central High, Lonaconing, wins WMI League soccer championship for 2nd straight year, defeating Beall 3-0. Central was undefeated, winning four and playing four tie games.

Nov. 14 — Willetts Duncan, Beall; Louie Complesi, Bruce, and Bill Kirk, Barton, tied for scoring honors in WMI League with only three points each.

Miscellaneous

Feb. 20—John J. "Bobby" Cavanaugh showered with gifts at testimonial dinner at Elks Home in recognition of his 22 years service as athletic coach at Penn Avenue and Fort Hill high schools.

March 30—President Fritz Eiler presents Allegany Camper Club life membership certificates to Herman Ball, coach of Redskins and former AHS grid mentor, and Walter L. Bowers, Campers' coach, at dinner at Centre Street Methodist Church. Bronze trophies presented to seniors and regulars of boys and girls basketball and football teams and cheer leaders.

April 27—Coaches Dana Lough, Judson Hodges and John Maiden presented gifts at Potomac State's annual dinner for athletic teams at Keyser.

May 7—Alice Marble, four-times U. S. tennis champion, 1936-1940, conducted net clinic at Frostburg State Teachers' College.

May 28—Patrick James (Jim) Fahey, Cumberland, is first post-war winner of three varsity letters at Washington and Lee University. He excelled in football, basketball and baseball.

June 2—Fort Ashby Beagle Club chartered with M. R. Messinger, president, and Dr. C. N. Foose, Jr., dog show chairman.

June 11—Bro. Gregory Mutien, director of athletics, transferred from LaSalle to Central Catholic, Pittsburgh, after serving at local school eight years.

July 28—Jesse Riggleman resigns as basketball, track and football coach at Ridgeley High for new job at Pomeroy (Ohio) High School.

Aug. 15—Mineral County School Board selects Ralph Wilbur Poling as head coach at Ridgeley High School.

Aug. 25—Brother D. Joseph, native of Scranton, Pa., named director of athletics at LaSalle. Phil Carolan retained as head football coach due to Jim Gaffney being unable to fulfill agreement he made in May.

KEEPING UP WITH

HOLLYWOOD

By LOUELLA PARSONS

HOLLYWOOD, Dec. 29 (INS)—Have you, too, made your resolutions and turned over a dozen or so new leaves for the coming year?

Let's have some fun, and think up a few that might well be made by our pals the movie stars:

Robert Mitchum should make up his mind to get off that "uncooperative" list with the girls of the press club. He's fundamentally too nice a guy to get another raspberry.

John Derek might promise to give out no more stories about how sorry he is that he is so handsome.

Bette Davis and Tallulah Bankhead can stop pretending that they are feuding. We all know they really admire one another.

Poor little Judy Garland. How I hope all her troubles are behind her and that she will no longer continue to waste her great talent. Judy, please, for all of us who love you, make 1951 the year of the big Garland comeback.

Both Liz Taylor and Nicky Hilton might resolve to coast a while, romantically speaking, until they are more mature emotionally. The break up of their marriage of barely eight months was very disillusioning.

May Barbara Stanwyck and Robert Taylor remain the good friends they are, even though separated—just for Auld Lang Syne's sake.

Jean Simmons and Stewart Granger can just promise to stay as estatically happy as they are today.

May Lawrence Tierney keep on the same straight path he's trodden the past two months.

And may those people who have figured sensationally in the headlines see the error of their ways—and those wonderful people who have entertained the war wounded continue their good work.

As for me, I'm going to try to keep my temper!

Quietly Martha Scott arrived in Hollywood. She is here for a special radio show and a test for "Detective Story."

This is being done very much undercover since Willie Wyler is still trying to get the right actress to play the wife. Meanwhile Kirk Douglas, who is in New York having himself a time, returns Thursday for wardrobe and to get ready to play the chacter Ralph Bellamy created on the stage.

•—•—•

"The Halls Of Montezuma" will forever free Richard Widmark from those villains he has been playing. I have seldom seen a finer performance than he gives as a young Marine officer who is at once highly intelligent, hard boiled, and yet sensitive.

But, let me add, this entire 20th Century-Fox production ranks with what I have always held to be the greatest war film of them all—"All Quiet On The Western Front."

This is scarcely an accident, of course, since Lewis Milestone directs, and no one seems to quite have Millie's unique ability of catching the horror and heroism, the brutality and the glory that spells patriotism under fire. 20th is giving this Marine epic the plush treatment at a premiere January 4.

Snapshots of Hollywood collected at random:

Marie Wilson will end her exile in Las Vegas January 8, at which time she'll get her divorce from Alan Nixon.

New Year's Eve in our town is going to be very quiet, so many people are leaving town. Claudette Colbert, Dr. Joel Pressman, Edie and Bill Goetz and Mary and Jack Benny are in La Quinta.

The Van Johnsons, Rosalind Russell and Freddie Brisson are at Sun Valley.

George Sanders and his wife, the so-attractive Zsa-Zsa, are en route to New York to spend New Year's with Madame Jolie Gabor and the Gabor gals.

Gloria Stewart, who was receiving congratulations on the expected twins, told me that she expects Jimmy back from England next week. "We're going to have our Christmas then," she said. "Of course, the children couldn't wait, but I haven't opened my presents."

This is really from the old home territory. Ronald Reagan, who also comes from Illinois, entertained two very pretty young school teachers at Charley Foy's tonight. They are Marilyn McCarthy from Sterling, which is 12 miles from Dixon, and Joyce McGrath from Joliet.

Jeanette MacDonald and Gene Raymond will be feted over the weekend in the Pump Room by popular Fred Gurley and his missus. He is the president of the Santa Fe.

That's all today. See you Monday.

Some 90,000,000 bunches of bananas are grown annually in Brazil.

An angel was an ancient English gold coin, varying in value from $1.50 to $2.50.

Culmone Nearing Miller's Record

Needs Six More Wins To Equal Mark Of 388

MIAMI, Fla., Dec. 29 (AP) — In a powerful exhibition of riding, Jockey Joe Culmone thrilled a crowd of 8,737 at Tropical Park today when he brought N. L. Raffelman's Gasparilla from last place to capture the Damon Runyon Cancer Fund Purse.

It was Culmone's second winner of the afternoon and his 382nd of the year, only six behind the record of 388 set by Walter Miller in 1906.

Gasparilla made up about 10 lengths after leaving the backstretch to roar home a length and a half before Alphabetical. Mirthmaker was third, while Top Admiral, the pacemaker, tired at the end and finished fourth. Only six started.

Gasparilla, in taking his second straight purse at the meeting, paid $5.50, $3.30 and $2.80. He went over the mile and a sixteenth in 1:44 4-5.

The track donated the net proceeds of the race to the Damon Runyon Cancer Fund. In the winner's circle, to greet Culmone and trainer A. Cilio was Milton Berle, who amused the crowd with his comic antics.

Culmone got his first winner of the day on Stradvarius, $3.40, in the opened. Through the Runyon Purse he had accepted 7 mounts.

Culmone said earlier in the day that he will donate all the money he earns from riding at Havana on Sunday to the Damon Runyon Cancer Fund. He will take his first plane trip to Cuba to finish out the last day of the year in the saddle there.

Radio And Television

A Premium On Nosiness

ONE OF THE oldest of the gimmick programs, with which television is already overloaded, is "What's My Line?" (CBS-TV 10:30 p. m. EST Sundays). This one puts a premium on nosiness about other people's business, not normally considered a nice habit, but I must admit it makes a fairly entertaining program.

John Crosb

"What's My Line?" is a panel show in which the panellists are asked to determine someone's occupation, using the animal-vegetable-or-mineral approach. The regular crew consists of Dorothy Kilgallen, Louis Untermeyer, Arlene Francis Hal Block and John Daly, the emee. The casuals generally come frm that pool of floating guests wo appear on everyone's progran including their own --Ilka Chase Wendy Barry, Abe Burrows, Bet Furness and the rest of them.

* * *

Everybody ready for the game now? Well,Mr. Daly introduces a lighthouse-keeper—they dig up some wonderfully unusual occupations—and, after te panellists inspect him briefly forwatermarks, they fall to questionin him. "Do you work for a profit-aking organization?" "Is your busiess affected by the water shortage" "Do you take people out of the drk and into the light?"

Since oth the studio audience and thehome audience know the answer, there is a good deal of dramatic irony in many of the questios. A fingerprint expert for the pace department was asked if his wrk made the people he was perfoning the service for happier. He aid no. Well, does it make then better? This question was thrn out as unanswerable.

Smetimes the questions are cutting frequently unnecessarily so, espcially when they come from Mis Kilgallen who appears to bear a rudge against all the guests. One of the mystery guests was a tall wl-built woman with long earrings nmed Mrs. Linda Stone. From Miss Kilgallen: "I think she's a raight woman in a burlesque house i West New York, New Jersey"—a emark that embarrassed even me. Later Miss Kilgallen asked the same woman: "Are you able to handle many customers?," followed by "Do you work at night?" Mrs. Stone, it developed, was a housewife.

* * *

Another guest of innocuous appearance turned out to be a sports-writer. "A writer?" shrieked Miss Kilgallen, incredulously. "On what paper?" The man worked on the "Journal - American," Miss Kilgallen's own paper, and went on to inform her that she passed his desk nearly every day.

Each program also boasts a mystery celebrity and during this part of the questioning the panellists are blindfolded. The mystery celebrities have included Elliott Roosevelt, Gypsy Rose Lee, Dizzy Dean and Ed Sullivan. While groping around for their identities, the panellists commit some pretty funny gaffes. When it was determined that Ed Sullivan had his own television show, Mr. Block asked him if he were funny. Mr. Sullivan sighed and said no. "You've got your own show on television and you're not funny?" remarked Block incredulously. Miss Lee was asked if she were famous for being well-dressed. Mr. Roosevelt was asked if he were a Republican. "No," said Mr. R. "I detect a touch of Harvard in that voice," muttered Mr. Block.

Dizzy Dean who has gained considerable fame for manhandling the English language, not all of it deserved, proved to be a very tractable, well-spoken mystery celebrity on the show. When someone suggested he was Dizzy Dean, Miss Kilgallen gasped: "Oh, it can't be! He sounds too intelligent!" Old Diz has been accused of a lot of things but lack of intelligence isn't one of them. Miss Kilgallen later apologized.

Try And Stop Me

By BENNETT CERF

History Is on Our Side, by Joseph Needham, is an Englishman's optimistic view of the world outlook today. He counts on American democratic spirit to ultimately triumph. "The essence of that spirit," he writes, "is expressed in the story of the train porter who was told that Lord Halifax would be riding in his car and that he would find the then-English Ambassador to Washington extremely democratic and easy to get on with. The porter replied, 'Well, he'll find me just the same'."

Rev. William Petherick writes about a minister who arose to deliver his sermon, carefully laid the manuscript on the pulpit, and began fishing for his glasses. A member of the congregation caused something of a crisis by rising to his feet and asking in a respectful but firm voice, "Reverend, how do you expect us to remember your sermon if you can't?"

Miss Kilgallen later apologized.

DAILY CRYPTOQUOTE—Here's how to work it:

A X Y D L B A A X R
is L O N G F E L L O W

One letter simply stands for another. In this example A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophies, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.

A Cryptogram Quotation

L E F 'Y N V O H W L G T T Q Y H T S T W N G W M Y B L Y K F V Y K L F A B K M Y T J T H Y V A H O S D W T M Y? — A L W D T H Y.

Yesterday's Cryptoquote: LOOK AT HER GARMENTS CLINGING LIKE CEREMENTS—HOOD.

Try And Stop Me

By BENNETT CERF

History Is on Our Side, by Joseph Needham, is an Englishman's optimistic view of the world outlook today. He counts on American democratic spirit to ultimately triumph. "The essence of that spirit," he writes, "is expressed in the story of the train porter who was told that Lord Halifax would be riding in his car and that he would find the then-English Ambassador to Washington extremely democratic and easy to get on with. The porter replied, 'Well, he'll find me just the same'."

Rev. William Petherick writes about a minister who arose to deliver his sermon, carefully laid the manuscript on the pulpit, and began fishing for his glasses. A member of the congregation caused something of a crisis by rising to his feet and asking in a respectful but firm voice, "Reverend, how do you expect us to remember your sermon if you can't?"

Salem college, Winston-Salem, N. C., is the oldest school for girls in the south, and the third oldest girls' school in the United States. It was founded in 1772.

KEEPING UP WITH

HOLLYWOOD

By LOUELLA PARSONS

HOLLYWOOD, Dec. 29 (INS)—Have you, too, made your resolutions and turned over a dozen or so new leaves for the coming year?

Let's have some fun, and think up a few that might well be made by our pals the movie stars:

Robert Mitchum should make up his mind to get off that "uncooperative" list with the girls of the press club. He's fundamentally too nice a guy to get another raspberry.

John Derek might promise to give out no more stories about how sorry he is that he is so handsome.

Bette Davis and Tallulah Bankhead can stop pretending that they are feuding. We all know they really admire one another.

Poor little Judy Garland. How I hope all her troubles are behind her and that she will no longer continue to waste her great talent. Judy, please, for all of us who love you, make 1951 the year of the big Garland comeback.

Both Liz Taylor and Nicky Hilton might resolve to coast a while, romantically speaking, until they are more mature emotionally. The break up of their marriage of barely eight months was very disillusioning.

May Barbara Stanwyck and Robert Taylor remain the good friends they are, even though separated—just for Auld Lang Syne's sake.

Jean Simmons and Stewart Granger can just promise to stay as estatically happy as they are today.

May Lawrence Tierney keep on the same straight path he's trodden the past two months.

And may those people who have figured sensationally in the headlines see the error of their ways—and those wonderful people who have entertained the war wounded continue their good work.

As for me, I'm going to try to keep my temper!

Quietly Martha Scott arrived in Hollywood. She is here for a special radio show and a test for "Detective Story."

This is being done very much undercover since Willie Wyler is still trying to get the right actress to play the wife. Meanwhile Kirk Douglas, who is in New York having himself a time, returns Thursday for wardrobe and to get ready to play the chacter Ralph Bellamy created on the stage.

•—•—•

• "The Halls Of Montezuma" will forever free Richard Widmark from those villains he has been playing. I have seldom seen a finer performance than he gives as a young Marine officer who is at once highly intelligent, hard boiled, and yet sensitive.

But, let me add, this entire 20th Century-Fox production ranks with what I have always held to be the greatest war film of them all—"All Quiet On The Western Front."

This is scarcely an accident, of course, since Lewis Milestone directs, and no one seems to quite have Millie's unique ability of catching the horror and heroism, the brutality and the glory that spells patriotism under fire. 20th is giving this Marine epic the plush treatment at a premiere January 4.

Snapshots of Hollywood collected at random:

Marie Wilson will end her exile in Las Vegas January 8, at which time she'll get her divorce from Alan Nixon.

New Year's Eve in our town is going to be very quiet, so many people are leaving town. Claudette Colbert, Dr. Joel Pressman, Edie and Bill Goetz and Mary and Jack Benny are in La Quinta.

The Van Johnsons, Rosalind Russell and Freddie Brisson are at Sun Valley.

George Sanders and his wife, the so-attractive Zsa-Zsa, are en route to New York to spend New Year's with Madame Jolie Gabor and the Gabor gals.

Gloria Stewart, who was receiving congratulations on the expected twins, told me that she expects Jimmy back from England next week. "We're going to have our Christmas then," she said. "Of course, the children couldn't wait, but I haven't opened my presents."

This is really from the old home territory. Ronald Reagan, who also comes from Illinois, entertained two very pretty young school teachers at Charley Foy's tonight. They are Marilyn McCarthy from Sterling, which is 12 miles from Dixon, and Joyce McGrath from Joliet.

Jeanette MacDonald and Gene Raymond will be feted over the weekend in the Pump Room by popular Fred Gurley and his missus. He is the president of the Santa Fe.

That's all today. See you Monday.

Some 90,000,000 bunches of bananas are grown annually in Brazil.

An angel was an ancient English gold coin, varying in value from $1.50 to $2.50.

Saint Augustine, Fla., is the oldest city in America. It was founded 385 years ago.

Radio And Television

By JOHN CROSBY

A Premium On Nosiness

ONE OF THE oldest of the gimmick programs, with which television is already overloaded, is "What's My Line?" (CBS-TV 10:30 p. m. EST Sundays). This one puts a premium on nosiness about other people's business, not normally considered a nice habit, but I must admit it makes a fairly entertaining program.

John Crosby

"What's My Line?" is a panel show in which the panellists are asked to determine someone's occupation, using the animal-vegetable-or-mineral approach. The regular crew consists of Dorothy Kilgallen, Louis Untermeyer, Arlene Francis Hal Block and John Daly, the emee. The casuals generally come frm that pool of floating guests wo appear on everyone's program including their own --Ilka Chase Wendy Barry, Abe Burrows, Bet Furness and the rest of them.

* * *

Everybody ready for the game now? Well,Mr. Daly introduces a lighthouse-keeper—they dig up some wonderfully unusual occupations—and, after the panellists inspect him briefly forwatermarks, they fall to questionin him. "Do you work for a profit-raking organization?" "Is your busiess affected by the water shortage? "Do you take people out of the dck and into the light?"

Since both the studio audience and thehome audience know the answer, there is a good deal of dramatic irony in many of the questios. A fingerprint expert for the pace department was asked if his wrk made the people he was perfoning the service for happier. He aid no. Well, does it make them better? This question was thrown out as unanswerable.

Sometimes the questions are cutting frequently unnecessarily so, especially when they come from Mis Kilgallen who appears to bear a rudge against all the guests. One of the mystery guests was a tall wil-built woman with long earrings nmed Mrs. Linda Stone. From Miss Kilgallen: "I think she's a raight woman in a burlesque house n West New York, New Jersey"—a emark that embarrassed even me. Later Miss Kilgallen asked the same woman: "Are you able to handle many customers?," followed by "Do you work at night?" Mrs. Stone, it developed, was a housewife.

* * *

Another guest of innocuous appearance turned out to be a sports-writer. "A writer?" shrieked Miss Kilgallen, incredulously. "On what paper?" The man worked on the "Journal-American," Miss Kilgallen's own paper, and went on to inform her that she passed his desk nearly every day.

Each program also boasts a mystery celebrity and during this part of the questioning the panellists are blindfolded. The mystery celebrities have included Elliott Roosevelt, Gypsy Rose Lee, Dizzy Dean and Ed Sullivan. While groping around for their identities, the panellists commit some pretty funny gaffes. When it was determined that Ed Sullivan had his own television show, Mr. Block asked him if he were funny. Mr. Sullivan sighed and said no. "You've got your own show on television and you're not funny?" remarked Block incredulously. Miss Lee was asked if she were famous for being well-dressed. Mr. Roosevelt was asked if he were a Republican. "No," said Mr. R. "I detect a touch of Harvard in that voice," muttered Mr. Block.

Dizzy Dean who has gained considerable fame for manhandling the English language, not all of it deserved, proved to be a very tractable, well-spoken mystery celebrity on the show. When someone suggested he was Dizzy Dean, Miss Kilgallen gasped: "Oh, it can't be! He sounds too intelligent!" Old Diz has been accused of a lot of things but lack of intelligence isn't one of them. Miss Kilgallen later apologized.

Try And Stop Me

By BENNETT CERF

History Is on Our Side, by Joseph Needham, is an Englishman's optimistic view of the world outlook today. He counts on American democratic spirit to ultimately triumph. "The essence of that spirit," he writes, "is expressed in the story of the train porter who was told that Lord Halifax would be riding in his car and that he would find the then-English Ambassador to Washington extremely democratic and easy to get on with. The porter replied, 'Well, he'll find me just the same'."

Rev. William Petherick writes about a minister who arose to deliver his sermon, carefully laid the manuscript on the pulpit, and began fishing for his glasses. A member of the congregation caused something of a crisis by rising to his feet and asking in a respectful but firm voice, "Reverend, how do you expect us to remember your sermon if you can't?"

DAILY CRYPTOQUOTE—Here's how to work it:

A X Y D L B A A X R
is L O N G F E L L O W

One letter simply stands for another. In this example A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophies, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.

Salaried B & O Workers Receive Wage Increase

All salaried employes of the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad have received pay increases, according to Chester T. Williams, superintendent of the Cumberland Division of the railroad.

The increases will be reflected in the next pay by the railroad on January 12 and is retroactive to October 1.

Under the pay increase formula, salared employes earning up to $300 per month will get a $20 raise while those making over $300 per month will get a flat eight percent increase based on their salary.

Williams explained that the salaried employes include all workers not covered by wage agreements negotiated between the B. and O. and railroad brotherhoods.

There are more than 150 salaried employes of the local terminal and Williams said he could not give an estimate as to how many workers the new pay increase would affect over the entire system, but it would probably run into the thousands.

Meanwhile, general chairmen of the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen probably will approve reluctantly a new wage settlement for their members, the union's official publication said.

The chairmen meet in Cleveland next Thursday to discuss a Washington proposal granting wage increases for members of the railroad industry's four big operating unions.

Democrat Is Chosen Assistant To Governor

BALTIMORE, Dec. 29 (AP) — Albert W. Quinn, Baltimore Sun political writer, will become assistant to the governor upon the inauguration of Republican Theodore R. McKeldin January 10, it was announced yesterday.

He will be performing duties similar to those he performed for Democrat Homer A. Holt when Holt was governor of West Virginia from 1937 to 1941.

Quinn, a 46-year-old native of Jermyn, Pa., is himself a Democrat.

It is generally believed that he is the first man ever to be named assistant to governors of different political parties in different states.

County Asked To Increase Budget Of Welfare Board By $12,000

The Allegany County Board of Commissioners took under advisement yesterday morning the request of Mrs. Elinor M. Westerfield, director of the Allegany County Welfare Board for $12,000 in order to put into effect more liberal welfare payments.

A program has been worked out by the State Department Public Welfare whereby grants to welfare recipients in various categories would obtain cost-of-living increases.

The county board asked Mrs. Westerfield to send them a letter pointing out why the $12,000 in additional funds should be granted, and promised to give her a decision within 10 days.

Mrs. Westerfeld said the new system would give increases for subsistence needs. At present one person receives $29.50 per month but under the new program the grant would be raised to $32. A person living with another person would get a grant of $28 instead of the present $26.75. A person living with two other persons now receives $22.50 but would get $24 under the new plan. A person living with three or more persons now gets $21 and would obtain $22 under the plan.

Shelter payments to welfare recipients will be increased from $22.50 for one to four persons to $28 for the classification.

For five or more persons the shelter payments would increase from $27 to $33.50.

Another change in the new program would exempt the first $50 gross earnings of the blind for computing welfare payments.

Guardianship will be required in all cases of general public assistance.

A claim against the estate of all recipients of GPA would be made and collected if the persons died while receiving assistance.

A new category has been added. Aid to persons totally and permanently disabled will be made after a doctor fills out a form citing the case. The forms will be submitted to the State Department of Health for study and certification.

The county and state would get federal aid for this section of the program.

Another change in the rules and regulations of the State Department of Public Welfare requires all county welfare boards must make a decision on application for assistance within 30 days. A letter explaining why any such applications are denied must be sent to the applicant.

Plan Proposes Revenue Bonds For Sanitary Body

A discussion on the possibilities of having legislation passed under which the Allegany County Metropolitan Sanitary Commission could be granted authority to issue revenue bonds for projects was held yesterday at the Court House.

Under the law passed by the General Assembly setting up the commission, all projects must be financed under a system whereby not more than 10 per cent of the assessed valuation of the property affected by the project can be used to coinstruct water or sewage facilities.

Dr. William E. Moseley, chairman of the commission, told the Allegany County Board of Commissioners, that the commission wished to discuss the possibilities of obtaining legislation before contacting the county delegation to Annapolis.

It was emphasized that there are no plans to enter into any projects due to the current war emergency. Costs of materials and shortages of pipe and other items would make such work impossible, even if the federal government gave permission for the work, Dr. Moseley said.

The legislation in question would be based on a revenue bond law in West Virginia under which municipalities and other groups erect water and sewage systems and make other public improvements.

Dr. Moseley said the legislation would give the commission an alternative plan of financing projects after the national emergency is over.

Albert S. Paye, engineer for the commission, said Petersburg and Romney, W. Va., have built water systems under the revenue bond plan and Petersburg's bond issue was sold at the low interest rate of two and three-fourths percent.

All such projects built must have established charges and rates sufficient to pay for the principal and interest on the project. The bonds are not backed by the county or commission, but the buyers of the issue obtain a mortgage lien on the physical assets of the water or sewage works.

The entire discussion was permeated with the idea that the plan as suggested would be more in the nature of a long-range program and if the legislation is obtained would allow for construction of projects when more normal times return.

Commissioner Commends Work Of City Firemen

The Cumberland Fire Department was commended for its work in the Christmas night Wineow Street fire by the Police and Fire Commissioner, who was a spectator at the blaze.

In a letter addressed to Acting Fire Chief William Lindner, Commissioner Long said:

"The Wineow Street fire afforded me an on-the-scene view of the efficient and courageous work of the Fire Department directed by you. All comments to me have been of the highest commendation for you and the men."

Long added that in cases of such emergencies it is encouraging to know that teamwork, job experience, training and maintenance of the best of fire fighting equipment provides results.

The commissioner suggested that fire prevention activities be stepped up. He said further inspections, reports of conditions and corrective action is needed.

He concluded by congratulating the acting chief and his firemen for a "job well done."

Market Spotlight Taken By Lower-Priced Stocks

NEW YORK, Dec. 29 (AP) — A hand-picked group of low-priced stocks advanced smartly in a churning market today.

Despite heavy trading the market as a whole showed little price action.

Trading volume crossed the 3,000,000-share mark for the second day running. Sales of 3,420,000 shares compared with 3,560,000 Thursday.

The market was broader than normal with 1,198 individual stocks traded. Of these 540 declined and 417 advanced.

Today it more than doubled in price, selling as high as $5.37 and closing at $4.25 for a net gain of $1.75 a share, an extraordinary advance for a stock in that price bracket.

Missouri Pacific preferred was another high flyer, jumping $3 to $29.25 on top of Thursday's gain of $4.25.

Among the lower priced issues in demand were Allegheny, up 37 cents at $4.87; Graham-Paige, up 25 cents at $2.87; Lehigh Valley Coal, up 37 cents at $2.75; Hupp Corp., up 12 cents at $3.87; Benquet Mining, up 12 cents at $1.25; Gar Wood Industries, up 87 cents at $6.75; Willys-Overland up 12 cents at $11.62; Servel, up 50 cents at $10; and Zonite, up 50 cents at $5.12.

Closing lower were U. S. Steel, N. Y. Central, Chrysler, Studebaker, J. I. Case, Douglas Aircraft, Radio Corp., Kennecott Copper, Allied Chemical, Dow Chemical, duPont, American Woolen, Southern Railway, Baltimore & Ohio, Chesapeake, Trans World Air, and Pan American Air.

Time Limit Extended In Legion Post Case

The Allegany County Liquor Control Board has granted Fulton Myers Post, American Legion, an extension on the time limit under which it must show cause why its liquor license should not be surrendered to the board.

The Negro Legion post was evicted from its premises on North Mechanic Street several months ago and under terms of the county liquor law any license which is not being used must be turned back to the board.

Members of the board were informed by officials of the Legion post that they have prospects of obtaining a new home and wanted additional time to complete arrangements before appearing before the board.

The Liquor Board felt that if the Legion post is successful in renting new quarters it should be allowed to retain the license.

BARCLAY ON BRIDGE

By Shepard Barclay

"The Authority on Authorities"

WHICH PLEASES MORE?

CONTRACTS that prove successful may be made in either of two ways. One is by means of air-tight play against which the defenders could not do anything. The other is by causing and taking advantage of an error by the defense. Which do you enjoy more? The true bridger gets an extra kick in succeeding with some device that induces his opponent to do just what he wants him to. If that victim points out how he could have beaten the contract, the star merely enjoys the proceedings still more.

After the defense scored the club 10 and J, and the Q was led, South ruffed with the diamond 3. He led the spade 3 to the Q, then the diamond 2, on which East tossed a club, the K winning. Up against a tough assignment now, the shrewd declarer found a way to go for his contract. But he was equal to it, Howard Schenken, rated by many national champions as the greatest of them all.

He laid down the spade K to the sixth trick and then the A. West fell for this and did exactly what the declarer wished, discarded a heart, the 5. The heart Q was laid down. West playing low, and then the spade 7, on which West discarded the heart 9, the diamond 5 ruffing. The heart A now brought a discard of the last spade, the 10, and the J was ruffed by the diamond A, West being obliged to under-ruff with the 7. There remained now the diamond Q-10 in dummy with West holding the J-9, so a simple finesse completed the contract.

Trying to muddle Mr. Schenken's satisfaction, West noted that he could have ruined the contract by ruffing the spade A with the diamond 7 instead of discarding a heart. That would have compelled an over-ruff with the diamond 10, which would have demolished the tenace of the Q-10 over the J-9 and so would have assured West the trump trick that would have beaten the contract.

With neither side vulnerable, what would you do in the East if South bid 1-Spade, West passed and North 1-No Trump? This is your hand:

Salaried B & O Workers Receive Wage Increase

All salaried employes of the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad have received pay increases, according to Chester T. Williams, superintendent of the Cumberland Division of the railroad.

The increases will be reflected in the next pay by the railroad on January 12 and is retroactive to October 1.

Under the pay increase formula, salared employes earning up to $300 per month will get a $20 raise while those making over $300 per month will get a flat eight percent increase based on their salary.

Williams explained that the salaried employes include all workers not covered by wage agreements negotiated between the B. and O. and railroad brotherhoods.

There are more than 150 salaried employes of the local terminal and Williams said he could not give an estimate as to how many workers the new pay increase would affect over the entire system, but it would probably run into the thousands.

Meanwhile, general chairmen of the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen probably will approve reluctantly a new wage settlement for their members, the union's official publication said.

The chairmen meet in Cleveland next Thursday to discuss a Washington proposal granting wage increases for members of the railroad industry's four big operating unions.

Quinn, a 46-year-old native of Jermyn, Pa., is himself a Democrat.

County Asked To Increase Budget Of Welfare Board By $12,000

The Allegany County Board of Commissioners took under advisement yesterday morning the request of Mrs. Elinor M. Westerfield, director of the Allegany County Welfare Board for $12,000 in order to put into effect more liberal welfare payments.

A program has been worked out by the State Department Public Welfare whereby grants to welfare recipients in various categories would obtain cost-of-living increases.

The county board asked Mrs. Westerfield to send them a letter pointing out why the $12,000 in additional funds should be granted, and promised to give her a decision within 10 days.

Mrs. Westerfeld said the new system would give increases for subsistence needs. At present one person receives $29.50 per month but under the new program the grant would be raised to $32. A person living with another person would get a grant of $28 instead of the present $26.75. A person living with two other persons now receives $22.50 but would get $24 under the new plan. A person living with three or more persons now gets $21 and would obtain $22 under the plan.

Shelter payments to welfare recipients will be increased from $22.50 for one to four persons to $28 for the classification.

For five or more persons the shelter payments would increase from $27 to $33.50.

Another change in the new program would exempt the first $50 gross earnings of the blind for computing welfare payments.

Guardianship will be required in all cases of general public assistance.

A claim against the estate of all recipients of GPA would be made and collected if the persons died while receiving assistance.

A new category has been added. Aid to persons totally and permanently disabled will be made after a doctor fills out a form citing the case. The forms will be submitted to the State Department of Health for study and certification.

The county and state would get federal aid for this section of the program.

Another change in the rules and regulations of the State Department of Public Welfare requires all county welfare boards must make a decision on application for assistance within 30 days. A letter explaining why any such applications are denied must be sent to the applicant.

Plan Proposes Revenue Bonds For Sanitary Body

A discussion on the possibilities of having legislation passed under which the Allegany County Metropolitan Sanitary Commission could be granted authority to issue revenue bonds for projects was held yesterday at the Court House.

Under the law passed by the General Assembly setting up the commission, all projects must be financed under a system whereby not more than 10 per cent of the assessed valuation of the property affected by the project can be used to construct water or sewage facilities.

Dr. William E. Moseley, chairman of the commission, told the Allegany County Board of Commissioners, that the commission wished to discuss the possibilities of obtaining legislation before contacting the county delegation to Annapolis.

It was emphasized that there are no plans to enter into any projects due to the current war emergency. Costs of materials and shortages of pipe and other items would make such work impossible, even if the federal government gave permission for the work, Dr. Moseley said.

The legislation in question would be based on a revenue bond law in West Virginia under which municipalities and other groups erect water and sewage systems and make other public improvements.

Dr. Moseley said the legislation would give the commission an alternative plan of financing projects after the national emergency is over.

Albert S. Paye, engineer for the commission, said Petersburg and Romney, W. Va., have built water systems under the revenue bond plan and Petersburg's bond issue was sold at the low interest rate of two and three-fourths percent.

All such projects built must have established charges and rates sufficient to pay for the principal and interest on the project. The bonds are not backed by the county or commission, but the buyers of the issue obtain a mortgage lien on the physical assets of the water or sewage works.

The entire discussion was permeated with the idea that the plan as suggested would be more in the nature of a long-range program and if the legislation is obtained would allow for construction of projects when more normal times return.

Commissioner Commends Work Of City Firemen

The Cumberland Fire Department was commended for its work in the Christmas night Wineow Street fire by the Police and Fire Commissioner, who was a spectator at the blaze.

In a letter addressed to Acting Fire Chief William Lindner, Commissioner Long said:

"The Wineow Street fire afforded me an on-the-scene view of the efficient and courageous work of the Fire Department directed by you. All comments to me have been of the highest commendation for you and the men."

Long added that in cases of such emergencies it is encouraging to know that teamwork, job experience, training and maintenance of the best of fire fighting equipment provides results.

The commissioner suggested that fire prevention activities be stepped up. He said further inspections, reports of conditions and corrective action is needed.

He concluded by congratulating the acting chief and his firemen for a "job well done."

Market Spotlight Taken By Lower-Priced Stocks

NEW YORK, Dec. 29 (AP) — A hand-picked group of low-priced stocks advanced smartly in a churning market today.

Despite heavy trading the market as a whole showed little price action.

Trading volume crossed the 3,000,000-share mark for the second day running. Sales of 3,420,000 shares compared with 3,560,000 Thursday.

The market was broader than normal with 1,198 individual stocks traded. Of these 540 declined and 417 advanced.

Boston & Maine Railroad, the most active stock, provided Wall Street with something of a mystery. The stock closed Thursday at $2.50 a share. Today it more than doubled in price, selling as high as $5.37 and closing at $4.25 for a net gain of $1.75 a share, an extraordinary advance for a stock in that price bracket.

Missouri Pacific preferred was another high flyer, jumping $3 to $29.25 on top of Thursday's gain of $4.25.

Among the lower priced issues in demand were Allegheny, up 37 cents at $4.87; Graham-Paige, up 25 cents at $2.87; Lehigh Valley Coal, up 37 cents at $2.75; Hupp Corp., up 12 cents at $3.87; Benquet Mining, up 12 cents at $1.25; Gar Wood Industries, up 87 cents at $6.75; Willys-Overland up 12 cents at $11.62; Servel, up 50 cents at $10; and Zonite, up 50 cents at $5.12.

Closing lower were U. S. Steel, N. Y. Central, Chrysler, Studebaker, J. I. Case, Douglas Aircraft, Radio Corp., Kennecott Copper, Allied Chemical, Dow Chemical, duPont, American Woolen, Southern Railway, Baltimore & Ohio, Chesapeake, Trans World Air, and Pan American Air.

Time Limit Extended In Legion Post Case

The Allegany County Liquor Control Board has granted Fulton Myers Post, American Legion, an extension on the time limit under which it must show cause why its liquor license should not be surrendered to the board.

The Negro Legion post was evicted from its premises on North Mechanic Street several months ago and under terms of the county liquor law any license which is not being used must be turned back to the board.

Members of the board were informed by officials of the Legion post that they have prospects of obtaining a new home and wanted additional time to complete arrangements before appearing before the board.

The Liquor Board felt that if the Legion post is successful in renting new quarters it should be allowed to retain the license.

BARCLAY ON BRIDGE

By Shepard Barclay

"The Authority on Authorities"

WHICH PLEASES MORE?

CONTRACTS that prove successful may be made in either of two ways. One is by means of air-tight play against which the defenders could not do anything. The other is by causing and taking advantage of an error by the defense. Which do you enjoy more? The true bridger gets an extra kick in succeeding with some device that induces his opponent to do just what he wants him to. If that victim points out how he could have beaten the contract, the star merely enjoys the proceedings still more.

After the defense scored the club 10 and J, and the Q was led, South ruffed with the diamond 3. He led the spade 3 to the Q, then the diamond 2, on which East tossed a club, the K winning. Up against a tough assignment now, the shrewd declarer found a way to go for his contract. But he was equal to it, Howard Schenken, rated by many national champions as the greatest of them all.

He laid down the spade K to the sixth trick and then the A. West fell for this and did exactly what the declarer wished, discarded a heart, the 5. The heart Q was laid down, West playing low, and then the spade 7, on which West discarded the heart 9, the diamond 5 ruffing. The heart A now brought a discard of the last spade, the 10, and the J was ruffed by the diamond A, West being obliged to under-ruff with the 7. There remained now the diamond Q-10 in dummy with West holding the J-9, so a simple finesse completed the contract.

Trying to muddle Mr. Schenken's satisfaction, West noted that he could have ruined the contract by ruffing the spade A with the diamond 7 instead of discarding a heart. That would have compelled an over-ruff with the diamond 10, which would have demolished the tenace of the Q-10 over the J-9 and so would have assured West the trump trick that would have beaten the contract.

Steps Taken To Avoid Bus Overcrowding

Company Puts Extra Vehicles In Service

The Cumberland Transit Company has taken steps to relieve the overcrowding of buses carrying school children Police Commissioner John J. Long reported last night after a meeting between company officials and local police authorities.

The company had asked for a 10-day delay for purposes of survey after the situation was revealed two weeks ago, Long said, and reported its findings and steps taken at last night's meeting in Commissioner Long's office in the city hall.

Bus officials stated that a white line has been placed on the buses behind the driver's seat and drivers have strict instructions to allow no one beyond that line. This will avoid crowding the driver and cut down on number of occupants of the bus they said. The company also revealed it could not place an extra bus in operation on Bedford Road for school children only.

The company has placed two extra buses in service, with one scheduled from Baltimore Avenue to Fort Hill School and the other from Schriver Avenue to Allegany High School, Long said.

A discussion was held as to possibility of periodic checks by the police force on buses carrying school children with the report going to the police commissioner.

Long stated he intended to discuss further action which may be taken in the matter with City Attorney W. Earle Cobey.

Lt. Edwin R. Lilya of the Traffic Division of the City Police Force said yesterday that the local bus company and the Parking and Traffic Commission will meet soon to discuss distribution of city bus stops on Baltimore Street over a wider area to avoid congestion in front of stores on the Main Stem.

The commission has in mind a plan similar to one in operation several years ago, Lilya said, with bus stops located over a wider area in accordance with schedules and routes for the buses. An attempt will be made to avoid diverting the buses to side streets which will create a parking and travel hazard. At present the Baltimore street buses haul an average of 90,000 persons per week, Lilya stated.

Wineow St. Fire Repairs Delayed

Repairs and remodeling of the buildings on Wineow Street which were razed by the fatal Christmas Day fire have been delayed pending the outcome of conferences between City Engineer Ralph L. Jobs, Payroll Gain In City DuringNovember

Employment Up 1,222 Over Same Month 1949

The December report of the Cumberland Chamber of Commerce showed an increase in both employment and payrolls in the city's 17 major industries for the month of November as compared to November 1949.

The report also indicated an increase in U. S. Savings Bonds and savings stamps in the city from October this year to December. Postal receipts showed a decrease of $171.71 in the past month.

Cumberland's industries employed 11,883 persons in November 1949 and 13,105 in November of this year for an increase of 1,222, while the community's payrolls hiked from $2,856,479.25 in 1949 to $3,474,400.28 in 1950. This was an increase of $617,921.03.

Savings bonds went up from $4,743.75 in October this year to $6,693.75 in November for a rise of $1,950, and a $65 hike in savings stamps was seen with $240 bought in October and $305 in November.

Building permits also showed an increase from November of $3,160, as $31,000 was spent on construction work in December as compared to $27,840 last month.

Joseph M. Naughton, president of the chamber, extended his best wishes to the members for the coming year with the hope that 1951 would bring the blessings of peace.

Naughton related how "the immediate outlook for every person and business in the country is so uncertain that the usual expressions of sentiment seem out of place as 1951 dawns."

He praised the tremendous productive capacity of America and the great reliance which must be placed upon the American way of life with every business taking part and every citizen making sacrifices.

The next meeting of the chamber is scheduled for January 19 at Central YMCA with George M. Hitchcock, smoke control engineer, the speaker on a discussion of "Smoke Control."

Area Roads Clear But Icy In Tri Section

Heavy Fog Adds To Hazard Of Travelers

Thursday night was one of the worst for automobile drivers this season in Maryland and it was no better last night.

Fog settled on top of roads which were already exceedingly hazardous from ice formed from the two to four inches of snow which fell in Allegany County early yesterday morning. Travel was extremely difficult.

Washington County had two to three inches of snow, while Frederick County had one-quarter of an inch of ice covered by an inch of mixed snow and sleet.

Night crews worked most of last night in Cumberland cindering streets and bad icy spots, especially on Greene Street, Holland Street, and Washington Street, according to Mrs. Lucile W. Roeder, commissioner of streets and public property.

The lowest official temperature in Constitution Park yesterday was 18 degrees and the highest recorded was 37 degrees. The weather bureau reported that the snowfall early yesterday morning amounted to 2.6 inches in Cumberland. The melted precipitation was .30 inches.

State police in the Cumberland area said chains were necessary on all secondary roads and that even the primary ones were dangerous in spots.

G. Bates Chaires, district engineer for the State Roads Commission, said that about 75 per cent of the main highways were clear and that chains were not necessary on them. He urged drivers to use care in driving though.

The temperature in Thomas, W. Va., last night at 10 o'clock was 36 degrees. Four inches of new snow was reported and the skies were cloudy.

At Deal, Pa., where three inches of new snow was on the ground, the temperature was 26 degrees.

Yesterday's clearing weather and warmer temperatures freed most of West Virginia's primary highways of ice and snow.

Freezing rains and snowfalls as deep as seven inches in some areas Thursday night and early yesterday had put main routes in many sections on the hazardous list.

But warmer weather combined with the work of cinder and plow crews by late afternoon had left very few places where chains were needed for safe highway travel, the road commission reported.

Some slush remained on U. S. 50 in Mineral and Grant County in the vicinity of Mount Storm and on hills and curves in the extreme eastern part of the West Virginia panhandle, the bureau said.

U. S. 33 east of Elkins and U. S. 219 between Elkins and Marlington, both on the hazardous list earlier, were reported clear.

Elsewhere, the bureau said, primary routes were practically bare, although secondary roads in many sections, particularly the eastern panhandle, still were covered with snow and ice.

Attachment Suit Seeks $10,000 For Sales Taxes

State Brings Action Against Local Firm

An attachment suit whereby the State of Maryland seeks to collect $10,000 in allegedly unpaid sales taxes was filed yesterday in Allegany County Circuit Court against Mrs. Dorothy Desmond, and Cloyd Wise, jointly and trading as Bee Sales Company and/or Maryland Sales Company, 209 Virginia Avenue.

Court attaches reported that is believed to be the first suit of its type to be docketed in Allegany county.

The suit states that Edward F. Engelbert, assistant director, Retail Sales Tax Division, Office of the State Comptroller, has sworn that the defendants "are justly and bona fide indebted unto the State of Maryland, by reason of their failure or refusal to pay legally assessed deficiencies to the State of Maryland in sales taxes."

An accompanying statement of account from Engelbert reports that the $10,000 alleged unpaid sales tax was accumulated between July 1, 1947 and November 30, 1950.

The declaration, signed by Attorney General Hall Hammond and Engelbert, states that demand was made upon the defendants for payment of the $10,000 but payment was not made.

This Virginia Avenue business involved the sale of cigarettes and other tobacco products.

Housewives Must Check New SS Law

Must Keep Records On All Domestics

As the first of the year approaches, many housewives employing full or part time servants are becoming anxious about their legal obligations in the matter of handling Social Security payments.

According to estimates there are an estimated one million housewives who will have to know basic facts about the law.

The word "domestics," means any person who works in or around the house, including practical nurses, furnacemen, gardeners and babysitters. To be affected by the law, the domestic must work 24 days in a three-month period, starting January 1, 1951, and he must be paid at least $50 in cash wages during this period.

Listing the employer's obligations, the author says she must: "See that the domestic has a Social Security number; withhold 1½ percent of his wages each time he is paid; file a return; forward the withheld tax, together with the employer's own 1½ percent contribution, to the district Collector of Internal Revenue."

Pointing out that failure to furnish a statement carries a $1,000 fine or imprisonment for one year or both, the article also stresses the importance of keeping records. The employer must keep on file the name and Social Security number of the domestic, and the wages paid. The law requires that the domestic be given a statement of total wages and Social Security tax withheld.

Local field offices of the Social Security Administration can supply detailed information on the law.

City May Decline To Give Permits For Rebuilding Wineow St. Houses

Health And Fire Regulations Cited

Owners of the buildings razed by the Christmas Day fire on Wineow Street will not be granted permits to build, remodel or repair the structures unless compliance will all regulations in the city is made, the City Engineer's office reported yesterday.

Ralph L. Rizer, city engineer, said after a meeting with Maryland Homes Company officials, owners of three of the four buildings destroyed by the blaze, that "all city regulations, including those of the health department, fire department and the building code will have to be complied with before any building permits will be issued."

He added that if sanitary and sewage regulations aref ollowed so the health department is satisfied and the city building code allows the construction, the permits would be granted.

Rizer stated, however, that he had been unable to contact the fourth owner, Walter Twyman, and final arrangements for disposition of the property is as yet undecided.

Rizer made an inspection of the properties from 152 to 158 Wineow Street yesterday afternoon and declared them unsafe, although the owners had taken steps to safeguard passersby and other properties.

A decision will soon be made, he said, as to whether the buildings will be torn down or repaired, but that he would have to see the owners again before making final arrangements.

Deadline For GI Training Period Nears

Veterans Have Until July To Enter School

Veterans of World War II who are planning an education under the GI Bill of Rights are being reminded by the Veterans Administration that the deadline for entrance to schools is July 25, 1951.

The coming spring school term will be the final term for most veterans who wish to enter or re-enter training before the deadline.

The 1951 cut-off date applies to most World War II vets — those discharged from service before July 25, 1947. Vets discharged after that date had four years in which to begin schooling from their discharge date.

Veterans must have commenced their training by the deadline date, the VA said, if they wish to continue afterwards. Once he completes or discontinues his course of GI Bill training after the July 25 date he may not start another course.

He must also pursue his training "continuously until completion, except for conditions which normally would cause interruption such as vacations or illness," and may change their course "only while in training and then for reasons satisfactory to the school administrator." The public law which permits permits a veteran to change his course of study merely by applying for a change will not be in effect after July 25, VA officials stated.

Vets who stop training in order to return to active military duty will be permitted to resume their training wihin a "reasonable period" following their release from service even thought it may occur after the deadline date.

Improvement In County's Sewage Disposal Is Sought By The State

Commissioners Get Health Dept. Letter

Board of Allegany County Commissioners have received a letter from Dr. P. H. Riley, director of the Maryland State Department of Health, in connection with numerous unsanitary conditions which now exist in housing developments and on individual properties as a result of improper sewage disposal.

Dr. Riley recommends the appointment of a county zoning and planning authority here as well as similar groups in other counties in the state. This move is authorized in 1939 Annotated Code and would facilitate general and long-range planning of developments in sanitary systems.

The letter reports that unfavorable conditions are found mainly in areas where no public sewers are available and where individual disposal systems are provided for each property.

Under Section 381 of Article 43 of the 1939 Annotated Code plats of all subdivisions and a statement as to methods proposed for supplying the properties with water and sewerage service must be filed with the State Board of Health before being placed on the market and before any building operations can be undertaken.

If public sewers are not readily available engineers of the state department of health will make soil tests to determine whether septic tank effluent can be absorbed underground with the results being reported to the county health department and to the property developer.

Dr. Riley has request the county commissioners to refer to all applications for new building construction to the local health department before issuing building permits. This procedure would permit the state health department to check the property and give correct advisement on the proper means of sewage disposal and thus prevent repitition of present conditions.

Steps Taken To Avoid Bus Overcrowding

Company Puts Extra Vehicles In Service

The Cumberland Transit Company has taken steps to relieve the overcrowding of buses carrying school children Police Commissioner John J. Long reported last night after a meeting between company officials and local police authorites.

The company had asked for a 10-day delay for purposes of survey after the situation was revealed two weeks ago, Long said, and reported its findings and steps taken at last night's meeting in Commissioner Long's office in the city hall.

Bus officials stated that a white line has been placed on the buses behind the driver's seat and drivers have strict instructions to allow no one beyond that line. This will avoid crowding the driver and cut down on number of occupants of the bus they said. The company also revealed it could not place an extra bus in operation on Bedford Road for school children only.

The company has placed two extra buses in service,, with one scheduled from Baltimore Avenue to Fort Hill School and the other from Schriver Avenue to Allegany High School, Long said.

A discussion was held as to possibility of periodic checks by the police force on buses carrying school children with the report going to the police commissioner.

Long stated he intended to discuss further action which may be taken in the matter with City Attorney W. Earle Cobey.

Lt. Edwin R. Lilya of the Traffic Division of the City Police Force said yesterday that the local bus company and the Parking and Traffic Commission will meet soon to discuss distribution of city bus stops on Baltimore Street over a wider area to avoid congestion in front of stores on the Main Stem.

The commission has in mind a plan similar to one in operation several years ago, Lilya said, with bus stops located over a wider area in accordance with schedules and routes for the buses. An attempt will be made to avoid diverting the buses to side streets which will create a parking and travel hazard. At present the Baltimore street buses haul an average of 90,000 persons per week, Lilya stated.

Attachment Suit Seeks $10,000 For Sales Taxes

State Brings Action Against Local Firm

An attachment suit whereby the State of Maryland seeks to collect $10,000 in allegedly unpaid sales taxes was filed yesterday in Allegany County Circuit Court against Mrs. Dorothy Desmond, and Cloyd Wise, jointly and trading as Bee Sales Company and/or Maryland Sales Company, 209 Virginia Avenue.

Court attaches reported that is believed to be the first suit of its type to be docketed in Allegany county.

The suit states that Edward F. Engelbert, assistant director, Retail Sales Tax Division, Office of the State Comptroller, has sworn that the defendants "are justly and bona fide indebted unto the State of Maryland, by reason of their failure or refusal to pay legally assessed deficiencies to the State of Maryland in sales taxes."

An accompanying statement of account from Engelbert reports that the $10,000 alleged unpaid sales tax was accumulated between July 1, 1947 and November 30, 1950.

The declaration, signed by Ateorney General Hall Hammond and Engelbert, states that demand was made upon the defendants for payment of the $10,000 but payment was not made.

This Virginia Avenue business involved the sale of cigarettes and other tobacco products.

Area Roads Clear But Icy In Tri Section

Heavy Fog Adds To Hazard Of Travelers

Thursday night was one of the worst for automobile drivers this season in Maryland and it was no better last night.

Fog settled on top of roads which were already exceedingly hazardous from ice formed from the two to four inches of snow which fell in Allegany County early yesterday morning. Travel was extremely difficult.

Washington County had two to three inches of snow, while Frederick County had one-quarter of an inch of ice covered by an inch of mixed snow and sleet.

Night crews worked most of last night in Cumberland cindering streets and bad icy spots, especially on Greene Street, Holland Street, and Washington Street, according to Mrs. Lucile W. Roeder, commissioner of streets and public property.

The lowest official temperature in Constitution Park yesterday was 18 degrees and the highest recorded was 37 degrees. The weather bureau reported that the snowfall early yesterday morning amounted to 2.6 inches in Cumberland. The melted precipitation was .30 inches.

State police in the Cumberland area said chains were necessary on all secondary roads and that even the primary ones were dangerous in spots.

G. Bates Chaires, district engineer for the State Roads Commission, said that about 75 per cent of the main highways were clear and that chains were not necessary on them. He urged drivers to use care in driving though.

The temperature in Thomas, W. Va., last night at 10 o'clock was 36 degrees. Four inches of new snow was reported and the skies were cloudy.

At Deal, Pa., where three inches of new snow was on the ground, the temperature was 26 degrees.

Yesterday's clearing weather and warmer temperatures freed most of West Virginia's primary highways of ice and snow.

Freezing rains and snowfalls as deep as seven inches in some areas Thursday night and early yesterday had put main routes in many sections on the hazardous list.

But warmer weather combined with the work of cinder and plow crews by late afternoon had left very few places where chains were needed for safe highway travel, the road commission reported.

Some slush remained on U. S. 50 in Mineral and Grant County in the vicinity of Mount Storm and on hills and curves in the extreme eastern part of the West Virginia panhandle, the bureau said.

U. S. 33 east of Elkins and U. S. 219 between Elkins and Marlington, both on the hazardous list earlier, were reported clear.

Elsewhere, the bureau said, primary routes were practically bare, although secondary roads in many sections, particularly the eastern panhandle, still were covered with snow and ice.

Improvement In County's Sewage Disposal Is Sought By The State

Commissioners Get Health Dept. Letter

Board of Allegany County Commossioners have received a letter from Dr. P. H. Riley, director of the Maryland State Department of Health, in connection with numerous unsanitary conditions which now exist in housing developments and on individual properties as a result of improper sewage disposal.

Dr. Riley recommends the appointment of a county zoning and planning authority here as well as similar groups in other counties in the state. This move is authorized in 1939 Annotated Code and would facilitate general and long-range planning of developments in sanitary systems.

The letter reports that unfavorable conditions are found mainly in areas where no public sewers are available and where individual disposal systems are provided for each property.

Under Section 381 of Article 43 of the 1939 Annotated Code plats of all subdivisions and a statement as to methods proposed for supplying the properties with water and sewerage service must be filed with the State Board of Health before being placed on the market and before any building operations can be undertaken.

If public sewers are not readily available engineers of the state department of health will make soil tests to determine whether septic tank effluent can be absorbed underground with the results being reported to the county health department and to the property developer.

Dr. Riley has request the county commissioners to refer to all applications for new building construction to the local health department before issuing building permits. This procedure would permit the state health department to check the property and give correct advisement on the proper means of sewage disposal and thus prevent repitition of present conditions.

Salaried B & O Workers Receive Wage Increase

All salaried employes of the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad have received pay increases, according to Chester T. Williams, superintendent of the Cumberland Division of the railroad.

The increases will be reflected in the next pay by the railroad on January 12 and is retroactive to October 1.

Under the pay increase formula, salared employes earning up to $300 per month will get a $20 raise while those making over $300 per month will get a flat eight percent increase based on their salary.

Williams explained that the salaried employes include all workers not covered by wage agreements negotiated between the B. and O. and railroad brotherhoods.

There are more than 150 salaried employes of the local terminal and Williams said he could not give an estimate as to how many workers the new pay increase would affect over the entire system, but it would probably run into the thousands.

Meanwhile, general chairmen of the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen probably will approve reluctantly a new wage settlement for their members, the union's official publication said.

The chairmen meet in Cleveland next Thursday to discuss a Washington proposal granting wage increases for members of the railroad industry's four big operating unions.

County Asked To Increase Budget Of Welfare Board By $12,000

The Allegany County Board of Commissioners took under advisement yesterday morning the request of Mrs. Elinor M. Westerfield, director of the Allegany County Welfare Board for $12,000 in order to put into effect more liberal welfare payments.

A program has been worked out by the State Department Public Welfare whereby grants to welfare recipients in various categories would obtain cost-of-living increases.

The county board asked Mrs. Westerfield to send them a letter pointing out why the $12,000 in additional funds should be granted, and promised to give her a decision within 10 days.

Mrs. Westerfeld said the new system would give increases for subsistence needs. At present one person receives $29.50 per month but under the new program the grant would be raised to $32. A person living with another person would get a grant of $28 instead of the present $26.75. A person living with two other persons now receives $22.50 but would get $24 under the new plan. A person living with three or more persons now gets $21 and would obtain $22 under the plan.

Shelter payments to welfare recipients will be increased from $22.50 for one to four persons to $28 for the classification.

For five or more persons the shelter payments would increase from $27 to $33.50.

Another change in the new program would exempt the first $50 gross earnings of the blind for computing welfare payments.

Guardianship will be required in all cases of general public assistance.

A claim against the estate of all recipients of GPA would be made and collected if the persons died while receiving assistance.

A new category has been added. Aid to persons totally and permanently disabled will be made after a doctor fills out a form citing the case. The forms will be submitted to the State Department of Health for study and certification.

The county and state would get federal aid for this section of the program.

Another change in the rules and regulations of the State Department of Public Welfare requires all county welfare boards must make a decision on application for assistance within 30 days. A letter explaining why any such applications are denied must be sent to the applicant.

Plan Proposes Revenue Bonds For Sanitary Body

A discussion on the possibilities of having legislation passed under which the Allegany County Metropolitan Sanitary Commission could be granted authority to issue revenue bonds for projects was held yesterday at the Court House.

Under the law passed by the General Assembly setting up the commission, all projects must be financed under a system whereby not more than 10 per cent of the assessed valuation of the property affected by the project can be used to construct water or sewage facilities.

Dr. William E. Moseley, chairman of the commission, told the Allegany County Board of Commissioners, that the commission wished to discuss the possibilities of obtaining legislation before contacting the county delegation to Annapolis.

It was emphasized that there are no plans to enter into any projects due to the current war emergency. Costs of materials and shortages of pipe and other items would make such work impossible, even if the federal government gave permission for the work, Dr. Moseley said.

The legislation in question would be based on a revenue bond law in West Virginia under which municipalities and other groups erect water and sewage systems and make other public improvements.

Dr. Moseley said the legislation would give the commission an alternative plan of financing projects after the national emergency is over.

Albert S. Paye, engineer for the commission, said Petersburg and Romney, W. Va., have built water systems under the revenue bond plan and Petersburg's bond issue was sold at the low interest rate of two and three-fourths percent.

All such projects built must have established charges and rates sufficient to pay for the principal and interest on the project. The bonds are not backed by the county or commission, but the buyers of the issue obtain a mortgage lien on the physical assets of the water or sewage works.

The entire discussion was permeated with the idea that the plan as suggested would be more in the nature of a long-range program and if the legislation is obtained would allow for construction of projects when more normal times return.

Commissioner Commends Work Of City Firemen

The Cumberland Fire Department was commended for its work in the Christmas night Wineow Street fire by the Police and Fire Commissioner, who was a spectator at the blaze.

In a letter addressed to Acting Fire Chief William Lindner, Commissioner Long said:

"The Wineow Street fire afforded me an on-the-scene view of the efficient and courageous work of the Fire Department directed by you. All comments to me have been of the highest commendation for you and the men."

Long added that in cases of such emergencies it is encouraging to know that teamwork, job experience, training and maintenance of the best of fire fighting equipment provides results.

The commissioner suggested that fire prevention activities be stepped up. He said further inspections, reports of conditions and corrective action is needed.

He concluded by congratulating the acting chief and his firemen for a "job well done."

Market Spotlight Taken By Lower-Priced Stocks

NEW YORK, Dec. 29 (AP) — A hand-picked group of low-priced stocks advanced smartly in a churning market today.

Despite heavy trading the market as a whole showed little price action.

Trading volume crossed the 3,000,000-share mark for the second day running. Sales of 3,420,000 shares compared with 3,560,000 Thursday.

Today it more than doubled in price, selling as high as $5.37 and closing at $4.25 for a net gain of $1.75 a share, an extraordinary advance for a stock in that price bracket.

Missouri Pacific preferred was another high flyer, jumping $3 to $29.25 on top of Thursday's gain of $4.25.

Among the lower priced issues in demand were Allegheny, up 37 cents at $4.87; Graham-Paige, up 25 cents at $2.87; Lehigh Valley Coal, up 37 cents at $2.75; Hupp Corp., up 12 cents at $3.87; Benquet Mining, up 12 cents at $1.25; Gar Wood Industries, up 87 cents at $6.75; Willys-Overland up 12 cents at $11.62; Servel, up 50 cents at $10; and Zonite, up 50 cents at $5.12.

Time Limit Extended In Legion Post Case

The Allegany County Liquor Control Board has granted Fulton Myers Post, American Legion, an extension on the time limit under which it must show cause why its liquor license should not be surrendered to the board.

The Negro Legion post was evicted from its premises on North Mechanic Street several months ago and under terms of the county liquor law any license which is not being used must be turned back to the board.

Members of the board were informed by officials of the Legion post that they have prospects of obtaining a new home and wanted additional time to complete arrangements before appearing before the board.

The Liquor Board felt that if the Legion post is successful in renting new quarters it should be allowed to retain the license.

BARCLAY ON BRIDGE

"The Authority on Authorities"

WHICH PLEASES MORE?

CONTRACTS that prove successful may be made in either of two ways. One is by means of air-tight play against which the defenders could not do anything. The other is by causing and taking advantage of an error by the defense. Which do you enjoy more? The true bridger gets an extra kick in succeeding with some device that induces his opponent to do just what he wants him to. If that victim points out how he could have beaten the contract, the star merely enjoys the proceedings still more.

After the defense scored the club 10 and J, and the Q was led, South ruffed with the diamond 3. He led the spade 3 to the Q, then the diamond 2, on which East tossed a club, the K winning. Up against a tough assignment now, the shrewd declarer found a way to go for his contract. But he was equal to it, Howard Schenken, rated by many national champions as the greatest of them all.

He laid down the spade K to the sixth trick and then the A. West fell for this and did exactly what the declarer wished, discarded a heart, the 5. The heart Q was laid down, West playing low, and then the spade 7, on which West discarded the heart 9, the diamond 5 ruffing. The heart A now brought a discard of the last spade, the 10, and the J was ruffed by the diamond A, West being obliged to under-ruff with the 7. There remained now the diamond Q-10 in dummy with West holding the J-9, so a simple finesse completed the contract.

Trying to muddle Mr. Schenken's satisfaction, West noted that he could have ruined the contract by ruffing the spade A with the diamond 7 instead of discarding a heart. That would have compelled an over-ruff with the diamond 10, which would have demolished the tenace of the Q-10 over the J-9 and so would have assured West the trump trick that would have beaten the contract.

Steps Taken To Avoid Bus Overcrowding

Company Puts Extra Vehicles In Service

The Cumberland Transit Company has taken steps to relieve the overcrowding of buses carrying school children Police Commissioner John J. Long reported last night after a meeting between company officials and local police authorities.

The company had asked for a 10-day delay for purposes of survey after the situation was revealed two weeks ago, Long said, and reported its findings and steps taken at last night's meeting in Commissioner Long's office in the city hall.

Bus officials stated that a white line has been placed on the buses behind the driver's seat and drivers have strict instructions to allow no one beyond that line. This will avoid crowding the driver and cut down on number of occupants of the bus they said. The company also revealed it could not place an extra bus in operation on Bedford Road for school children only.

The company has placed two extra buses in service,, with one scheduled from Baltimore Avenue to Fort Hill School and the other from Schriver Avenue to Allegany High School, Long said.

A discussion was held as to possibility of periodic checks by the police force on buses carrying school children with the report going to the police commissioner.

Long stated he intended to discuss further action which may be taken in the matter with City Attorney W. Earle Cobey.

Lt. Edwin R. Lilya of the Traffic Division of the City Police Force said yesterday that the local bus company and the Parking and Traffic Commission will meet soon to discuss distribution of city bus stops on Baltimore Street over a wider area to avoid congestion in front of stores on the Main Stem.

The commission has in mind a plan similar to one in operation several years ago, Lilya said, with bus stops located over a wider area in accordance with schedules and routes for the buses. An attempt will be made to avoid diverting the buses to side streets which will create a parking and travel hazard. At present the Baltimore street buses haul an average of 90,000 persons per week, Lilya stated.

Wineow St. Fire Repairs Delayed

Repairs and remodeling of the buildings on Wineow Street which were razed by the fatal Christmas Day fire have been delayed pending the outcome of conferences between City Engineer Ralph L. Rizer and owners of the dwellings. Rizer reported that until city regulations concerning health and fire and the building code were compiled with the engineering office would not issue building permits for the repairs.

Housewives Must Check New SS Law

Must Keep Records On All Domestics

As the first of the year approaches, many housewives employing full or part time servants are becoming anxious about their legal obligations in the matter of handling Social Security payments.

According to estimates there are an estimated one million housewives who will have to know basic facts about the law.

The word "domestics," means any person who works in or around the house, including practical nurses, furnacemen, gardeners and babysitters. To be affected by the law, the domestic must work 24 days in a three-month period, starting January 1, 1951, and he must be paid at least $50 in cash wages during this period.

Listing the employer's obligations, the author says she must: "See that the domestic has a Social Security number; withhold 1½ percent of his wages each time he is paid; file a return; forward the withheld tax, together with the employer's own 1½ percent contribution, to the district Collector of Internal Revenue."

Pointing out that failure to furnish a statement carries a $1,000 fine or imprisonment for one year or both, the article also stresses the importance of keeping records. The employer must keep on file the name and Social Security number of the domestic, and the wages paid. The law requires that the domestic be given a statement of total wages and Social Security tax withheld.

Local field offices of the Social Security Administration can supply detailed information on the law.

City May Decline To Give Permits For Rebuilding Wineow St. Houses

Health And Fire Regulations Cited

Owners of the buildings razed by the Christmas Day fire on Wineow Street will not be granted permits to build, remodel or repair the structures unless compliance will all regulations in the city is made, the City Engineer's office reported yesterday.

Ralph L. Rizer, city engineer, said after a meeting with Maryland Homes Company officials, owners of three of the four buildings destroyed by the blaze, that "all city regulations, including those of the health department, fire department and the building code will have to be complied with before any building permits will be issued."

He added that if sanitary and sewage regulations aref ollowed so the health department is satisfied and the city building code allows the construction, the permits would be granted.

Rizer stated, however, that he had been unable to contact the fourth owner, Walter Twyman, and final arrangements for disposition of the property is as yet undecided.

Rizer made an inspection of the properties from 152 to 158 Wineow Street yesterday afternoon and declared them unsafe, although the owners had taken steps to safeguard passersby and other properties.

A decision will soon be made, he said, as to whether the buildings will be torn down or repaired, but that he would have to see the owners again before making final arrangements.

Treat Qualifies As Collector

Ernest B. Treat has qualified as tax collector for District 1 of Allegany county, with offices in the court house, and was sworn in this week by Clerk of Court Joseph E. Boden.

Although Treat took the oath of office Thursday he will not take over the duties of the office until about April 1.

In another action yesterday Associate Judge George Henderson in Allegany County Circuit Court entered a perfunctory order extending the term until January 1, 1953 for Thomas H. Taylor, Midland, who has been tax collector for District 3 the past four years.

Taylor is being succeeded as District 3 collector by James Parks of Lonaconing. Judge Henderson's order merely gives Taylor the authority to collect unpaid taxes for the years in which he has served as collector.

Deadline For GI Training Period Nears

Veterans Have Until July To Enter School

Veterans of World War II who are planning an education under the GI Bill of Rights are being reminded by the Veterans Administration that the deadline for entrance to schools is July 25, 1951.

The coming spring school term will be the final term for most veterans who wish to enter or re-enter training before the deadline.

The 1951 cut-off date applies to most World War II vets — those discharged from service before July 25, 1947. Vets discharged after that date had four years in which to begin schooling from their discharge date.

Veterans must have commenced their training by the deadline date, the VA said, if they wish to continue afterwards. Once he completes or discontinues his course of GI Bill training after the July 25 date he may not start another course.

He must also pursue his training "continuously until completion, except for conditions which normally would cause interruption such as vacations or illness," and may change their course "only while in training and then for reasons satisfactory to the school administrator." The public law which permits permits a veteran to change his course of study merely by applying for a change will not be in effect after July 25, VA officials stated.

Vets who stop training in order to return to active military duty will be permitted to resume their training wihin a "reasonable period" following their release from service even thought it may occur after the deadline date.

Jobs, Payroll Gain In City During November

Employment Up 1,222 Over Same Month 1949

The December report of the Cumberland Chamber of Commerce showed an increase in both employment and payrolls in the city's 17 major industries for the month of November as compared to November 1949.

The report also indicated an increase in U. S. Savings Bonds and savings stamps in the city from October this year to December. Postal receipts showed a decrease of $171.71 in the past month.

Cumberland's industries employed 11,883 persons in November 1949 and 13,105 in November of this year for an increase of 1,222, while the community's payrolls hiked from $2,856,479.25 in 1949 to $3,474,400.28 in 1950. This was an increase of $617,921.03.

Savings bonds went up from $4,743.75 in October this year to $6,693.75 in November for a rise of $1,950, and a $65 hike in savings stamps was seen with $240 bought in October and $305 in November.

Building permits also showed an increase from November of $3,160, as $31,000 was spent on construction work in December as compared to $27,840 last month.

Joseph M. Naughton, president of the chamber, extended his best wishes to the members for the coming year with the hope that 1951 would bring the blessings of peace.

Naughton related how "the immediate outlook for every person and business in the country is so uncertain that the usual expressions of sentiment seem out of place as 1951 dawns."

He praised the tremendous productive capacity of America and the great reliance which must be placed upon the American way of life with every business taking part and every citizen making sacrifices.

The next meeting of the chamber is scheduled for January 19 at Central YMCA with George M. Hitchcock, smoke control engineer, the speaker on a discussion of "Smoke Control."

Attachment Suit Seeks $10,000 For Sales Taxes

State Brings Action Against Local Firm

An attachment suit whereby the State of Maryland seeks to collect $10,000 in allegedly unpaid sales taxes was filed yesterday in Allegany County Circuit Court against Mrs. Dorothy Desmond, and Cloyd Wise, jointly and trading as Bee Sales Company and/or Maryland Sales Company, 209 Virginia Avenue.

Court attaches reported that is believed to be the first suit of its type to be docketed in Allegany county.

The suit states that Edward F. Engelbert, assistant director, Retail Sales Tax Division, Office of the State Comptroller, has sworn that the defendants "are justly and bona fide indebted unto the State of Maryland, by reason of their failure or refusal to pay legally assessed deficiencies to the State of Maryland in sales taxes."

An accompanying statement of account from Engelbert reports that the $10,000 alleged unpaid sales tax was accumulated between July 1, 1947 and November 30, 1950.

The declaration, signed by Atorney General Hall Hammond and Engelbert, states that demand was made upon the defendants for payment of the $10,000 but payment was not made.

This Virginia Avenue business involved the sale of cigarettes and other tobacco products.

Area Roads Clear But Icy In Tri Section

Heavy Fog Adds To Hazard Of Travelers

Thursday night was one of the worst for automobile drivers this season in Maryland and it was no better last night.

Fog settled on top of roads which were already exceedingly hazardous from ice formed from the two to four inches of snow which fell in Allegany County early yesterday morning. Travel was extremely difficult.

Washington County had two to three inches of snow, while Frederick County had one-quarter of an inch of ice covered by an inch of mixed snow and sleet.

Night crews worked most of last night in Cumberland cindering streets and bad icy spots, especially on Greene Street, Holland Street, and Washington Street, according to Mrs. Lucile W. Roeder, commissioner of streets and public property.

The lowest official temperature in Constitution Park yesterday was 18 degrees and the highest recorded was 37 degrees. The weather bureau reported that the snowfall early yesterday morning amounted to 2.6 inches in Cumberland. The melted precipitation was .30 inches.

State police in the Cumberland area said chains were necessary on all secondary roads and that even the primary ones were dangerous in spots.

G. Bates Chaires, district engineer for the State Roads Commission, said that about 75 per cent of the main highways were clear and that chains were not necessary on them. He urged drivers to use care in driving though.

The temperature in Thomas, W. Va., last night at 10 o'clock was 36 degrees. Four inches of new snow was reported and the skies were cloudy.

At Deal, Pa., where three inches of new snow was on the ground, the temperature was 26 degrees.

Yesterday's clearing weather and warmer temperatures freed most of West Virginia's primary highways of ice and snow.

Freezing rains and snowfalls as deep as seven inches in some areas Thursday night and early yesterday had put main routes in many sections on the hazardous list.

But warmer weather combined with the work of cinder and plow crews by late afternoon had left very few places where chains were needed for safe highway travel, the road commission reported.

Some slush remained on U. S. 50 in Mineral and Grant County in the vicinity of Mount Storm and on hills and curves in the extreme eastern part of the West Virginia panhandle, the bureau said.

U. S. 33 east of Elkins and U. S. 219 between Elkins and Marlington, both on the hazardous list earlier, were reported clear.

Elsewhere, the bureau said, primary routes were practically bare, although secondary roads in many sections, particularly the eastern panhandle, still were covered with snow and ice.

Accident Injures Three Persons

Three persons were injured and treated in Allegany Hospital after the car in which they were riding skidded over an embankment on Mt. Savage Road at McCray's Store near Barrelville. Injured were Mrs. Maude Phillips, 64, and her son, Norman R. Phillips, 24, who was driving, and a grandson, Raymond Chapman, 126 Bedford Street. The Phillips family resides in Barrelville. Trooper Donald Wade of the Maryland State Police, who investigated, brought the injured persons to the hospital where they were all treated for lacerations and abrasions.

Improvement In County's Sewage Disposal Is Sought By The State

Commissioners Get Health Dept. Letter

Board of Allegany County Commissioners have received a letter from Dr. P. H. Riley, director of the Maryland State Department of Health, in connection with numerous unsanitary conditions which now exist in housing developments and on individual properties as a result of improper sewage disposal.

Dr. Riley recommends the appointment of a county zoning and planning authority here as well as similar groups in other counties in the state. This move is authorized in 1939 Annotated Code and would facilitate general and long-range planning of developments in sanitary systems.

The letter reports that unfavorable conditions are found mainly in areas where no public sewers are available and where individual disposal systems are provided for each property.

Under Section 381 of Article 43 of the 1939 Annotated Code plats of all subdivisions and a statement as to methods proposed for supplying the properties with water and sewerage service must be filed with the State Board of Health before being placed on the market and before any building operations can be undertaken.

If public sewers are not readily available engineers of the state department of health will make soil tests to determine whether septic tank effluent can be absorbed underground with the results being reported to the county health department and to the property developer.

Dr. Riley has request the county commissioners to refer to all applications for new building construction to the local health department before issuing building permits. This procedure would permit the state health department to check the property and give correct advisement on the proper means of sewage disposal and thus prevent repitition of present conditions.

Flea Club Celebrates

Members of the local Flea Club held their fourth annual Flea Club Dance last night in the Knights of Columbus hall, 17 North Mechanic Street. The sparkling holiday affair finds everyone letting his hair down and enjoying himself. Above can be seen two members of the club imitating musicians with a toy trumpet and a violin. The outlandish garb of the celebrants is part of the dance ritual. Seated at the table are Roy H. Knotts (with the trumpet) and James Webster (with the violin). Seen with their husbands are Mrs. Knotts and Mrs. Webster while in the background at another table looking over the shoulder of Mrs. Webster is Mrs. Dorothy Calhoun.
